Frantic Warnings Avert Fire Deaths

"It looked like an atom bomb," one witness said.

Nearly four hours after the explosion and fire there were no reports of deaths or serious injuries. Several hundred persons were evacuated from the eight-black area, many roused by two policement who raced from door to door alerting sleeping occupants to a gas leak.

Fast work by the two officers apparently averted a major tragedy, although five buildings, including a 24 family apartment were destroyed by the flames and searing heat. Another 20 were damaged, some heavily.

The fire in the Queens area, 10 miles from the heart of Manhattan, was touched off by a series of underground explosions about 5:30 a.m. EST.

Police officers Francis Keating and Jack O'Connor saw gas seeping "glowing gold" from a manhole, at a three-way intersection, sounded a general fire alarm, and began their dramatic dash to awake the sleeping residents of the area.

Fifteen minutes later, a 24 inch gas main burst. A ball of flames rolled down both sides of 101st Avenue, as firemen and policemen outran the fire to safety. Two large fire trucks were incinerated.

Thirteen alarms were sounded for the fire. More than 1,000 city firemen battled the blaze, but were unable to get close because of the intense heat. One fire company poured chemicals and water from the roof of a six-story school building on the fringe of the blaze.

It took utility companies several hours to pinpoint the gas leaks and shut them off. Streets were torn up as crews rushed to isolate the seeping gas, but assistant fire captain Charles McKeough said "if the gas is turned off too fast, there is the danger that we might spring a leak somewhere else, then we'd really be in trouble."

"It was a miracle hundreds weren't killed," said Sgt. William Finnan, an 11 year fire department veteran. "It's the worst fire I've ever seen Thank God we were able to get the people out of their houses before they caught fire or blew up."

The explosion apparently occurred in an air flow device which traps moisture collecting in the gas line.

Education Quality Vs. Cutbacks

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Gov. Ronald Reagan's 10 per cent slash in the state budget could result in a decline in quality or new limits on enrollment in California's colleges and universities, considered among the finest in the nation.

Reagan, making good on his inaugural pledge to "squeeze, cut and trim" state expenditures, announced his across-the-board budget increase yesterday.

The cuts apply to all regular state agencies, the nine-campus University of California, and the 18-campus California State College System.

The heads of both the university and the state colleges—which between them have an enrollment of more than 250,000, largest in the world, said the cuts would result in either a decline in quality or new limits on enrollment.

University President Clark Kerr hoped some of the cut would be restored. If not, he said, the university will have to trim either quality or quantity of its program.

State College Chancellor Glenn S. Dumke, who already has ordered a freeze on new admissions, said the colleges would turn away students if necessary rather than "increase faculty workloads and class sizes."

Reagan announced the austerity program at a cabinet meeting attended by Kerr and Dumke. The session lasted less than 30 minutes and Reagan and his staff did all the talking.

He said the budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1 will

Board Picks Tomales For High School Site

Tomales High School District will build its new school in or near Tomales, with first choice being the Romeo Cerini property east of the community.

High school district trustees voted for this action unanimously last night, on motion of chairman Roy A. Parks, to end long discussion over location of a school to be financed through a $900,000 bond issue which will be placed before voters Feb. 28.

Advocates of a location in the Point Reyes Station-Olema area—the south end of the district which spans the Marin-Sonoma line—were given a sop with another unanimous vote calling for state study of three sites there as possibility in case the district later builds a second school.

The Cerini property, east of the Tomales Elementary School, was No. 1 choice of the State Department of Public Instruction, which made a study of sites submitted to it by the Tomales selection committee. Parks' motion last night accepted this.

Designated as other possibilities, however, were property between Cerini's and the Tomales Elementary School, a site east of the Cerini property owned by Romeo Sartori, and the present high school site.

The district is seeking 30 to 40 acres for the new school. There is only 5.8 acres in the present site, but the committee said it might be expanded to about 15 useable acres through purchase of adjoining property.

The board designated Parks and trustee Joseph Tremari to investigate this along with the other three sites. Architects Richard C. Marshall and Chester Bowles Jr. were authorized to have geological tests made of all four sites and report on development costs. Parks and Tremari are to find out how much

Unemployed Engineer Shot Through Eye

Novato Man Is Booked; Shooting Baffles Officers

Police booked a Novato man on suspicion of assault with intent to kill, but said they were baffled as to what happened.

Matt Cernac Jr., 43, of Apartment 301, was found by police lying face up at 1:30 a.m. in a hallway between his living room and bathroom. A bullet had entered the right eye. Police found a .22-caliber automatic pistol near the body.

Cernac was taken to Marin General Hospital, where his condition was reported as critical after four hours' surgery.

TITLE EXAMINER

Booked at county jail was John W. Frederick, 36, of 50 Sullivan Lane, Novato, a title examiner with the Marin Title Guarantee Co., San Rafael. Police said he had called them to the scene.

Police said they were unable to pinpoint what happened because Frederick refused to make a statement. Cernac had not regained consciousness.

"It could have been a suicide attempt, an accident or a deliberate shooting," said Sgt. James Carlton, one of the investigating officers.

UNABLE TO TALK

Carlton and Patrolman Donald Merkley answered a call to police headquarters by Frederick, who asked that an officer be sent to the Lincoln Avenue address. They found Frederick standing outside in the street. He led them to the apartment.

Carlton said the bullet shattered upon entering the head. A large fragment exited at the temple, he said, leaving a small porton still inside the head.

Cernac was semi-conscious at the time but unable to talk, the policeman reported.

Carlton said Frederick refused to talk and called his lawyer, Joseph A. Dahlman, who went to police headqaurters and counseled him to remain silent.

Booked at the county jail, Frederick was held in lieu of $55,000 bail set by Judge Alvin H. Goldstetin Jr. this morning in Marin Municipal Court.

Taipei Bags Two MIGs

TAIPEI (UPI) — Nationalist Chinese air force jets shot down two Communist MIG19s over the Formosa Strait today in the first air battle in the area in six years, the Defense Ministry announced.

The Ministry said the air battle took place this afternoon when the MIGs opened fire on Nationalist patrol planes northeast of the island of Quemoy, just off the Chinese mainland.

A spokesman said four Nationalist jets encountered 12 MIGs flying in three waves and that two MIGs were shot down without Nationalist loss in the brief airbattle. The Nationalists fly American-made F100 Supersabres.

A spokesman declined to say whether the air battle meant any change in the placid situation in the Formosa Straight but military observers said it may be a prelude to increased tension in the area because of the mammoth power struggle raging in Red China.

Auto Kills Novatan Flagging Down Bus

Greyhound Driver Steps Into Motorist's Path

A 27-year-old Greyhound Bus driver, waiting on Highway 101 for a ride to work, was killed instantly this morning just north of the Black Point cutoff.

California Highway Patrolman Robert K. Richter said Buckingham was killed at 6:30 a.m. when he stepped onto the highway to flag down a southbound bus.

The driver of the car that struck Buckingham — Francis Fullam, 22, of 11 Boulevard Court, Novato — told Richter that he and his passenger, Calvin Shafer of 33 Grove Lane, Novato, had used a jack to raise the car, but were unable to extricate Buckingham's body.

Fullam said he was driving south in the curb lane at about 60 miles per hour when he saw Buckingham about 80 feet away, standing on the shoulder of the road and facing north. A moment later, Fullam told Richter, Buckingham stepped into the highway, trying to flag down a bus in the faster lane.

Fullam said he applied his brakes, but was unable to stop in time.

Asst. County Coroner Eugene R. Fontaine said death was instantaneous.

Buckingham's death was the third traffic fatality in Marin this year, as compared to two by the same date last year.

Patrolman Richter said skidmarks bore out Fullam's account and that an inspection of Fullam's car showed no mechanical or other defect.

Secondary Airfields Bombed

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. warplanes knocked out North Vietnam's secondary airfields with a little-known series of bombing raids, sources said today. The raids apparently were halted sometime last year.

The United States has ruled only four major jet-capable bases in the Hanoi-Haiphong area off limits, the sources said.

In 1965 and 1966 American strikes devastated five all-weather air strips which the Communists could have used in a pinch for the operation of their small fleet of Soviet-made MIG fighters.

Twenty-nine bombing raids unleashed hundreds of tons of explosives in 1965 against bases at the former French stronghold of Dien Bien Phu, 180 miles west of Hanoi; at the coastal city of Vinh, about 200 miles north of the demilitarized zone; at Na San, 100 miles west of Hanoi; and at Dong Hoi, another coastal town only 40 miles north of the DMZ.

Last year U.S. Jets clobbered Dien Bien Phu again after Communist construction teams had almost completed repairs; another strip at Phu Tho, 50 miles northwest of Hanoi in the heavily defended Red River valley was attacked.

The Phu Tho strip was a new base. U.S. planes waited until construction was almost finished, then streaked in with a destructive bombing sweep.

"Finally they gave up trying to repair them," a Pentagon spokesman said today.

At last report the fields, which could accommodate the supersonic MIG fighters, were still largely useless.

Baker Trial Jury Hears Martinelli

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A California lawyer testified today he paid $5,000 to Wayne L. Bromley, portrayed as the funnel through which money flowed to Robert G. Bobby) Baker, after government approval of a charter for a new national bank.

The testimony in Baker's trial came as the government produced four witnesses who said they had sent $36,500 in legal fees to Bromley at a Washington office the government says he shared with Baker.

After the testimony by Roderick P. Martinelli of San Rafael, U.S. District Judge Oliver Gasch recessed the trial until 8:45 a.m. Monday.

The jury will remain locked up during the weekend, but Gasch told the jurors the trial might be concluded in three weeks rather than the two months he estimated earlier.

Martinelli, who represented organizers of Redwood National Bank, said he was told by Washington contacts to see Bromley in connection with the bank's application for a charter, filed with the U.S. comptroller of the currency. The charter was approved Jan. 4, 1963.

The government contends that the money sent to Bromley's office wound up in Baker's bank accounts and no income tax was paid on it.

The payments to Bromley were brought out in the fifth day of the trial of the one-time Senate Democratic secretary on charges of income tax evasion, larceny and fraud.

The money was reported paid as legal fees for Bromley, who became the center of controversy earlier in the trial. Baker's lawyer accused the government of using Bromley as a "walking bug" to gather evidence on Baker.

Eight members of Congress appeared in U.S. District Court yesterday at the invitation of the Justice Department to give evidence on whether they had received any 1962 campaign contributions from Baker, the former Senate Democratic secretary.

All said they received nothing from Baker from the $66,300 in cash two California savings and loan officials testified they had given him for such purposes.

U.S. Artillery Barrage Kills Eight Yanks

SAIGON (UPI) —Shells from American 155-millimeter howitzers blasting Communist positions in the Iron Triangle in a creeping barrage hit a company of the U. S. 1st Infantry Division by accident today, killing eight men and wounding 34.

An American spokesman blamed the Friday the 13th tragedy on a plotting error by the men who control the big artillery pieces.

The tragedy in the biggest operation of the Vietnamese war came shortly after the Army announced the opening of a new phase of the war in the Mekong Delta—establishment of the first permanent American camp in the Communist stronghold.

Ten rounds of high explosives hit a company of the 1st Battalion, 28th Infantry regiment at 3:30 p.m. as the Big Red One swept forward in

Brezhnev Flays Hanoi Bombings

MOSCOW (AP) — Leonid I. Brezhnev charged today that the United States had bombed residential sections of Hanoi and thereby placed new obstacles in the way of a Vietnamese peace.

Brezhnev spoke in Gorky, an industrial city on the Volga River. Excerpts from his remarks were carried by Tass, the official Soviet news agency.

The government contends that the money sent to Bromley's office wound up in Baker's bank accounts and no income tax was paid on it.

The payments to Bromley were brought out in the fifth day of the trial of the one-time Senate Democratic secretary on charges of income tax evasion, larceny and fraud.

The money was reported paid as legal fees for Bromley, who became the center of controversy earlier in the trial. Baker's lawyer accused the government of using Bromley as a "walking bug" to gather evidence on Baker.

Eight members of Congress appeared in U.S. District Court yesterday at the invitation of the Justice Department to give evidence on whether they had received any 1962 campaign contributions from Baker, the former Senate Democratic secretary.

All said they received nothing from Baker from the $66,300 in cash two California savings and loan officials testified they had given him for such purposes.

U.S. Artillery Barrage Kills Eight Yanks

SAIGON (UPI) —Shells from American 155-millimeter howitzers blasting Communist positions in the Iron Triangle in a creeping barrage hit a company of the U. S. 1st Infantry Division by accident today, killing eight men and wounding 34.

An American spokesman blamed the Friday the 13th tragedy on a plotting error by the men who control the big artillery pieces.

The tragedy in the biggest operation of the Vietnamese war came shortly after the Army announced the opening of a new phase of the war in the Mekong Delta—establishment of the first permanent American camp in the Communist stronghold.

Ten rounds of high explosives hit a company of the 1st Battalion, 28th Infantry regiment at 3:30 p.m. as the Big Red One swept forward in

Brezhnev Flays Hanoi Bombings

MOSCOW (AP) — Leonid I. Brezhnev charged today that the United States had bombed residential sections of Hanoi and thereby placed new obstacles in the way of a Vietnamese peace.

"Who will believe Washington's calls for peace in Vietnam now, if these calls are accompanied by provocative actions which aggravate the situation and raise new obstacles to settling the conflict?" he asked.

Brezhnev spoke in Gorky, an industrial city on the Volga River. Excerpts from his remarks were carried by Tass, the official Soviet news agency.

Negro Summit In Powell Case

NEW YORK (AP) — Civil rights leader A. Philip Randolph says he intends to call a "Negro summit conference" to consider possible action against congressmen responsible for Rep. Adam Clayton Powell's congressional troubles.

Randolph

Powell was ousted from his House committee chairmanship Tuesday and has been deprived—at least temporarily—of his seat in the 90th Congress.

Randolph, president of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, said yesterday he believed the congressional action against the Harlem Negro congressman "reflected the greatest crisis in Negro-white relations."

The over-all aim of the conference, Randolph said, would be to re-examine and revise Negro strategy against what he termed "the white power structure."

Army In Power In Tiny Togo

COTONOU, Dahomey (AP) — The tiny coffee-growing land of Togo had its second coup in four years today with the army reporting seizure of all civil powers.

Grunitsky

The takeover was announced in a broadcast from Lome, the Togolese capital, by the army chief of staff, Lt. Col. Etienne Guassingre Eyadema. He warned the public to refrain from any political demonstrations and ordered all public offices closed for the day.

Informed sources in neighboring Dahomey said President Nicolas Grunitsky resigned during the night. There were no reports of violence but a blackout of the radio-telephone circuit to Paris prevented any check on the situation.

Eyadema reportedly has been carrying on a running dispute with Grunitsky about the budget for his 1,200-man army. The army chief played a key role in the January 1964 coup when one of his soldiers assassinated Sylvanus Olympio, Togo's first president and a brother-in-law of Grunitsky.

Aluminum Producers Defy Plea

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's four major aluminum producers have posted price increases despite a government request that they defer the action "on grounds of the important national interest involved."

Ackley

Olin Mathieson boosted the price of primary aluminum ingot and billet by 1 cent a pound to 25½ cents and of fabricated products by 1½ cents a pound.

Reynolds also posted a 1-cent-a-pound increase on ingot and said appropriate adjustments will be made in fabricated product prices. Aluminum Corp. of America and Kaiser each raised ingot prices by one-half cent a pound to 25 cents.

The three-bedroom home was rifled but nothing apparently was stolen, Inspector Tibaldi said.

'Howlin' Mad' Gen. Holland Smith Dies

GEN. HOLLAND SMITH
Amphibious exponent

He suffered a heart attack Nov. 14 and had been in critical condition at Balboa Naval Hospital since Dec. 13.

A onetime lawyer, Gen. Smith became a Marine almost by accident.

In 1905, he applied for a commission in the Army, but was turned down because there were no vacancies. When told the Marine Corps had vacancies, Smith asked, "What are the Marines?"

He was told — and then he joined.

Two wars and 41 years later, Gen. Smith retired, wearing the Distinguished Service Medal.

His "Howlin' Mad" nickname came from his outbursts at men who didn't follow instructions and machines that didn't work.

Just before World War II, he took a Marine brigade to Cuba for seven months of amphibious training, and then returned to train other Marine units and the Army in the art of amphibious warfare.

Troops trained in his methods were successful in Europe and the Pacific, and played a major role in the war.

Smith was born on April 20, 1882 at Seale, Ala., and received a law degree from the University of Alabama.

His son, Rear Adm. John Victor Smith, is a graduate of the U.S. Naval Academy and is attached to the Pentagon.

Variance Requested

The Marin County Zoning Administrator Monday will consider the request of Bender Roofing Co. for a variance to allow construction of a hime on a 6,400 square foot building site (7,500 square feet required) on Calle del Arroyo at Stinson Beach. The hearing will begin at 2 p. m. at the Civic Center.

'Ugliest' LBJ Portrait On Display

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The presidential portrait that drew the scorn of Lyndon B. Johnson went on public display here today. About 400 persons had a sneak preview last night.

Members and guests of the Columbus Gallery of Fine Arts viewed the work by artist Peter Hurd and no one found it quite as objectionable as the President. Hurd said Johnson called it "the ugliest thing I ever saw."

The formally attired gallery members and their guests crowded the room where the portrait was displayed. About 200 other works by the 62-year-old artist were being exhibited in other rooms.

"I'd like to see all this publicity come to an end so all can be forgotten," said Hurd.

Hurd was quoted last night as saying he has had about 20 offers for the portrait, the most recent a bid of $16,000 from St. Louis businessman William Ernst. The artist had asked $12,000 plus expenses.

At the showing here, Hurd was quoted as saying he "doesn't want to profiteer," and still plans to sell it to the Smithsonian Institution.

Budget Meeting

The Larkspur Teachers Assn. will consider next year's budget and discuss plans for summer school Monday at 3:45 p. m. at Henry C. Hall School.

Thousands Due New $1.40 Wage Minimum On Feb. 1

The minimum will go to $1.40 for those covered by the law who are now making a minimum of $1.25.

At the same time, about 8 million more workers will be brought under the law for the first time, starting at $1 per hour.

But the first-step hike won't mean wage increases for all those covered. Most already are making at least the amount of the new minimums.

Congress enacted the new wage minimums last fall. The second step, bringing the minimum to $1.60 for the almost 30 million workers previously covered, will go into effect Feb. 1, 1968.

For the new workers brought under the law, the minimum starts at $1 per hour next month and goes up in annual steps to $1.15; $1.30; $1.45 and $1.60 by Feb. 1, 1971. It also requires time and one-half pay for overtime.

The newly covered workers include those in some laundry and dry cleaning businesses, construction, hospitals, nursing homes and schools, hotels, motels and restaurants. It also brings some farm workers under the minimum wage provisions for the first time.

The increases are the first since 1963, when the minimum wage went up from $1.15 to $1.25 per hour.

Hollis Tells Why School Taxes High

Marin County's preoccupation with residential development—rather than industrial—was one reason put forward yesterday by Virgil S. Hollis, county superintendent of schools, for high school taxes.

"This controlled development has been nice, but it has been expensive," he said. "The point is that restricted residential development does not pay its own way as far as school taxes are concerned. The Dixie School District is a prime example."

Hollis was speaking on "Who's to Blame for High Taxes?" at a meeting of San Rafael Kiwanis Club in the Mission Inn.

Noting that money raised for education was determined in a large measure by assessed valuation, he stressed that in areas such as Marin which had grown rapidly in the past 10 years, growth by iyself had created problems.

Even if the cost of educating an individual child had remained constant during this growth period, tax rate increases provided the only way to raise money to offset an ever-declining assessed wealth per child, he said.

But educational costs did not remain constant, and the condition was aggravated as the population grew with only expensive residential development to support it.

According to the "Collier Factor" computed by the state of California, state funding to school districts was adjusted to compensate for a county's variation in assessment from the state-wide average.

Hollis predicted that as a result, the next three years would see an adverse effect upon the tax rates in Marin for school purposes.

"While a reduction in state apportionment will result in this deterioration, statutes provide the loss may be recovered by the imposition of a county-wide tax.

"Thus the more we lose by under-assessment on a comparative basis to the rest of the state, the more local taxes will increase to recover the loss," said Hollis.

State legislation had an adverse effect on local taxes in the area of mandated programs," he said.

Recently, the state ordered a state-wide testing program which was, in some cases, more extensive than many districts were already doing, he said. "No money was forthcoming to meet the legislative mandate and the local taxpayer was forced to pick up the tab."

Looking to the future, he said that without a real breakthrough in the method of financing education, authorities will be hard-pressed to provide students with adequate facilities in higher education in the next 20 years.

He told his audience: "School taxes are main taxes upon which you have an opportunity to register your opinion directly. The statutory limis on the taxing power of school districts—unchanged for many years—may, in the final analysis, be a blessing in disguise."

Right Jobs Are Hard To Locate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Retired military men usually get jobs soon after leaving the service, but private research shows their military training is neither as great an asset nor liability as various beliefs would indicate.

A study by the Bureau of Social Science Research says officers have a tougher time getting the job they want than do enlisted men, apparently because they aspire to jobs at the business-managerial level. The enlisted men frequently take positions in the skilled trades.

The study, based on experiences of 3,000 persons retired in 1964 or earlier, concluded that the vast majority landed jobs soon after military retirement even if it wasn't always the job they wanted.

WAR

Operation Cedar Falls which already has killed or captured more than 400 Communists with only light losses, and captured tons of war material.

It was the first such incident of the operation involving 30,000 or more troops although B-52 strategic bombers hit Communist positions only a mile ahead of the advancing troops and jet fighter-bomber struck as close as a few hundred yards, in the area 30 miles north of Saigon.

The company was advancing today behind a creeping barrage which moves gradually forward toward the Communist positions as the infantry men follow But the 10 rounds fell short through some miscalculation and inflicted almost as many casualties as the Viet Cong have been able to.

A spokesman said about 1,000 U.S. troops including engineers, signal elements and security forces had established the first U.S Mekong base at Dong Tan on the My Tho River five miles southwest of My Tho. It is a swampy, snake infested area that has been a Viet Cong lair for 20 years.

The base is about 30 miles southwest of Saigon.

The Vietnamese government now has about 40,000 troops in the Delta, where the Viet Cong is said to control 60 per cent of the area by day and more after nightfall.

Many Vietnamese opposed the move, fearful that civilian casualties would rise because of massive American firepower. Among the opponents was Fourth Corps Commander Lt. Gen. Dang Van Quang, who recently was relieved of command. Prime Minister Nguyen Cao Ky favored use of American forces in the Delta. He said they were needed not only in battle, but to help win friends.

Tot Park Lot Recommended

The Marinwood Park and Recreation Commission last night recommended development of a tot lot on land owned by the Marinwood Community Services District on Las Gallinas Avenue adjacent to Miller Creek School.

The commission accepted a $100 donation from the Marinwood Garden Club for planting, set a 9:30 a.m. tour tomorrow to inspect the need for pool improvements, and approved a Jan. 28 ski trip and a Feb. 4 Mardi Gras dance and midnight supper at the community center, Recreation Director William Gordon reported.

Cars Parts Stolen

Someone entered his storage yard Wednesday night at Hoag Avenue and Mill Street, San Rafael, by scaling the fence and cutting the barbed wire at the top, then stole $300 worth of parts from a foreign sports car, yard owner Aldo Barsotti told police yesterday.

Span Board Extends Bus Study

Directors of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District today authorized their engineer Arthur C. Jenkins to continue part-time services to the Marin Transit District so that the district can come to a speedy conclusion on bus service across the span.

Jenkins estimated he would be able to complete his report in about 30 days. There was opposition to the move from director F. C. Keonoudakis of San Francisco who foresaw the possibility of a conflict of interest because one transit proposal envisions a bridge district subsidy to make the transit district operatable. However, the majority of the board voted to let Jenkins continue the work he's been doing for the past six months.

In a year end report general manager James Adam said that a new record for traffic was established in 1966. A total of 27,847,976 vehicles used the bridge during the year an increase of 7.1 per cent over 1965, meaning that about 5,000 more cars are using the bridge each day than a year ago.

A significant statistic was that commute buses declined 6.7 per cent during the month of December although automobile traffic in general went up 5.9 per cent in the same month.

Trustee Files Election Papers

Incumbent Thomas A. Skornia of 105 Camino Bueno, Ross, filed a petition yesterday with the Marin County School's Office for election to the Marin Junior College Board in April.

Skornia was appointed to the board Dec. 8, after the November election enlarged the board membership from five to seven.

Larkspur School District trustee Mrs. Cornelia J. Perrone, who was appointed to the board in 1965, announced her candidacy for election in April at last night's board meeting.

Burglars Take Liquor, Change

Burglars stole two bottles of liquor and $1 in change from the home of Dreda Virginia Grambow at 325 Goodhill Road, Kent Woodlands, sheriff's officers said today.

Entry apparently was through an open front door.

Deputies said someone broke a window of the home of Charles J. Lutz at 522 Northern Avenue, Tamalpais Valley, but apparently was frightened away without entering.

reflect "a normal workload, less about 10 per cent."

The budget for the current fiscal year is $4.6 billion, largest of any state. Inflation and population growth, without any new programs, would push the budget for the next year to about $5 billion. Reagan said the 10 per cent cut would be applied to the $5 billion budget projection.

After the cabinet meeting, Reagan met for 90 minutes with Smith, Kerr, and a six-member committee from the University Board of regents.

The governor urged the regents to impose a tuition to replace the reduction in state aid. He said he would prefer a tuition to cut in either quality or enrollment.

But both Kerr and Dumke have consistently opposed any change in traditional "no tuition" policy of the university and the colleges.

The tuition proposed has brought angry protests from students and faculty throughout the state. University students now pay $275 a year in special fees and state college students pay $130.

Phoner Gives His Identity

Sheriff's officers today said identity of a man who twice telephoned threats against SFO Helicopter Airlines has been learned.

They said the man, who first telephoned an airlines employee in Oakland on Jan. 4 with threat of shooting helicopters coming too near his house, made a second threat the next day, and identified himself.

He was questioned on his houseboat at Gate 5, Marinship, officers said, but declared he intended no harm. Deputies said he is a possible mental case. No immediate action was taken.

Robert Angle Resigns Bel Marin Rec Post

Robert Angle resigned last night from the Bel Marin Community Services District Park and Recreation commission. The district board will appoint a successor at its February meeting.

A $25 reward was announced for information leading to the recovery of a stone lion stolen recently from the rear of the Bel Marin Keys community center.

Jury Says Guilty On Check Charge

A Marin Superior Court jury at noon today found James Allen Calkins, 22, of San Jose, guilty of possession of a check with intent to defraud. Jurors deliberated two hours.

A co-defendant, Gilbert Lucas Bernal, also 22, and from San Jose, earlied pleaded guilty to the charge. The pair attempted to cash a worthless $126 check at Value World in Larkspur Oct. 8. Both will be sentenced Feb. 6.

$350,000 Suit In Traffic Death Of Tot

The traffic death of a 2-year-old San Francisco boy and injury of his mother resulted in filing of a $350,000 damage suit in Marin Superior Court today.

Jarlath and Irish O'Connor, parents of Stephen O'Connor, asks $150,000 for his death. Mrs. O'Connor also asks $300,000 for back and other injuries she suffered.

They accuse the State of California and Fisk, Firenze and McLean Inc., contractors, San Carlos, with impropjer repair of Highway 101 one mile south of the Sonoma County line.

The car containing Mrs. O'Connor, who was driving, and Stephen swerved into a dirt ditch at the highway's center, July 19, according to California Highway Patrol, then turned over.

Stephen was thrown from the car and crushed to death beneath it.

Disturbing The Peace Charge

Charles Allen Bullock, 25, was charged yesterday in Marin Municipal Court with disturbing the peace and obstructing a sheriff's officer in his duties following the shooting of 15-year-old youth Tuesday night.

Bullock, of San Francisco, is scheduled for arraignment at 1:30 p.m. Monday. He had been set free earlier, without bail.

Operation Cedar Falls which already has killed or captured more than 400 Communists with only light losses, and captured tons of war material.

It was the first such incident of the operation involving 30,000 or more troops although B-52 strategic bombers hit Communist positions only a mile ahead of the advancing troops and jet fighter-bomber struck as close as a few hundred yards, in the area 30 miles north of Saigon.

The company was advancing today behind a creeping barrage which moves gradually forward toward the Communist positions as the infantry men follow But the 10 rounds fell short through some miscalculation and inflicted almost as many casualties as the Viet Cong have been able to.

A spokesman said about 1,000 U.S. troops including engineers, signal elements and security forces had established the first U.S Mekong base at Dong Tan on the My Tho River five miles southwest of My Tho. It is a swampy, snake infested area that has been a Viet Cong lair for 20 years.

The base is about 30 miles southwest of Saigon.

The Vietnamese government now has about 40,000 troops in the Delta, where the Viet Cong is said to control 60 per cent of the area by day and more after nightfall.

Many Vietnamese opposed the move, fearful that civilian casualties would rise because of massive American firepower. Among the opponents was Fourth Corps Commander Lt. Gen. Dang Van Quang, who recently was relieved of command. Prime Minister Nguyen Cao Ky favored use of American forces in the Delta. He said they were needed not only in battle, but to help win friends.

Tot Park Lot Recommended

The Marinwood Park and Recreation Commission last night recommended development of a tot lot on land owned by the Marinwood Community Services District on Las Gallinas Avenue adjacent to Miller Creek School.

The commission accepted a $100 donation from the Marinwood Garden Club for planting, set a 9:30 a.m. tour tomorrow to inspect the need for pool improvements, and approved a Jan. 28 ski trip and a Feb. 4 Mardi Gras dance and midnight supper at the community center, Recreation Director William Gordon reported.

Cars Parts Stolen

Someone entered his storage yard Wednesday night at Hoag Avenue and Mill Street, San Rafael, by scaling the fence and cutting the barbed wire at the top, then stole $300 worth of parts from a foreign sports car, yard owner Aldo Barsotti told police yesterday.

Span Board Extends Bus Study

Directors of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District today authorized their engineer Arthur C. Jenkins to continue part-time services to the Marin Transit District so that the district can come to a speedy conclusion on bus service across the span.

Jenkins estimated he would be able to complete his report in about 30 days. There was opposition to the move from director F. C. Keonoudakis of San Francisco who foresaw the possibility of a conflict of interest because one transit proposal envisions a bridge district subsidy to make the transit district operatable. However, the majority of the board voted to let Jenkins continue the work he's been doing for the past six months.

In a year end report general manager James Adam said that a new record for traffic was established in 1966. A total of 27,847,976 vehicles used the bridge during the year an increase of 7.1 per cent over 1965, meaning that about 5,000 more cars are using the bridge each day than a year ago.

A significant statistic was that commute buses declined 6.7 per cent during the month of December although automobile traffic in general went up 5.9 per cent in the same month.

Trustee Files Election Papers

Incumbent Thomas A. Skornia of 105 Camino Bueno, Ross, filed a petition yesterday with the Marin County School's Office for election to the Marin Junior College Board in April.

Skornia was appointed to the board Dec. 8, after the November election enlarged the board membership from five to seven.

Larkspur School District trustee Mrs. Cornelia J. Perrone, who was appointed to the board in 1965, announced her candidacy for election in April at last night's board meeting.

Burglars Take Liquor, Change

Burglars stole two bottles of liquor and $1 in change from the home of Dreda Virginia Grambow at 325 Goodhill Road, Kent Woodlands, sheriff's officers said today.

Entry apparently was through an open front door.

Deputies said someone broke a window of the home of Charles J. Lutz at 522 Northern Avenue, Tamalpais Valley, but apparently was frightened away without entering.

Sydney Ulriksen of 10 Harbor Vista Drive, Strawberry, reported burglars broke a window of his car parked at home and stole a case of tools and a pair of sunglasses.

reflect "a normal workload, less about 10 per cent."

The budget for the current fiscal year is $4.6 billion, largest of any state. Inflation and population growth, without any new programs, would push the budget for the next year to about $5 billion. Reagan said the 10 per cent cut would be applied to the $5 billion budget projection.

After the cabinet meeting, Reagan met for 90 minutes with Smith, Kerr, and a six-member committee from the University Board of regents.

The governor urged the regents to impose a tuition to replace the reduction in state aid. He said he would prefer a tuition to cut in either quality or enrollment.

But both Kerr and Dumke have consistently opposed any change in traditional "no tuition" policy of the university and the colleges.

The tuition proposed has brought angry protests from students and faculty throughout the state. University students now pay $275 a year in special fees and state college students pay $130.

Phoner Gives His Identity

Sheriff's officers today said identity of a man who twice telephoned threats against SFO Helicopter Airlines has been learned.

They said the man, who first telephoned an airlines employee in Oakland on Jan. 4 with threat of shooting helicopters coming too near his house, made a second threat the next day, and identified himself.

He was questioned on his houseboat at Gate 5, Marinship, officers said, but declared he intended no harm. Deputies said he is a possible mental case. No immediate action was taken.

Robert Angle Resigns Bel Marin Rec Post

Robert Angle resigned last night from the Bel Marin Community Services District Park and Recreation commission. The district board will appoint a successor at its February meeting.

A $25 reward was announced for information leading to the recovery of a stone lion stolen recently from the rear of the Bel Marin Keys community center.

Jury Says Guilty On Check Charge

A Marin Superior Court jury at noon today found James Allen Calkins, 22, of San Jose, guilty of possession of a check with intent to defraud. Jurors deliberated two hours.

A co-defendant, Gilbert Lucas Bernal, also 22, and from San Jose, earlied pleaded guilty to the charge. The pair attempted to cash a worthless $126 check at Value World in Larkspur Oct. 8. Both will be sentenced Feb. 6.

$350,000 Suit In Traffic Death Of Tot

The traffic death of a 2-year-old San Francisco boy and injury of his mother resulted in filing of a $350,000 damage suit in Marin Superior Court today.

Jarlath and Irish O'Connor, parents of Stephen O'Connor, asks $150,000 for his death. Mrs. O'Connor also asks $300,000 for back and other injuries she suffered.

They accuse the State of California and Fisk, Firenze and McLean Inc., contractors, San Carlos, with impropjer repair of Highway 101 one mile south of the Sonoma County line.

The car containing Mrs. O'Connor, who was driving, and Stephen swerved into a dirt ditch at the highway's center, July 19, according to California Highway Patrol, then turned over.

Stephen was thrown from the car and crushed to death beneath it.

the owners want for the properties.

The three southern sites added for possible future use are the Baty property on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard east of Olema, and Martinelli property on Shoreline Highway a mile north of Point Reyes Station, and a portion of the Shafter property adjacent to Point Reyes National Seashore.

Supt. Anthony Matulich announced the following community meetings on the proposed bond issue: 8 p.m., Jan. 19, Bodega Bay Grange; 8 p.m., Feb. 2, Valley Ford School, and 8 p.m., Feb. 14, Clay's Farm House in Olema, at the West Marin Chamber of Commerce meeting.

The board appointed Parks to prepare the argument in favor of the bond issue for the ballot.

The Tomales High School District board also named trustees N. Louise Passalaqua, Jean A. Adams and Parks to interview the staff regarding charges which were made against some members more than a month ago. This was done after a closed session to discuss how to handle the charges.

Probert Takes Gavel Of Mosquito Board

Hildred B. Probert of Larkspur was elected president of Marin County Mosquito Abatement District board of trustees yesterday. Harold Henry of Mill Valley was named vice president, and Clifton C. Cordes of Fairfax was elected secretary.

Dist. Mgr. G. Paul Jones told trustees that salt marsh mosquitoes have been found in all the Marin and Sonoma reclaimed marshlands. The species will be in its aquatic stage until March 15, and district employees will spray the pests using hand equipment, jeeps and aircraft, said Jones.

Ross Council Votes For Widening Stretch Of Sir Francis Drake

Ross Town Council last night approved preliminary plans for widening Sir Francis Drake Boulevard to four lanes from the north end of the Corte Madera Creek Bridge to the San Anselmo city line.

The project is designed to eliminate a traffic bottleneck at the intersection of the boulevard with Bolinas and Winship avenues.

Town Engineer Philip B. Lygren said the plans calls for two through lanes northbound and two through lanes southbound and a center median strip. The area for the widening would be taken from the west side of the present boulevard, Lygren said.

Consulting Engineer Roy Hoffman reported that 18 trees within the right-of-way will have to be removed under the landscaping plan of William L. Kapranos, landscape architect.

There are 15 trees within the future median strip, he said, and it is recommended that eight of these be retained and seven be removed. He said trees removed from the median will be replaced by five "large specimen trees."

Councilmen agreed that the council's streets and parks committee should meet with Kapranos on landscaping plans.

The council authorized Whitelow, Hoffman and Albritton, consulting engineers, to prepare final plans at a cost of $4,800.

Councilmen also approved a five-year urban thoroughfare agreement with Marin County whereby the county contributes a portion of its gasoline tax revenue to cities on a matching basis.

Mayor Frederick S. Allen noted that the city could not accomplish the Sir Francis Drake Boulevard widening project without the agreement.

The Ross Town Council also;

1. Postoned action on a request by Tele-Vue Systems to increase its rate from 10 to 50 cents a foot for cable connection to houses more than 150 feet from the splice-off point, usually the nearest street pole. The company contended that the 10-cent figure in its contract with the city was a typographical error. The council asked for evidence of hardship to the company.

2. Agreed to start budget discussions, exclusive of salaries, with a review of the general government section Feb. 9.

3. Postponed introduction of a personnel ordinance clarifying conditions of work and instituting a rising pay scale for employees based on increased efficiency and seniority until Thursday Mayor Frederick S. Allen explained that the council had just received the final draft and had not had time to review it.

4. Set for Feb. 9 hearing on an ordinance limiting fence height to six feet.

5. Heard a plea from Councilman Roy Farrington Jones to enact an ordinance limiting the square footage of buildings by a formula relating the size of the building to the size of the lot.

6. Approved expenditure of $1,000 in state allocated engineering funds for the city's street system.

7. Adjourned until 8 p.m. next Thursday at town hall, when it will hold a public hearing on extension of the Corte Madera Creek Flood Control project into Ross, and agreed to adjourn that meeting until Feb. 2 at 8 p.m. at city hall for discussion of re-zoning of the Marin Art and Garden Center.

Welch Raps LBJ On Soviet Trade

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Robert Welch, founder and president of the John Birch Society, says American soldiers in Vietnam are being killed by Russian-made bullets from Russian guns while President Johnson seeks to bolster trade with the Soviet Union.

Welch criticized the Johnson Administration last night for what he called its "lack of will to win the Vietnam war." He told an audience of about 1,400 persons that the Birch Society now has about 70,000 members, that his goal is to enlarge membership to 300,000 or 400,000.

TRIBUTE GIVEN CRAWFORD GREENE

The Ross Town Council adjourned last night in memory of A. Crawford Greene, a longtime resident, who left the city a $5,000 bequest "in recognition of the happiness Ross Valley has brought to me and mine."

Default Notices Against Builder

Ninety-three notices of loan defaults believed a record for one day in the Marin County recorder's office, were filed Wednesday against Jack Hunt West Jr. and his wife, Evelyn Remmele West, developers of Bel Marin Keys near Novato.

The defaults were filed by Eureka Federal Savings and Loan Assn. of San Francisco, who will schedule a public auction to sell the properties after a 90-day period, according to Recorder Noel T. Giacomini.

The residences last month were placed in receivership by Judge Thomas F. Keating of Marin Superior Court pending outcome of a $3.5 million foreclosure suit against the Wests by the loan company.

Zoning Study Turned Down For Town

Ross Town Council last night rejected the county's bid to have Ross participate in a city-county zoning ordinance study.

Councilman Jordan L. Martinelli Jr. said, "I think this (zoning) is the most jealously guarded thing Ross has, and I move we do not enter into the agreement."

Councilman Roy Farrington Jones asked that Ross automatically be given notice if the study covers any area of land of interest to Ross.

County Zoning Administrator Thomas E. Cordill suggested that the city "set up a relationship" with the study committee.

Analysis On Agenda

An analysis of existing special education programs in Mill Valley School District by Dr. Glenn Skelton, director of education, will be considered Monday by the district's community relations committee at 8 p.m. at 26 Miller Avenue.

Zoning Hearing Slated On Art, Garden Center

Ross Town Council last night moved to establish greater city control over traffic and noise at the Marin Art and Garden Center.

If the city could control the number of people at the center, and the parking "it would be a big step forward," said Councilman William P. McAndrew.

He also said the city should seek to establish the best traffic flow through the center to reduce the traffic problem on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

McAndrew, a member of the council's coordinating committee which has been meeting with center directors, said the time has come to work out a zoning ordinance.

Councilmen agreed to discuss the center zoning at 8 p.m. Feb. 2 at city hall. They also set Feb. 9 at 8 p.m. a public hearing on the center's application for rezoning from residential to community cultural.

At 102, Parrot Doesn't Need Funds

VICTORIA, B.C. (AP) — When Victoria Wilson died 17 years ago she left part of her estate for the upkeep of her pet parrot, Louis, with the residue to go to Jubilee Hospital and the Canadian Red Cross.

Howard J. Harman, a lawyer for Miss Wilson's estate, said yesterday that Louis, now 102, no longer needs the more than $20,000 remaining in the fund. So two-thirds of it will be given immediately to the Red Cross and the hospital.

Extra Russian Food To India

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—The Soviet Union plans to give India 500,000 more tons of food grains for the drought-stricken eastern region of the country, sources close to the Soviet Embassy said today.

The Soviet Union already has 200,000 tons of grain en route to India under an agreement announced last month.

The United States said in December it would ship 900,000 tons of food grains to India in the next two months.

India needs to import about 900,000 tons of grains monthly to make up for shortages aggravated by the two-year drought in the eastern states.

Ride into the New Year with that sure feeling

To have second thoughts after a major purchase is a very human trait. The joy of owning a Chevrolet is the good, secure, sure feeling that you made the right decision. The feeling starts the day you pick up your Chevrolet at your dealer's. It gleams and sparkles. That's because it comes already waxed from the factory. You'll be pleased at the way it rides. An improved suspension system isolates you from bumps and noise and it has a nice, firm, secure feel on curves. You'll like the way it handles.

You can now turn with up to 10 per cent less effort, stop smoother too. And there are the extras . . . extra rustproofing, extra soundproofing, extra fenders (four inner ones), extra attention to details like a ball bearing ash tray that glides instead of scrapes. Is it any wonder Chevrolets have a reputation for being worth more when you trade them in? It's all part of what happy Chevrolet owners call that Sure Feeling.

Town Engineer Philip B. Lygren said the plans calls for two through lanes northbound and two through lanes southbound and a center median strip. The area for the widening would be taken from the west side of the present boulevard, Lygren said.

Consulting Engineer Roy Hoffman reported that 18 trees within the right-of-way will have to be removed under the landscaping plan of William L. Kapranos, landscape architect.

There are 15 trees within the future median strip, he said, and it is recommended that eight of these be retained and seven be removed. He said trees removed from the median will be replaced by five "large specimen trees."

Councilmen agreed that the council's streets and parks committee should meet with Kapranos on landscaping plans.

The council authorized Whitelow, Hoffman and Albritton, consulting engineers, to prepare final plans at a cost of $4,800.

Councilmen also approved a five-year urban thoroughfare agreement with Marin County whereby the county contributes a portion of its gasoline tax revenue to cities on a matching basis.

Mayor Frederick S. Allen noted that the city could not accomplish the Sir Francis Drake Boulevard widening project without the agreement.

The Ross Town Council also;

1. Postoned action on a request by Tele-Vue Systems to increase its rate from 10 to 50 cents a foot for cable connection to houses more than 150 feet from the splice-off point, usually the nearest street pole. The company contended that the 10-cent figure in its contract with the city was a typographical error. The council asked for evidence of hardship to the company.

2. Agreed to start budget discussions, exclusive of salaries, with a review of the general government section Feb. 9.

3. Postponed introduction of a personnel ordinance clarifying conditions of work and instituting a rising pay scale for employees based on increased efficiency and seniority until Thursday Mayor Frederick S. Allen explained that the council had just received the final draft and had not had time to review it.

4. Set for Feb. 9 hearing on an ordinance limiting fence height to six feet.

5. Heard a plea from Councilman Roy Farrington Jones to enact an ordinance limiting the square footage of buildings by a formula relating the size of the building to the size of the lot.

6. Approved expenditure of $1,000 in state allocated engineering funds for the city's street system.

7. Adjourned until 8 p.m. next Thursday at town hall, when it will hold a public hearing on extension of the Corte Madera Creek Flood Control project into Ross, and agreed to adjourn that meeting until Feb. 2 at 8 p.m. at city hall for discussion of re-zoning of the Marin Art and Garden Center.

Arts And Crafts Classes Scheduled

Classes on unusual arts and crafts for children from first through sixth grades will be held by the San Rafael Recreation and Park Department in the Community Recreation Center, Second and Brooks streets, starting Jan. 31 at 4 p.m.

Registraiton for the classes will be on Jan. 24 at 4 p.m. The class will be limited to 15 children.

Welch Raps LBJ On Soviet Trade

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Robert Welch, founder and president of the John Birch Society, says American soldiers in Vietnam are being killed by Russian-made bullets from Russian guns while President Johnson seeks to bolster trade with the Soviet Union.

Welch criticized the Johnson Administration last night for what he called its "lack of will to win the Vietnam war." He told an audience of about 1,400 persons that the Birch Society now has about 70,000 members, that his goal is to enlarge membership to 300,000 or 400,000.

TRIBUTE GIVEN CRAWFORD GREENE

The Ross Town Council adjourned last night in memory of A. Crawford Greene, a longtime resident, who left the city a $5,000 bequest "in recognition of the happiness Ross Valley has brought to me and mine."

Default Notices Against Builder

Ninety-three notices of loan defaults believed a record for one day in the Marin County recorder's office, were filed Wednesday against Jack Hunt West Jr. and his wife, Evelyn Remmele West, developers of Bel Marin Keys near Novato.

The defaults were filed by Eureka Federal Savings and Loan Assn. of San Francisco, who will schedule a public auction to sell the properties after a 90-day period, according to Recorder Noel T. Giacomini.

The residences last month were placed in receivership by Judge Thomas F. Keating of Marin Superior Court pending outcome of a $3.5 million foreclosure suit against the Wests by the loan company.

Zoning Study Turned Down For Town

Ross Town Council last night rejected the county's bid to have Ross participate in a city-county zoning ordinance study.

Councilman Jordan L. Martinelli Jr. said, "I think this (zoning) is the most jealously guarded thing Ross has, and I move we do not enter into the agreement."

Councilman Roy Farrington Jones asked that Ross automatically be given notice if the study covers any area of land of interest to Ross.

County Zoning Administrator Thomas E. Cordill suggested that the city "set up a relationship" with the study committee.

Analysis On Agenda

An analysis of existing special education programs in Mill Valley School District by Dr. Glenn Skelton, director of education, will be considered Monday by the district's community relations committee at 8 p.m. at 26 Miller Avenue.

Zoning Hearing Slated On Art, Garden Center

Ross Town Council last night moved to establish greater city control over traffic and noise at the Marin Art and Garden Center.

If the city could control the number of people at the center, and the parking "it would be a big step forward," said Councilman William P. McAndrew.

He also said the city should seek to establish the best traffic flow through the center to reduce the traffic problem on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

McAndrew, a member of the council's coordinating committee which has been meeting with center directors, said the time has come to work out a zoning ordinance.

Councilmen agreed to discuss the center zoning at 8 p.m. Feb. 2 at city hall. They also set Feb. 9 at 8 p.m. a public hearing on the center's application for rezoning from residential to community cultural.

At 102, Parrot Doesn't Need Funds

VICTORIA, B.C. (AP) — When Victoria Wilson died 17 years ago she left part of her estate for the upkeep of her pet parrot, Louis, with the residue to go to Jubilee Hospital and the Canadian Red Cross.

Howard J. Harman, a lawyer for Miss Wilson's estate, said yesterday that Louis, now 102, no longer needs the more than $20,000 remaining in the fund. So two-thirds of it will be given immediately to the Red Cross and the hospital.

Extra Russian Food To India

NEW DELHI, India (AP)— The Soviet Union plans to give India 500,000 more tons of food grains for the drought-stricken eastern region of the country, sources close to the Soviet Embassy said today.

The Soviet Union already has 200,000 tons of grain en route to India under an agreement announced last month.

The United States said in December it would ship 900,000 tons of food grains to India in the next two months.

India needs to import about 900,000 tons of grains monthly to make up for shortages aggravated by the two-year drought in the eastern states.

Ride into the New Year with
that sure feeling

To have second thoughts after a major purchase is a very human trait. The joy of owning a Chevrolet is the good, secure, sure feeling that you made the right decision. The feeling starts the day you pick up your Chevrolet at your dealer's. It gleams and sparkles. That's because it comes already waxed from the factory. You'll be pleased at the way it rides. An improved suspension system isolates you from bumps and noise and it has a nice, firm, secure feel on curves. You'll like the way it handles.

You can now turn with up to 10 per cent less effort, stop smoother too. And there are the extras . . . extra rustproofing, extra soundproofing, extra fenders (four inner ones), extra attention to details like a ball bearing ash tray that glides instead of scrapes. Is it any wonder Chevrolets have a reputation for being worth more when you trade them in? It's all part of what happy Chevrolet owners call that Sure Feeling.

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

Bisson 'Touch' More Pronounced At Adolph's West End Villa

The Bisson "family touch" has become more pronounced at Bill and Adolph's West End Villa.

Newest addition here on the kitchen staff under chef Camille Bamatter is Bill Bisson's younger brother Stewart, who has been getting continental cuisine experience first hand in Europe. Now he should pick up a few more tricks of the profession under Camille.

Actually there are four Bissons in the West End picture. Bill's wife Vera, of course, is hostess and those artistic Christmas decorations (they were still there last time I looked—too pretty to take down) were the work of son Ronnie whose talents combine both art and good craftsmanship. He had a hand, by the way, in doing some of the original colored glass lighting fixtures here.

All of this blends in a rare combination of family business, nice decor and good food which makes dining here an enjoyment.

What will you have as an appetizer at West End these days? Eastern oysters on the half shell? Or oysters Rockefeller? Take your choice, but if you ask maitre Harry Auda he'll likely suggest the latter so he can strike another match and flambe them on a bed of rock salt. No matter. They are still as delicious as the show is spectacular.

One thing I do like here in the steak and lobster combination is the two served as brochettes. Tender filets of each and just enough to make this dish a good one for dieters. In large dimensions it can be a hearty one.

SOMETHING MORE on the Peacock—Novato's newest restaurant: This is at 1624 Grant Avenue and is open seven days a week—from 11 a.m. to 10 p.m. weekdays for lunch and dinner; and Sunday for dinner from 4 p.m.

Chinese and American cuisine—but the thing to remember is that there are also Korean and Japanese dishes here by request. We haven't had anything like this in Marin before. As a suggestion you might try Jae Soon Del Rose's "kolbie" (marinated Korean beef rib). They also make their own egg rolls here.

Walter and Jae Soon Del Rose had restaurants before in Singapore and in New Orleans. Chef Tom Hom used to be on the Lin Fa Gardens staff, as also did Jae Soon.

There are four Chinese lunch plates from 90 cents to $1.45 and a sandwich menu priced from 60 cents to about $2.

Special Chinese family dinners are priced at $2.50, $3.50 and $4.50 each (for two or more persons) and in the customary Oriental manner as the number of persons increases so do the dishes. There's also a moderately priced "solo" Chinese dinner. American dinners from about $2.25 to $4. Wines and beers. Food also to take out—and delivery service.

I'd suggest reservations—weekends anyway. Later the Peacock may do a little expanding.

OUR GOOD WISHES to accordionist Al Stone who leaves La Petite Auberge, San Rafael, following this weekend after I don't remember how many years here. He's transferring activities to the city.

Replacing him will be young Ken Judnick whom you may remember—he took Al's place once before during a vacation absence.

OAK TREE INN is now on its winter schedule, with dinners served only on Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays from 5 to 11 p.m. But these evenings are active and I'd make reservations—especially since there's now a new chef, Harry Zimlin, formerly at the Hotel Australia in Sydney.

Regular dinner menu is being continued but Harry will come up with other specialties as he thinks of them. So far he's been preparing beef Stroganoff, frog legs vin blanc, London broil.

The winter schedule, by the way, leaves the dining room available the rest of the week for parties and banquests. It can seat about 50, has a cozy fireplace and extra room for film viewing and dancing.

Bar is still open seven days a week from 9 a.m. Daytime bar manager is Skipper Schivo, whom you will recognize if you ever visited Spec McAuliffe's place in Lagunitas.

CAL'S STEAK HOUSE in San Rafael has gone in for "Gay Nineties" weekends and to step up the pace Friday and Saturday nights Cal Wheeler has brought in a piano and banjo duo to perform from 8 p.m. to midnight.

Cal's now serves wines and beers on draught and if you can manage to pull in on a Tuesday night between 5 and 9 there's a good special taking hold—spaghetti and garlic bread for 75 cents.

ORGANIST Gordon Tucker is now featured in the Mai Tai Room at Lin Fa Gardens, Northgate. He's active in local organists affairs and has been playing in the county for some time. A good man for handling your requests. You may recall his music at the Lodge in Novato and later at Tiburon Lodge.

FOR STEAK EATERS—and big steak eaters at that—there's a new dinner add at Eugene's Country Restaurant in the Country Club Bowl, San Rafael that should send anyone away from the table smiling and satisfied in appetite and purse.

Eugene calls this the "Gourmand Special," which consists of a 20-ounce top sirloin, charbroiled, and served with a well dimensioned baked potato. For the latter are butter, sour cream with horseradish or crisp bacon or all three. Also included is toasted French bread (garlicked, if you like) and a bowl of fresh garden salad with choice of dressing.

All for $3.95 and served daily from 5:30 to 9:30 p.m. Good steak, too.

WAITRESS Vi Martin is back atMission Inn, San Rafael serving lunches after an absence of about eight months and she seems to have recuperated fully from her accident. Welcome aboard again.

Family style dinners at night—after the Italian fashion.

SHOULD YOUR WEST MARIN COURSE run by the Inverness Wye on Shoreline Highway near Point Reyes Station, popular eating place here is Parkway Cafe where owner Bernice Stewart has added a wine and beer license. She also provides clam chowder, homemade pies, biscuits at all hours, double-deck hamburgers and other viands. Meals go from about $1.50 to $3.50 for a man-sized steak.

JOHN SNIDER at Shakey's Pizza Parlor, San Rafael no doubt has often had calls for pizza to go out—but for once he ran into an order he couldn't fill, and prepaid at that.

It seems that airman first class Hugh D. Murray, once stationed at Hamilton Air Force Base and now in Vietnam, got to thinking about the Shakey merchandise he had enjoyed here. The more he thought the more unhappy he became. Finally the gnawing pains in his stomach for a large pepperoni and sausage pizza exceeded any punishment the Viet Cong had to offer.

Thereupon he sent John a money order and requested the ingredients for said pepperoni and sausage mixture be sent forthwith—or even sooner.

Alas—airman Murray must undergo his hunger and the Cong flack a while longer before his reward—for the laws on shipping pork are inflexible.

What would you do? That's what John did—returned the check with a letter of explanation. And as a bonus, when Murray returns all he has to do is show the letter and he can have five big pizzas—with pepperoni, sausage or anything else.

STARTING NEXT FRIDAY the Destination South Pacific Room at Tiburon Tommie's will be taken over again Friday and Saturday nights by the Cove Players for their winter season comedy presentation "Seven Year Itch." This will be performed for four weekends through Feb. 11.

There is still room for banquets in the Maori Loft. And dinners continue to be served every evening in the lower floor dining room.

Teachers Union Shuns Carol Ban

The American Federation of Teachers (AFL-CIO) yesterday entered the controversy over the banning of Christmas carols at San Rafael High School by disclaiming any responsibility for the incident.

Bella H. Aaron, atorney for the teachers union, said the union objected to statements by a member of the San Rafael Board of Education which appeared to link the union with the carol ban.

Mrs. Aaron said: "This was not a union action. It was a unilateral action by a teacher, social studies instructor Morse J. Byer, who happened to belong to the AFT."

Meeting Postponed

The Ross School District Board has postponed its regular meeting, originally scheduled for Monday, until Jan. 23.

Undersea Mountains Mapped First Time

WASHINGTON (SS) — The discovery of dozens of previously uncharted undersea mountains, mountain ridges and sea basins in the North Pacific and Bering Sea was disclosed by the U.S. Department of Commerce when six new maps of the sea floor surrounding the Aleutian Islands were published. The maps cover about 400,000 square miles of sea bed where thousands of earthquakes are spawned each year.

The bathymetric charts are the culmination of nearly 25 years of painstaking work and are the most detailed ever made of this region. They were produced by the Environmental Science Services Administration using information gathered from more than 275 hydrographic surveys by vessels of the Coast and Geodetic Survey between 1943 and 1964.

Mrs. Vigno's Family Charges Malpractice

A $300,000 malpractice suit in the death of Mrs. Marcella M. Vigno, 47, of 693 Tiburon, was filed yesterday in Marin Superior Court.

Her husband, Edward D. Vigno; son, Edward John Vigno, and daughter, Rochelle Elaine Vigno, allege that Dr. Rodney B. Hartman of Mill Valley was negligent in abdominal treatment of Mrs. Vigno, resulting in her death Nov. 20.

SHOULD YOUR WEST MARIN COURSE run by the Inverness Wye on Shoreline Highway near Point Reyes Station, popular eating place here is Parkway Cafe where owner Bernice Stewart has added a wine and beer license. She also provides clam chowder, homemade pies, biscuits at all hours, double-deck hamburgers and other viands. Meals go from about $1.50 to $3.50 for a man-sized steak.

JOHN SNIDER at Shakey's Pizza Parlor, San Rafael no doubt has often had calls for pizza to go out—but for once he ran into an order he couldn't fill, and prepaid at that.

It seems that airman first class Hugh D. Murray, once stationed at Hamilton Air Force Base and now in Vietnam, got to thinking about the Shakey merchandise he had enjoyed here. The more he thought the more unhappy he became. Finally the gnawing pains in his stomach for a large pepperoni and sausage pizza exceeded any punishment the Viet Cong had to offer.

Thereupon he sent John a money order and requested the ingredients for said pepperoni and sausage mixture be sent forthwith—or even sooner.

Alas—airman Murray must undergo his hunger and the Cong flack a while longer before his reward—for the laws on shipping pork are inflexible.

What would you do? That's what John did—returned the check with a letter of explanation. And as a bonus, when Murray returns all he has to do is show the letter and he can have five big pizzas—with pepperoni, sausage or anything else.

STARTING NEXT FRIDAY the Destination South Pacific Room at Tiburon Tommie's will be taken over again Friday and Saturday nights by the Cove Players for their winter season comedy presentation "Seven Year Itch." This will be performed for four weekends through Feb. 11.

There is still room for banquets in the Maori Loft. And dinners continue to be served every evening in the lower floor dining room.

Teachers Union Shuns Carol Ban

The American Federation of Teachers (AFL-CIO) yesterday entered the controversy over the banning of Christmas carols at San Rafael High School by disclaiming any responsibility for the incident.

Bella H. Aaron, atorney for the teachers union, said the union objected to statements by a member of the San Rafael Board of Education which appeared to link the union with the carol ban.

Mrs. Aaron said: "This was not a union action. It was a unilateral action by a teacher, social studies instructor Morse J. Byer, who happened to belong to the AFT."

Meeting Postponed

Undersea Mountains Mapped First Time

WASHINGTON (SS) — The discovery of dozens of previously uncharted undersea mountains, mountain ridges and sea basins in the North Pacific and Bering Sea was disclosed by the U.S. Department of Commerce when six new maps of the sea floor surrounding the Aleutian Islands were published. The maps cover about 400,000 square miles of sea bed where thousands of earthquakes are spawned each year.

The bathymetric charts are the culmination of nearly 25 years of painstaking work and are the most detailed ever made of this region. They were produced by the Environmental Science Services Administration using information gathered from more than 275 hydrographic surveys by vessels of the Coast and Geodetic Survey between 1943 and 1964.

Mrs. Vigno's Family Charges Malpractice

A $300,000 malpractice suit in the death of Mrs. Marcella M. Vigno, 47, of 693 Tiburon, was filed yesterday in Marin Superior Court.

Her husband, Edward D. Vigno; son, Edward John Vigno, and daughter, Rochelle Elaine Vigno, allege that Dr. Rodney B. Hartman of Mill Valley was negligent in abdominal treatment of Mrs. Vigno, resulting in her death Nov. 20.

Halley Gets Patrick's Nod For Chairman

By WAT TAKESHITA

James Halley of San Francisco, who is scheduled to move into the chairmanship of the Republican State Central Committee, will get no opposition from Marin industrialist William Penn Patrick at Sunday's statewide meeting in Sacramento.

But Patrick, 36-year-old cosmetics manufacturer, declared today he will oppose Dennis Carpenter of Anaheim, who is being groomed for the vice chairman's post.

NO. 2 SPOT

For the number two spot, Patrick said his forces will nominate Dr. Bernard Tully, a West Covina surgeon. "We think the party needs a little surgery."

"Joe Shell (former assemblyman from Los Angeles) will nominate Dr. Tully, and I will probably second the nomination," said Patrick. "We have 400 votes committed for Tully and I think we have more than Carpenter has. If we lose, we won't lose by a great deal. And even then, we're going to be a strong devil's advocates."

Patrick explained he is opposed to Carpenter because "he was hand-picked" by Dr. Gaylord Parkinson, present GOP chairman.

Patrick, who has his eyes on the Senate seat held by Thomas H. Kuchel, said he believes Senator Kuchel should be censured by the state GOP committee "for his failure to support Nixon, Goldwater, Murphy, and Reagan" and also "for his voting record."

TO ATTEND

Patrick said he will attend the Sacramento meeting as an appointee of Don R. Hummer, who was defeated by Paul Leake in the race for the State Board of Equalization in the Third District.

The biennial organization meeting of the state GOP Central Committee will start at 10 a.m. Sunday in the Sacramento Memorial Auditorium.

Mrs. Lee Sherry of Fairfax will preside over the Northern California region women's caucus to nominate candidates for women's regional vice chairmen.

Lost Paintings Back In Germany

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three paintings which disappeared from a German museum 45 years ago have been formally returned to the West German government for a trip closer to home.

The three, valued at more than $1 million, are a self-portrait by Rembrandt, "Portrait of a Man" by Gerard Ter Borch and "Portrait of a Young Woman" by Johann Tischbein. They are on exhibit at the National Gallery of Art until Feb. 28.

They won't get all the way home now, however, because the museum of Weimar from where they were taken is in East Germany. The paintings were stolen in 1922, apparently by two German soldiers, and were sold to an unidentified Ohio businessman in the 1930's by a German merchant seaman.

Liberals Await Word On Cabinet

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP) — Lynden Pindling today sought permission to form a government from the British governor, who said before Tuesday's election he thought the United States would be concerned about a Pindling victory.

Sir Ralph Grey, governor in the British colony, said: "The U.S. Defense Department is extremely interested in the outcome of the election. After all, they have three missile tracking stations on Grand Bahama, Eleuthera and San Salvador Islands and an underwater base at Andros, and they want to be sure this place is going to stay stable."

"I think they are also frightened that if the Progressive Liberal party won, Cubà's Castro could eventually use this as a beachhead," Grey said.

Child Beating Probation Set By Roth

Douglas Ross Davidson, 22, yesterday was put on two years probation for beating his 4-year-old son by Judge Hadden W. Roth of Marin Municipal Court.

The judge also ordered Davison, of 1441 Casa Buena, Corte Madera, to seek psychiatric treatment.

Davison had pleaded guilty to beating the child, Wesley De Veas, with his hands and burning him with a cigarette lighter. Sheriff's officers who arrested him Nov. 25 quoted Davison as first as saying Wesley was burned while making popcorn on the kitchen stove.

His wife, Virginia E. Romm Davison, 22, also known as Virginia De Veas, was originally charged with neglecting the child and permitting the beatings, but the complaint was dismissed Dec. 29 for insufficient evidence.

Judge Orders Kappas To Suspend Dredging

Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court yesterday ordered George Kappas to stop dredging or filing of his Waldo Point yacht harbor pending a full court hearing on the issue.

The order came as a denial of Kappas's request for a preliminary injunction restraining the County of Marin, the state, and the Bay Conservation and Development Commission from preventing him from maintaining his levees and roads, and from dredging.

Judge Wilson also consolidated Kappas' suit, which ultimately seeks a permanent injunction against the public bodies, with an earlier suit filed by the county to force Kappas to remove all piers, docks, buildings, and fill from the area.

The county also is seeking back rent from Kappas at $500 for every month since the county gained title to 10 underwater "streets" and two canals—about 1959. His fill allegedly encroaches on the county property.

The county and conservation commission contend that granting Kappas an injunction would prevent state regulating agencies from exercising the police power of the state. They also contended that the superior court is without jurisdiction to grant such a request.

Kappas claims he has the right to fill the underwater streets and canals and to erect the structures. His suit was transferred to Marin Superior Court Nov. 28 after being filed in San Francisco Superior Court last March 31.—The day after the County of Marin and the conservation commission filed their suit.

Job Switching Gains In U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government says American workers are switching jobs faster than ever.

A Labor Department report issued today attributed this trend to the growing number of workers under 25 and a bright employment picture which is encouraging more people to move to better paying jobs.

The report said a survey this month showed that the 71 million Americans now at work have been on their current job an average of 4.2 years, compared with 4.6 years three years ago.

TO ATTEND

Patrick said he will attend the Sacramento meeting as an appointee of Don R. Hummer, who was defeated by Paul Leake in the race for the State Board of Equalization in the Third District.

The biennial organization meeting of the state GOP Central Committee will start at 10 a.m. Sunday in the Sacramento Memorial Auditorium.

Mrs. Lee Sherry of Fairfax will preside over the Northern California region women's caucus to nominate candidates for women's regional vice chairmen.

Lost Paintings Back In Germany

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three paintings which disappeared from a German museum 45 years ago have been formally returned to the West German government for a trip closer to home.

The three, valued at more than $1 million, are a self-portrait by Rembrandt, "Portrait of a Man" by Gerard Ter Borch and "Portrait of a Young Woman" by Johann Tischbein. They are on exhibit at the National Gallery of Art until Feb. 28.

They won't get all the way home now, however, because the museum of Weimar from where they were taken is in East Germany. The paintings were stolen in 1922, apparently by two German soldiers, and were sold to an unidentified Ohio businessman in the 1930's by a German merchant seaman.

Liberals Await Word On Cabinet

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP) — Lynden Pindling today sought permission to form a government from the British governor, who said before Tuesday's election he thought the United States would be concerned about a Pindling victory.

Sir Ralph Grey, governor in the British colony, said: "The U.S. Defense Department is extremely interested in the outcome of the election. After all, they have three missile tracking stations on Grand Bahama, Eleuthera and San Salvador Islands and an underwater base at Andros, and they want to be sure this place is going to stay stable."

"I think they are also frightened that if the Progressive Liberal party won, Cuba's Castro could eventually use this as a beachhead," Grey said.

Child Beating Probation Set By Roth

Douglas Ross Davidson, 22, yesterday was put on two years probation for beating his 4-year-old son by Judge Hadden W. Roth of Marin Municipal Court.

The judge also ordered Davison, of 1441 Casa Buena, Corte Madera, to seek psychiatric treatment.

Davison had pleaded guilty to beating the child, Wesley De Veas, with his hands and burning him with a cigarette lighter. Sheriff's officers who arrested him Nov. 25 quoted Davison as first as saying Wesley was burned while making popcorn on the kitchen stove.

His wife, Virginia E. Romm Davison, 22, also known as Virginia De Veas, was originally charged with neglecting the child and permitting the beatings, but the complaint was dismissed Dec. 29 for insufficient evidence.

Judge Orders Kappas To Suspend Dredging

Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court yesterday ordered George Kappas to stop dredging or filing of his Waldo Point yacht harbor pending a full court hearing on the issue.

The order came as a denial of Kappas's request for a preliminary injunction restraining the County of Marin, the state, and the Bay Conservation and Development Commission from preventing him from maintaining his levees and roads, and from dredging.

Judge Wilson also consolidated Kappas' suit, which ultimately seeks a permanent injunction against the public bodies, with an earlier suit filed by the county to force Kappas to remove all piers, docks, buildings, and fill from the area.

The county also is seeking back rent from Kappas at $500 for every month since the county gained title to 10 underwater "streets" and two canals—about 1959. His fill allegedly encroaches on the county property.

The county and conservation commission contend that granting Kappas an injunction would prevent state regulating agencies from exercising the police power of the state. They also contended that the superior court is without jurisdiction to grant such a request.

Kappas claims he has the right to fill the underwater streets and canals and to erect the structures. His suit was transferred to Marin Superior Court Nov. 28 after being filed in San Francisco Superior Court last March 31.—The day after the County of Marin and the conservation commission filed their suit.

Job Switching Gains In U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government says American workers are switching jobs faster than ever.

A Labor Department report issued today attributed this trend to the growing number of workers under 25 and a bright employment picture which is encouraging more people to move to better paying jobs.

The report said a survey this month showed that the 71 million Americans now at work have been on their current job an average of 4.2 years, compared with 4.6 years three years ago.

Refreshing Candor Of Ike Livermore Hailed

Norman B. (Ike) Livermore Jr. of San Rafael, newly appointed administrator of the State Resources Agency, may turn out to be a controversial figure.

Certainly, he is not the classic politician who is a master at sidestepping and smoothing ruffled feathers. His first press conference in Sacramento served notice that here was a state official who would call a spade a spade and let the chips fall where they may.

His acquaintances in Marin know Ike as a totally honest and non-political individual. At his opening press conference, he led off with criticism of a Redwood National Park proposal by the Sierra Club, of which he is a member. He is also a member of the Wilderness Society and the Marin Conservation League.

On another day, Livermore is just as likely to sound off against one of his colleagues in the lumber industry. He is an executive with Pacific Lumber Co.

In other words, Livermore is the type of person who would not allow personal friendships or organizational affiliations color his thinking. Conscience is his guide. He truly calls them as he sees them.

Both State Sen. John F. (Jack) McCarthy and Assemblyman William T. Bagley of Marin, who are personal friends of Ike Livermore, hailed the appointment as a boon for the entire state.

"Ike's integrity and his broad knowledge in both conservation and in industry equip him to deal with both segments fairly and with understanding," said Senator McCarthy. "It was a superior appointment by Governor Reagan."

Assemblyman Bagley called the choice "the greatest appointment to date" by the Governor. "Ike's long family heritage in conservation and his knowledge and experience in industry will provide a happy balance between the industries concerned and the conservationists.

"The appointment epitomizes Governor Reagan's announced intention to bring into state government top people in the private sector," Bagley noted. "I am sure this is a major sacrifice for Ike to come into government. He is taking on a can of worms almost gratuitously."

We have respected the refreshing candor, directness and plain talk of Ike Livermore. The remarks he made at the opening press conference are in keeping with his nature of facing problems exactly as they are and refusing to gloss over the unpleasant for the sake of expediency.

By his appointment of Ike Livermore, Governor Reagan has brought refreshing candor and directness into the top level of state government.

This deserves to be appreciated by the general (non-special interest) public.

The Pleasing Fragrance Of Loquat

Not many Marin trees bloom in early January. An exception is the loquat. This small tree, with its large, long, rather narrow leaves, is spreading the fragrance of its small blossoms in the damp January chill. And it is a very pleasing fragrance, carrying some distance.

Later in the year, the trees will bear the exotic loquat fruit, and unusual and intriguing taste treat.

MARIN POLITICAL VIEWS

Gov. Reagan's Economy Move Reaches Down To Clerical Level

By WAT TAKESHITA

Takeshita

THE REAGAN Administration's economy edict in Sacramento is sending repercussions all the way down to the level of secretaries and clerks.

You can sense it in the general tenseness among most of the employees as each department marks time to see (1) what's going to happen in the way of staff cuts and/or changes and (2) what's going to happen to departmental programs if the administration should lop off budget requests.

The State Consumer Counsel's Office around the corner from the Governor's office was in a state of gloom. They were expecting the office to be wiped out. Must have been a pleasant surprise to see a new consumer counsel appointed, even temporarily.

IN OTHER departments, the atmosphere is one of "watchful waiting." The general feeling is that the operation of existing programs will be allowed, but that many of the capital improvement projects outlined for the coming fiscal year may be cut back.

For example, take parks and recreation. In the department's budget proposal, there is no doubt some provision for capital improvements (picnic and other tourist facilities) on Angel Island. Under the Governor's "hold the line" objective, it's quite possible that further improvements may be halted.

Governor Reagan is not merely giving lip-service to government economy. Here's a letterhead from the Department of Mental Hygiene, with the printed name "Edmund G. Brown" crossed out and the name "Ronald Reagan" typed in its place. Apparently, there is going to be no waste in old letterheads.

WE'VE FINALLY pinned down the correct pronunciation of the Governor's name. It's Ray-gun, not Ree-gun. That's straight from the Governor's office.

Some of the "new faces" in the State Capitol are familiar, friendly ones imported directly from Marin. In the top echelon of Governor Reagan's staff, we have Tom Reed of Ross as appointments secretary, Ike Livermore of San Rafael as administrator of the State Resources Agency, and Nancy Clark Reynolds of Sleepy Hollow as assistant press secretary. Pretty good showing for a small county like Marin.

BOTH OF MARIN'S representatives have expanded staffs. Senate Minority Leader Jack McCarthy has a new field director, Mike Kahl of Novato, because of expansion in the Fourth Senatorial District (to include Napa and Solano). Assemblyman William T. Bagley could very well get an expanded office, in addition to personnel. Rumors are that Bagley may be in line for chairmanship of a major Assembly committee—maybe the Judiciary Committee.

MARIN FEDERATED Republican Women will hold its luncheon meeting next Tuesday (Jan. 17) at Villa Rafael, 1606 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael. President Betty Williams says she'll have Chuck Michals, new chairman of the County Republican Central Committee, as luncheon speaker.

David R. Ring, Tiburon attorney and engineer, is making a determined bid for a post on the Tam High District board in the April 18 election. He's got fellow lawyer Hank Broderick to serve as campaign chairman.

Ring is an advocate of smaller unification as opposed to the unification of the entire Tam High District.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Smoking Film A Great Success

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Marin citizens can take pride in the important influence which the Marin Medical Society through the Marin Interagency Council on Cigarette Smoking exerted in helping to pass the resolution of the California Medical Assn. urging its 23,000 member physicians to quit smoking and to advise their patients to do likewise.

Beginning five years ago with a smoking education program which was offered to the local schools, the Medical Society joined forces with the local Cancer, Heart, TB and Health agencies plus the Health Dept. and the county schools to form the Interagency Council. Our counterpart of the California and National Interagency Councils has been continually updating and expanding its programs available to the community.

Two years ago the Marin Medical Society used its available funds to make the first satirical smoking film. The lead article in the Wall Street Journal for Jan. 9, refers to our film in its national article captioned "Anti-Smoking Drive Seems to Make Gains, Worries Tobacco Firms." In describing the U. S. Public Health Service "community laboratory" in Syracuse, N. Y., reference is made of a program for 900 junior high school students in which was introduced ". . . a 17-minute satirical movie called Too Tough To Care. The movie is about the president of a mythical tobacco company, maker of Finster cigarettes, who demands that his advertising man dream up a new sales pitch. The slogan: 'The Finster Man is Too Tough to Care.' . . . After the film, teachers dressed in forbidding costumes enacted a skit featuring such performers as Mr. Death, Heart Disease, Emphysema, and Tuberculosis. The climax came when two students decide smoking is a 'crummy habit' and ask advice on how to stop. . . ."

Because of this success and the need for a film suitable for elementary school children, the Marin Medical Society has decided to proceed with the making of another film.

It is ironic that Marin County smoking education efforts are better known and requested outside our community than within it. It is becoming increasingly clear that anti-smoking programs the country over are successful in relation to the vigor with which they are carried out.

Stock List Request Gets Prompt Action

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I am a subscriber to your paper and one of the advantages you give over the morning paper is the stock report for same day.

Several of my acquaintances and I are interested in Koret of California. This is an "over the counter" stock. Could you add it to your list on the financial page?

GORDON BIGELOW
Greenbrae

(As with all requests for additions to the stock lists published in the I-J, we referred reader Bigelow's request to the organization which supplies the quotations, half expecting the standard reply that there was insufficient interest to justify quoting that price. Wonder of wonders: the National Assn. of Security Dealers forthwith added Koret of California to its daily over-the-counter list supplied to the I-J —Editor.)

Tuition Proposal Held Prejudicial

Editor, Independent-Journal:

In attempting to raise tuition at state colleges and universities to exorbitant levels, Governor Reagan is making clear his social and ethnic prejudices. It hardly requires an advanced degree in sociology to determine what portion of the population Mr. Reagan is "punishing." This is prejudice at its most brutal and effective — at an economic level.

To pretend that there will be sufficient scholarships available to accommodate the sizable number of college and university students disenfranchised by Mr. Reagan's plan is hypocrisy at its most blatant.

If Governor Reagan is successful, he will be allowed to subvert the very purpose for which the state colleges and universities were set up: to guarantee equal opportunity for higher education to all Californians.

Some Action Sought On Bad Intersections

Editor, Independent-Journal:

There are two dangerous intersections in our area: Center Boulevard and Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in San Anselmo and the same two, plus Pacheco in Farifax.

There are no traffic lights, only stop signs in some directions, but not in all, which makes the situation even worse. Months ago I sent a letter to the San Anselmo City Hall, but up to date they did not find the time to answer it. Could not you start some action?

Editing Spoiled Fun Of Letter

Editor, Independent-Journal:

In my letter to the editor of Jan. 10, (entitled "Highway 4 Like a Live Grenade"), you took the liberty of editing portions. You indicated the editing with multiple periods. In a quick scan, I didn't see any little dots in anyone else's letter!

My creation was a unique whole! I was playing it for laughs and you took out some of the funny parts! How come?

If you insist on diddling with my delicate whimsy, I shall be forced to find another publisher! I may even submit manuscript to a small competitor.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

OUT IN New zealand, the faces of one local fire brigade are as red as their suspenders. The entire brigade was frolicking at a town fair when a building only two blocks away suddenly caught fire The boys unhesitatingly raced over to the scene of the conflagration—but found when they got there they they had neglected to bring one reasonably important item: the fire engine. They rushed back to headquarters to retrieve it. Alas! By the time the brave lads returned with it, the buliding had burned to the ground.

NEWSHAWK DICK Tobin tells about the editor of a metropolitan newspaper who took a dim view of a humorous, tasteless gossip column that the owners made him run. One evening he was told, "Hey, Eddie, they seem to have left So-and-so's column out of the first edition." "That's quite all right," nodded the unperturbed eidtor. "We'll squeeze it into the next edition—next to the reading matter."

A TOURIST in California paused at a motel that advertised "FREE TV." The room clerk demanded, "Do you want the seven-or nine-dollar room?" The tourist asked "What's the difference?" The clerk explained . "The nine-dollar room has the free TV."

Manchester Book Needs To Be Read–With Reservations

WASHINGTON—Just about everybody is going to read—or read about—William Manchester's account of the assassination of John F. Kennedy, "The Death of a President."

It is a useful and welcome book because it adds some new facts and some fresh insight into the sum-total of circumstances of the tragedy in Dallas.

ON THE BASIS of the first installment in Look and the numerous previews offered by those who have read the full manuscript, it seems to me that "The Death of a President" will be most useful and most valuable if it is read with continuous reservation and with final judgment withheld for more knowledge to come.

I think it needs to be understood that the book is not objective or definitive history. It is some of the raw material out of which the three-dimensional truth ultimately may emerge.

There are two compelling reasons why the Manchester book needs to be read sympathetically and with abiding reservation. It is an "authorized" account. It is a book commissioned by Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy and Sen. Robert Kennedy who retained the right to edit the manuscript before publication and exercised that right. Mr. Manchester was selected by the Kennedys after two other writers reportedly had rejected the undertaking because they believed the conditions imposed would impair their independence.

THIS IS WHY "The Death of a President," though completely honest from Mr. Manchester's viewpoint, is a point-of-view account whose value rests on understanding this fact.

Secondly, in his first installment in Look, Mr. Manchester affirms that he is "speculating" at different points but contends that "legitimate speculation is one of the duties of historians." And so it is, but before you have read very far it seems evident, to me at least, that speculation soon becomes assertion and assertion becomes apparent fact and it is hard to tell where the two separate. Mr. Manchester speculates enough about the political rivalry among Governor John Connally, Senator Ralph Yarborough, Vice President Johnson, and President Kennedy as to make Connally look bad, Johnson look futile, and everybody else look good.

In recapturing the atmosphere of political hatred toward President Kennedy in Dallas, Manchester speculates about the effect of this ferment on Oswald.

HE REPORTS from Mr. Kennedy's viewpoint on the night-before-the - assassination tension between the President and Vice President Johnson in their hotel room meeting.

And, most speculative of all in the first installment, Mr. Manchester assumes to pinpoint the occasion and the minute when Oswald finally lost his reason and asserts that after Marina Oswald's dismissal of her husband on the evening of Nov. 21 "the total eclipse of his reason occurred shortly before 9 p.m."

I can't say it isn't true, but it is certainly unproved. Apparently it is the kind of "legitimate speculation" which Manchester deems the "duty" of historians and it shows how constantly the reader must protect himself from speculation clothed like fact and from one-sidedness.

It is announced that in the next installment Manchester will reveal "the beginning of the deep division between the Kennedy loyalists and the realists, who offered to help the new President."

The tourism growth rate is expected to be even lower this year (1966) than last, when it plunged from 23 per cent in 1964 to 12 per cent.

"Between 1957 and 1965, tourists skyrocketed with a 927 per cent increase in eight years. Other countries watched enviously. But the boom is over.

THERE ARE varying reasons for the drop—not the least of them the frenetic operations of the vast hordes of Red Guards. Should the fanatical Red Guards just over the border decide to move in, without Mao's consent, he could do nothing but go along with them."

The China Mail calls for a large increase in advertising and promotion by the Hong Kong Tourist Assn. According to the paper, this government agency is spending only "[illegible] per tourist, while in comparison, Lebanon spends $31, Japan $40, Jamaica $45 and the Bahamas $35."

U.S. economists stationed in Hong Kong view as highly exaggerated the claims of Peking's New China News Agency of the harvesting of the biggest grain and cotton crops in the country's history.

THE LARGEST grain harvest previously claimed was 270 million tons in 1959 at the height of the subsequently disastrous "Great Leap Forward." Later Peking indirectly admitted this claim was phony.

The U.S. experts are pointing out that weather conditions for farming in China last year were generally unfavorable.

Red China is continuing to buy large quantities of grain from Canada and Australia. Obviously, if claims of a bumper crop were true, Peking wouldn't be spending its extremely scarce "hard" currency for Western wheat and rice.

INCREASINGLY beleaguered President Sukarno will "resign." The one-time all-powerful pro-Communist Indonesian leader will be forced to quit by steadily intensifying public clamor, and the insistence of Western creditors that the ruling generals get rid of him to ensure the stability of the stringent measures needed to revive the country's economy . . .

Refreshing Candor Of Ike Livermore Hailed

Norman B. (Ike) Livermore Jr. of San Rafael, newly appointed administrator of the State Resources Agency, may turn out to be a controversial figure.

Certainly, he is not the classic politician who is a master at sidestepping and smoothing ruffled feathers. His first press conference in Sacramento served notice that here was a state official who would call a spade a spade and let the chips fall where they may.

His acquaintances in Marin know Ike as a totally honest and non-political individual. At his opening press conference, he led off with criticism of a Redwood National Park proposal by the Sierra Club, of which he is a member. He is also a member of the Wilderness Society and the Marin Conservation League.

On another day, Livermore is just as likely to sound off against one of his colleagues in the lumber industry. He is an executive with Pacific Lumber Co.

In other words, Livermore is the type of person who would not allow personal friendships cr organizational affiliations color his thinking. Conscience is his guide. He truly calls them as he sees them.

Both State Sen. John F. (Jack) McCarthy and Assemblyman William T. Bagley of Marin, who are personal friends of Ike Livermore, hailed the appointment as a boon for the entire state.

"Ike's integrity and his broad knowledge in both conservation and in industry equip him to deal with both segments fairly and with understanding," said Senator McCarthy. "It was a superior appointment by Governor Reagan."

Assemblyman Bagley called the choice "the greatest appointment to date" by the Governor. "Ike's long family heritage in conservation and his knowledge and experience in industry will provide a happy balance between the industries concerned and the conservationists.

"The appointment epitomizes Governor Reagan's announced intention to bring into state government top people in the private sector," Bagley noted. "I am sure this is a major sacrifice for Ike to come into government. He is taking on a can of worms almost gratuitously."

We have respected the refreshing candor, directness and plain talk of Ike Livermore. The remarks he made at the opening press conference are in keeping with his nature of facing problems exactly as they are and refusing to gloss over the unpleasant for the sake of expediency.

By his appointment of Ike Livermore, Governor Reagan has brought refreshing candor and directness into the top level of state government.

This deserves to be appreciated by the general (non-special interest) public.

The Pleasing Fragrance Of Loquat

Not many Marin trees bloom in early January. An exception is the loquat. This small tree, with its large, long, rather narrow leaves, is spreading the fragrance of its small blossoms in the damp January chill. And it is a very pleasing fragrance, carrying some distance.

Later in the year, the trees will bear the exotic loquat fruit, and unusual and intriguing taste treat.

Gov. Reagan's Economy Move Reaches Down To Clerical Level

By WAT TAKESHITA

Takeshita

THE REAGAN Administration's economy edict in Sacramento is sending repercussions all the way down to the level of secretaries and clerks.

You can sense it in the general tenseness among most of the employees as each department marks time to see (1) what's going to happen in the way of staff cuts and/or changes and (2) what's going to happen to departmental programs if the administration should lop off budget requests.

The State Consumer Counsel's Office around the corner from the Governor's office was in a state of gloom. They were expecting the office to be wiped out. Must have been a pleasant surprise to see a new consumer counsel appointed, even temporarily.

IN OTHER departments, the atmosphere is one of "watchful waiting." The general feeling is that the operation of existing programs will be allowed, but that many of the capital improvement projects outlined for the coming fiscal year may be cut back.

For example, take parks and recreation. In the department's budget proposal, there is no doubt some provision for capital improvements (picnic and other tourist facilities) on Angel Island. Under the Governor's "hold the line" objective, it's quite possible that further improvements may be halted.

Governor Reagan is not merely giving lip-service to government economy. Here's a letterhead from the Department of Mental Hygiene, with the printed name "Edmund G. Brown" crossed out and the name "Ronald Reagan" typed in its place. Apparently, there is going to be no waste in old letterheads.

WE'VE FINALLY pinned down the correct pronunciation of the Governor's name. It's Ray-gun, not Ree-gun. That's straight from the Governor's office.

Some of the "new faces" in the State Capitol are familiar, friendly ones imported directly from Marin. In the top echelon of Governor Reagan's staff, we have Tom Reed of Ross as appointments secretary, Ike Livermore of San Rafael as administrator of the State Resources Agency, and Nancy Clark Reynolds of Sleepy Hollow as assistant press secretary. Pretty good showing for a small county like Marin.

BOTH OF MARIN'S representatives have expanded staffs. Senate Minority Leader Jack McCarthy has a new field director, Mike Kahl of Novato, because of expansion in the Fourth Senatorial District (to include Napa and Solano). Assemblyman William T. Bagley could very well get an expanded office, in addition to personnel. Rumors are that Bagley may be in line for chairmanship of a major Assembly committee—maybe the Judiciary Committee.

MARIN FEDERATED Republican Women will hold its luncheon meeting next Tuesday (Jan. 17) at Villa Rafael, 1606 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael. President Betty Williams says she'll have Chuck Michals, new chairman of the County Republican Central Committee, as luncheon speaker.

David R. Ring, Tiburon attorney and engineer, is making a determined bid for a post on the Tam High District board in the April 18 election. He's got fellow lawyer Hank Broderick to serve as campaign chairman.

Ring is an advocate of smaller unification as opposed to the unification of the entire Tam High District.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Marin citizens can take pride in the important influence which the Marin Medical Society through the Marin Interagency Council on Cigarette Smoking exerted in helping to pass the resolution of the California Medical Assn. urging its 23,000 member physicians to quit smoking and to advise their patients to do likewise.

Beginning five years ago with a smoking education program which was offered to the local schools, the Medical Society joined forces with the local Cancer, Heart, TB and Health agencies plus the Health Dept. and the county schools to form the Interagency Council. Our counterpart of the California and National Interagency Councils has been continually updating and expanding its programs available to the community.

Two years ago the Marin Medical Society used its available funds to make the first satirical smoking film. The lead article in the Wall Street Journal for Jan. 9, refers to our film in its national article captioned "Anti-Smoking Drive Seems to Make Gains, Worries Tobacco Firms." In describing the U. S. Public Health Service "community laboratory" in Syracuse, N. Y., reference is made of a program for 900 junior high school students in which was introduced " . . . a 17-minute satirical movie called Too Tough To Care. The movie is about the president of a mythical tobacco company, maker of Finster cigarettes, who demands that his advertising man dream up a new sales pitch. The slogan: 'The Finster Man is Too Tough to Care.' . . . After the film, teachers dressed in forbidding costumes enacted a skit featuring such performers as Mr. Death, Heart Disease, Emphysema, and Tuberculosis. The climax came when two students decide smoking is a 'crummy habit' and ask advice on how to stop. . . ."

Because of this success and the need for a film suitable for elementary school children, the Marin Medical Society has decided to proceed with the making of another film.

It is ironic that Marin County smoking education efforts are better known and requested outside our community than within it. It is becoming increasingly clear that anti-smoking programs the country over are successful in relation to the vigor with which they are carried out.

Tuition Proposal Held Prejudicial

Editor, Independent-Journal:

In attempting to raise tuition at state colleges and universities to exorbitant levels, Governor Reagan is making clear his social and ethnic prejudices. It hardly requires an advanced degree in sociology to determine what portion of the population Mr. Reagan is "punishing." This is prejudice at its most brutal and effective — at an economic level.

To pretend that there will be sufficient scholarships available to accommodate the sizable number of college and university students disenfranchised by Mr. Reagan's plan is hypocrisy at its most blatant.

If Governor Reagan is successful, he will be allowed to subvert the very purpose for which the state colleges and universities were set up: to guarantee equal opportunity for higher education to all Californians.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

OUT IN New zealand, the faces of one local fire brigade are as red as their suspenders. The entire brigade was frolicking at a town fair when a building only two blocks away suddenly caught fire. The boys unhesitatingly raced over to the scene of the conflagration—but found when they got there they they had neglected to bring one reasonably important item: the fire engine. They rushed back to headquarters to retrieve it. Alas! By the time the brave lads returned with it, the buliding had burned to the ground.

NEWSHAWK DICK Tobin tells about the editor of a metropolitan newspaper who took a dim view of a humorous, tasteless gossip column that the owners made him run. One evening he was told, "Hey, Eddie, they seem to have left So-and-so's column out of the first edition." "That's quite all right," nodded the unperturbed eidtor. "We'll squeeze it into the next edition—next to the reading matter."

Manchester Book Needs To Be Read–With Reservations

WASHINGTON—Just about everybody is going to read—or read about—William Manchester's account of the assassination of John F. Kennedy, "The Death of a President."

It is a useful and welcome book because it adds some new facts and some fresh insight into the sum-total of circumstances of the tragedy in Dallas.

ON THE BASIS of the first installment in Look and the numerous previews offered by those who have read the full manuscript, it seems to me that "The Death of a President" will be most useful and most valuable if it is read with continuous reservation and with final judgment withheld for more knowledge to come.

I think it needs to be understood that the book is not objective or definitive history. It is some of the raw material out of which the three-dimensional truth ultimately may emerge.

There are two compelling reasons why the Manchester book needs to be read sympathetically and with abiding reservation. It is an "authorized" account. It is a book commissioned by Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy and Sen. Robert Kennedy who retained the right to edit the manuscript before publication and exercised that right. Mr. Manchester was selected by the Kennedys after two other writers reportedly had rejected the undertaking because they believed the conditions imposed would impair their independence.

THIS IS WHY "The Death of a President," though completely honest from Mr. Manchester's viewpoint, is a point-of-view account whose value rests on understanding this fact.

Secondly, in his first installment in Look, Mr. Manchester affirms that he is "speculating" at different points but contends that "legitimate speculation is one of the duties of historians." And so it is, but before you have read very far it seems evident, to me at least, that speculation soon becomes assertion and assertion becomes apparent fact and it is hard to tell where the two separate. Mr. Manchester speculates enough about the political rivalry among Governor John Connally, Senator Ralph Yarborough, Vice President Johnson, and President Kennedy as to make Connally look bad, Johnson look futile, and everybody else look good.

Sausalito Trustees Offered Building Plan At A Profit, Yet

Sausalito School District architects came up with a plan this week to provide a new school plant for all pupils in the district at a profit of $230,000. That's right new facilities for 1,500 kindergarten through eighth grade pupils could be built at a profit, they figured.

THE PROFIT would result, that is, if all classrooms were consolidated on the Manzanita School site in Marin City. The architects, Weisbach, Boutmy and Silver, did not assume consolidation was desirable — they were directed by the board of trustees to study the cost of consolidation on one or more of the present sites, except for Central School, which is to be sold.

According to their estimates, the project would cost $2,870,300 at Manzanita, including purchase of nine of 32 adjacent acres owned by Tamalpais High School District. Sale value of the other school sites has been estimated at $3.1 million, thus producing the profit.

THE CATCH is that the present tight money market either may lower the value of the sites or prevent their sale. Without sal, the district would have neither a profit nor a new school plant — without a big bond issue.

Construction of a new plant at Bayside would cost $2,623,600, the architects estimated. Value of other sites was figured at $2,55,000. Thus, development of Bayside would cost $68,600.

Most expensive of the three sites to develop would be Richardson Bay, the architects said. A completely new plant would cost $3,525,100, they estimated. With value of other sites at $1,365,000, the cost to the district would be $2,160,100.

The district's finance committee will meet Monday at 8 p.m. in the district office to consider financing a biulding program — and realistic estimates of revenues that could be expected from sale of school sites.

FIELD TRIPS to San Francisco for pupils in Mill Valley School District were suggested this week by Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Copperman to "expose the many facets of the city." They suggested trips to the financial district, downtown, museums, zoo and shipyards. "It is very possible for our children to miss one aspect of our cultural heritage — the city," they wrote.

Certainly the proposal is a good one, but it is surprising to realize how little exposure suburban children get to the city. To them, it's just a place Daddy works and Mommy occasionally shops.

ANOTHER LETTER to the trustees was from Robbie Sarkaria, fourth grade pupil at Homestead School. Thanking the board for ordering a second portable classroom so her class would not have to continue double sessions, Robbie wrote: There are two things I would miss very much. These two things are: Hotdog day and library period.

"I would miss the latter because I like the librarian and I am what you would call a book-worm."

MILL VALLEY SCHOOL district trustees still are shooting for a $3 million bond election in June — despite opposition from all architects interviewed to plan a district building program.

Further complicating plans for the bond issue, of which $2 million would be for a "middle school" on Camino Alto, are doubts by some city councilmen about joint development by the city and district of the Project 17 area for the school and recreation facilities. "The middle school appears to be retreating," according to a prediction this week by Nan Hepp, co-chairman of Parents Assn. for Neighborhood Schools.

SEEING A delay of a bond election to November, she wrote in her "report card" to association members that "an architect who can raise a middle school out of this muddy muddle will indeed be a miracle worker.

Where Only The Commercials Are Kind: Insult Interviews

WASHINGTON—Every time you think television has hit its lowest ebb, a new type of program comes along to make you wonder where you thought the ebb was. The latest in TV wrinkles is what could be termed the "Insult Interview Show" in which the interviewer spends two or three hours insulting his guests. Joe Pyne is probably the master of this type of program though, unfortunately, he now has many imitators.

If you're lucky to live in a place that doesn't carry a show of this kind, they all go something like this:

INTERVIEWER: "Our next guest on Couth Wants To Know is Professor Kowowski. What do you do, Professor?"

PROFESSOR: "I am making a study of the world population explosion."

INTERVIEWER: "Well, that's the stupidest thing I've ever heard of. How did you ever get to be a professor?"

PROFESSOR: "I studied at Harvard, MIT and did research work at Stanford."

INTERVIEWER: "We've had lots of nuts on this show, but you take the cake. Tell us about the world population explosion."

PROFESSOR: "It is getting very serious. There will probably be a terrible crisis by 1990 which should wreak havoc on all of mankind."

INTERVIEWER: "You sound like a Pinko to me. Who gives you money for your research—the Soviet Union?"

PROFESSOR: "May I continue?"

INTERVIEWER: "Sure. We may not get a kook like you again."

PROFESSOR: "The main problem is that the populationis increasing at a much faster rate than our food production."

INTERVIEWER: "Well, what about all those nutty kids at Berkeley?"

PROFESSOR: "I beg your pardon?"

INTERVIEWER: "You're a professor. Why can't you keep those nutty kids on the campuses in line?"

PROFESSOR: "I'm not interested in that proble."

INTERVIEWER: "Of course you're not. You're so wrapped up in your miserable statistics you don't even know what's going on in the world. You know what I would do if I was a professor and the kids got out of line?"

PROFESSOR: "What?"

INTERVIEWER: "I'd shoot them. I carry a gun with me at all times, and if I found a kid who gave me a bad time I'd just take out the gun and put one right between his eyes. You want to see my gun?"

PROFESSOR: "Not particularly."

INTERVIEWER: "Well, here it is. It's a .38 revolver, and I don't mind telling you they better not mess with me."

PROFESSOR: "I thought we were going to discuss the population explosion."

INTERVIEWER: "You eggheads give me a pain. I don't care about the population explosion and I don't think anybody watching this show cares. I'm sorry we even asked you on the show."

PROFESSOR: "Well, I'll be happy to leave."

INTERVIEWER (picking up the gun): "Not before the commercial break. What do you feel is the solution to the population explosion?"

PROFESSOR: "Strong birth control measures."

INTERVIEWER: "Don't you have any shame?"

PROFESSOR: "What do you mean by that?"

INTERVIEWER: "You mentioned the words 'birth control' on a family show. I've got a good mind to pop you in the nose, but we have to pause for a commercial. Stay tuned, folks, to this informative, thought-provoking show that is not afraid to deal with controversial subjects and let the chips fall where they may."

COUNTY COMMENT

By WILLIAM D. (BILL) FUSSELMAN

Economic Development Office Report Gets More Criticism

Fusselman

While reading and evaluating the report addressed to the board of supervisors by Mr. John M. Douglas, director of the department of economic development, in which he attempts to justify his salary of $15,600 and a total budget of $24,632 for the year just passed, more and more one is impressed with the effort to obscure the fact that "this trip isn't necessary."

The creation of this department (?) by the administrator and elements of the board was as unnecessary as the proverbial extra thumb. It was superimposed on the efforts and work of people with experience in the field, which the gentleman simply doesn't have. Following from where the cut off occurred last week is this—

"3. Experimentil and developmental industry. I think 'mariculture' or farming of the sea is an example." Does this mean fishing? Or oyster planting or inducing the crabs to be good guys and come back home where they belong? It certainly isn't clear just what he does mean because further on where he elaborates on the several categories he says respecting this (3) "The cultural activities of the county should be stimulated wherever possible and I mean stimulated, not encouraged to relax into dull dependency" (Just what does this have to do with "mariculture or farming of the sea"?)

"4. Development of facilities to utilize the great wealth of highly skilled medical talent existent within the county." (What is meant here — hospitals? Certainly it wasn't necessary to spend time and money to be told this. It is common knowledge there is a bed shortage across the nation as well as nurse shortage. Ross Hospital and Marin General are working at this and the San Rafael General group is making every effort in that direction. The Kaiser people have taken over the Lucas Valley one and no doubt Novato is alert to extending its coverage.

"5. Distribution centers developed in industrial parks that are neat and orderly and attractive" It is not clear whether he means private or governmental construction.

"6. University based commercial growth that follows and is part of a large general campus."

UNDER THE HEADING — "The necessary basis to accomplish these ends:" he goes on to number them "(1), (2), (3), (4)" and so on. For what is listed above re: University based commercial growth this is said: "(4) The plans for the fair grounds development to be broad enough to consider dog and horse shows as commercially profitable activities." You figure this one out.

AT ONE POINT this paragraph appears: "These are long term objectives, but must be approached with an unswerving sense of direction. (More rhetoric.) The Civic Center complex when ultimately developed in its entirety must become the county's number one park and show place. Point Reyes National Seashore is already a great source of interest to thousands and will grow. Between the Civic Center and Point Reyes is a vast area that can and should be the target of those "people oriented" activities. . . ."

I wonder if he has ever heard of the MMWP's lakes and the fishing there — or Samuel Taylor Park — or Tomales Bay Parks — or Stinson Beach and Bolinas? Not to mention the dairy industry in the area.

This whole set up is just an effort to grab more and ever more controls in the tight little fists of the administrator group. They simply haven't the background nor experience for such a spread and the cost is ever mounting.

SOME PLACE along the line you folks will have to demand a halt.

Smith To Head Municipal Court

Judge Peter Allen Smith will be presiding judge of Marin Municipal Court for 1967, it was announced today.

Judge Smith said assignments for hearing traffic cases, criminal calendar, and criminal and civil jury and non-jury cases will be rotated equally among Judges Hadden W. Roth and Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. and himself.

He said civil actions, are reaching trial within three months of request for trial.

Republican Women To Hear Michals

Charles Michals of Greenbrae, new chairman of the Marin County Republican Central Committee, will be luncheon speaker Tuesday noon at a meeting of the Marin Federated Republican Women at Villa Rafael in San Rafael.

President Betty Williams announced Michals will discuss Marin Republican party plans for 1967.

Grand Jury Asks School Aid Shift

Condenming the present reimbursement system for inmate education at San Quentin prison as "an unfair imposition of state responsibilities upon local property taxpayers," the Marin County Grand Jury has urged the Legislature to amend the penal code "to rectify this continuing inequity."

The code requires the Department of Corrections to reimburse the county schools for their adult education program at the prison on a cost basis, but the grand jury resolution says the laws "do not provide adequate reimbursement to the county and result in the unfair imposition of state responsibilities upon local property taxpayers."

The jury urged that the laws be amended to provide more state aid to the prison education program.

Library Lawn Getting Sprinkler Installed

The lawn in front of the San Rafael City Library on Fifth Avenue will be torn up a few more days, according to librarian Vivian Smith, while city crews lay an underground sprinkling system.

Cost of materials for the system, which will also include a drinking fountain, is about $700, according to Mrs. Smith.

Sausalito Trustees Offered Building Plan At A Profit, Yet

Sausalito School District architects came up with a plan this week to provide a new school plant for all pupils in the district at a profit of $230,000. That's right new facilities for 1,500 kindergarten through eighth grade pupils could be built at a profit, they figured.

THE PROFIT would result, that is, if all classrooms were consolidated on the Manzanita School site in Marin City. The architects, Weisbach, Boutmy and Silver, did not assume consolidation was desirable — they were directed by the board of trustees to study the cost of consolidation on one or more of the present sites, except for Central School, which is to be sold.

According to their estimates, the project would cost $2,870,300 at Manzanita, including purchase of nine of 32 adjacent acres owned by Tamalpais High School District. Sale value of the other school sites has been estimated at $3.1 million, thus producing the profit.

THE CATCH is that the present tight money market either may lower the value of the sites or prevent their sale. Without sal, the district would have neither a profit nor a new school plant — without a big bond issue.

Construction of a new plant at Bayside would cost $2,623,600, the architects estimated. Value of other sites was figured at $2,55,000. Thus, development of Bayside would cost $68,600.

Most expensive of the three sites to develop would be Richardson Bay, the architects said. A completely new plant would cost $3,525,100, they estimated. With value of other sites at $1,365,000, the cost to the district would be $2,160,100.

The district's finance committee will meet Monday at 8 p.m. in the district office to consider financing a biulding program — and realistic estimates of revenues that could be expected from sale of school sites.

FIELD TRIPS to San Francisco for pupils in Mill Valley School District were suggested this week by Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Copperman to "expose the many facets of the city." They suggested trips to the financial district, downtown, museums, zoo and shipyards. "It is very possible for our children to miss one aspect of our cultural heritage — the city," they wrote.

Certainly the proposal is a good one, but it is surprising to realize how little exposure suburban children get to the city. To them, it's just a place Daddy works and Mommy occasionally shops.

ANOTHER LETTER to the trustees was from Robbie Sarkaria, fourth grade pupil at Homestead School. Thanking the board for ordering a second portable classroom so her class would not have to continue double sessions, Robbie wrote: There are two things I would miss very much. These two things are: Hotdog day and library period.

"I would miss the latter because I like the librarian and I am what you would call a book-worm."

MILL VALLEY SCHOOL district trustees still are shooting for a $3 million bond election in June — despite opposition from all architects interviewed to plan a district building program.

Further complicating plans for the bond issue, of which $2 million would be for a "middle school" on Camino Alto, are doubts by some city councilmen about joint development by the city and district of the Project 17 area for the school and recreation facilities. "The middle school appears to be retreating," according to a prediction this week by Nan Hepp, co-chairman of Parents Assn. for Neighborhood Schools.

SEEING A delay of a bond election to November, she wrote in her "report card" to association members that "an architect who can raise a middle school out of this muddy muddle will indeed be a miracle worker.

Where Only The Commercials Are Kind: Insult Interviews

WASHINGTON—Every time you think television has hit its lowest ebb, a new type of program comes along to make you wonder where you thought the ebb was. The latest in TV wrinkles is what could be termed the "Insult Interview Show" in which the interviewer spends two or three hours insulting his guests. Joe Pyne is probably the master of this type of program though, unfortunately, he now has many imitators.

If you're lucky to live in a place that doesn't carry a show of this kind, they all go something like this:

INTERVIEWER: "Our next guest on Couth Wants To Know is Professor Kowowski. What do you do, Professor?"

PROFESSOR: "I am making a study of the world population explosion."

INTERVIEWER: "Well, that's the stupidest thing I've ever heard of. How did you ever get to be a professor?"

PROFESSOR: "I studied at Harvard, MIT and did research work at Stanford."

INTERVIEWER: "We've had lots of nuts on this show, but you take the cake. Tell us about the world population explosion."

PROFESSOR: "It is getting very serious. There will probably be a terrible crisis by 1990 which should wreak havoc on all of mankind."

INTERVIEWER: "You sound like a Pinko to me. Who gives you money for your research—the Soviet Union?"

PROFESSOR: "May I continue?"

INTERVIEWER: "Sure. We may not get a kook like you again."

PROFESSOR: "The main problem is that the populationis increasing at a much faster rate than our food production."

INTERVIEWER: "Well, what about all those nutty kids at Berkeley?"

PROFESSOR: "I beg your pardon?"

PROFESSOR: "I'm not interested in that proble."

INTERVIEWER: "Of course you're not. You're so wrapped up in your miserable statistics you don't even know what's going on in the world. You know what I would do if I was a professor and the kids got out of line?"

PROFESSOR: "What?"

INTERVIEWER: "I'd shoot them. I carry a gun with me at all times, and if I found a kid who gave me a bad time I'd just take out the gun and put one right between his eyes. You want to see my gun?"

PROFESSOR: "Not particularly."

INTERVIEWER: "Well, here it is. It's a .38 revolver, and I don't mind telling you they better not mess with me."

PROFESSOR: "I thought we were going to discuss the population explosion."

INTERVIEWER: "You eggheads give me a pain. I don't care about the population explosion and I don't think anybody watching this show cares. I'm sorry we even asked you on the show."

PROFESSOR: "Well, I'll be happy to leave."

INTERVIEWER (picking up the gun): "Not before the commercial break. What do you feel is the solution to the population explosion?"

PROFESSOR: "Strong birth control measures."

INTERVIEWER: "Don't you have any shame?"

PROFESSOR: "What do you mean by that?"

INTERVIEWER: "You mentioned the words 'birth control' on a family show. I've got a good mind to pop you in the nose, but we have to pause for a commercial. Stay tuned, folks, to this informative, thought-provoking show that is not afraid to deal with controversial subjects and let the chips fall where they may."

COUNTY COMMENT

By WILLIAM D. (BILL) FUSSELMAN

Economic Development Office Report Gets More Criticism

Fusselman

While reading and evaluating the report addressed to the board of supervisors by Mr. John M. Douglas, director of the department of economic development, in which he attempts to justify his salary of $15,600 and a total budget of $24,632 for the year just passed, more and more one is impressed with the effort to obscure the fact that "this trip isn't necessary."

The creation of this department (?) by the administrator and elements of the board was as unnecessary as the proverbial extra thumb. It was superimposed on the efforts and work of people with experience in the field, which the gentleman simply doesn't have. Following from where the cut off occurred last week is this—

"3. Experimentil and developmental industry. I think 'mariculture' or farming of the sea is an example." Does this mean fishing? Or oyster planting or inducing the crabs to be good guys and come back home where they belong? It certainly isn't clear just what he does mean because further on where he elaborates on the several categories he says respecting this (3) "The cultural activities of the county should be stimulated wherever possible and I mean stimulated, not encouraged to relax into dull dependency" (Just what does this have to do with "mariculture or farming of the sea"?)

"4. Development of facilities to utilize the great wealth of highly skilled medical talent existent within the county." (What is meant here — hospitals? Certainly it wasn't necessary to spend time and money to be told this. It is common knowledge there is a bed shortage across the nation as well as nurse shortage. Ross Hospital and Marin General are working at this and the San Rafael General group is making every effort in that direction. The Kaiser people have taken over the Lucas Valley one and no doubt Novato is alert to extending its coverage.

"5. Distribution centers developed in industrial parks that are neat and orderly and attractive" It is not clear whether he means private or governmental construction.

UNDER THE HEADING — "The necessary basis to accomplish these ends:" he goes on to number them "(1), (2), (3), (4)" and so on. For what is listed above re: University based commercial growth this is said: "(4) The plans for the fair grounds development to be broad enough to consider dog and horse shows as commercially profitable activities." You figure this one out.

AT ONE POINT this paragraph appears: "These are long term objectives, but must be approached with an unswerving sense of direction. (More rhetoric.) The Civic Center complex when ultimately developed in its entirety must become the county's number one park and show place. Point Reyes National Seashore is already a great source of interest to thousands and will grow. Between the Civic Center and Point Reyes is a vast area that can and should be the target of those "people oriented" activities. . . ."

I wonder if he has ever heard of the MMWP's lakes and the fishing there — or Samuel Taylor Park — or Tomales Bay Parks — or Stinson Beach and Bolinas? Not to mention the dairy industry in the area.

This whole set up is just an effort to grab more and ever more controls in the tight little fists of the administrator group. They simply haven't the background nor experience for such a spread and the cost is ever mounting.

SOME PLACE along the line you folks will have to demand a halt.

New Booklet's Checklist Can Avoid Bid Understandings

Before you play in a tournament with a new partner you should discuss all sorts of bids and plays to avoid misunderstandings.

Otherwist you might pass your partner when he has bid a void suit under the impression that his bid was forcing.

You might even have some sort of problem at rubber bridge.

EAST IN TROUBLE

West leads the nine of hearts, and East wins with the king.

South drops the jack, and East has a problem.

In most partnerships it is entirely possible that West has led his highest heart from 9-7-5-3 of hearts. If so, East cannot afford to lead another heart.

The problem may be delayed if South drops the seven of hearts at the first trick and then the jack of hearts on East's ace. East must then guess who has the missing three of hearts.

EXPERT SOLUTION

Most of the leading experts (but very few average players) solve this problem by agreeing to lead the lowest card from a holding of three small cards in partner's bid suit.

For extmple, West would lead the three of hearts if he held 9-5-3.

The advantage of this agreement is that when West leads the nine of hearts he must have either a singleton or a doubleton in hearts. If he had three or more hearts, he would have led a low card.

East can comfortably take his top hearts and lead a third heart for West to ruff.

East is comfortable only if he has discussed leads with his partner of the moment.

A discussion with some other partner doesn't help.

If you are sometimes bothered by such problems, you might try sitting down with your various partners and the Walsh booklet to remind you of all the items you should check off.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with 1 notrump (16 to 18 points), and the next player passes.

You hold:

♠ K 10 8 4
♥ Q 8 2
♦ K 6 5 3
♣ Q 5

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two clubs, the Stayman Convention.

This asks partner to bid a major suit of he can. If partner bids anything else, you will go to three notrump.

ALMANAC

Today is Friday, Jan. 13, the 13th day of 1967 with 352 to follow.

the moon is between the new and first quarter stages; the morning stars are Mars and Jupiter; the evening stars are Saturn, Jupiter and Venus.

American author Horatio Alger was born on this day in 1834.

On this day in history:

In 1966, President Johnson named the first Negro in history to a cabinet position. Robert Weaver was named secretary of the new Housing and Urban Development Department.

A thought for the day—American humorist Mark Twain said; "work consists of whatever a body is obliged to do—play consists of whatever a body is not obliged to do."

ALMANAC

Today is Friday, Jan. 13, the 13th day of 1967 with 352 to follow.

the moon is between the new and first quarter stages; the morning stars are Mars and Jupiter; the evening stars are Saturn, Jupiter and Venus.

American author Horatio Alger was born on this day in 1834.

On this day in history:

In 1966, President Johnson named the first Negro in history to a cabinet position. Robert Weaver was named secretary of the new Housing and Urban Development Department.

A thought for the day—American humorist Mark Twain said; "work consists of whatever a body is obliged to do—play consists of whatever a body is not obliged to do."

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

New Booklet's Checklist Can Avoid Bid Understandings

Before you play in a tournament with a new partner you should discuss all sorts of bids and plays to avoid misunderstandings.

Otherwist you might pass your partner when he has bid a void suit under the impression that his bid was forcing.

You might even have some sort of problem at rubber bridge.

EAST IN TROUBLE

West leads the nine of hearts, and East wins with the king.

South drops the jack, and East has a problem.

In most partnerships it is entirely possible that West has led his highest heart from 9-7-5-3 of hearts. If so, East cannot afford to lead another heart.

The problem may be delayed if South drops the seven of hearts at the first trick and then the jack of hearts on East's ace. East must then guess who has the missing three of hearts.

EXPERT SOLUTION

Most of the leading experts (but very few average players) solve this problem by agreeing to lead the lowest card from a holding of three small cards in partner's bid suit.

For extmple, West would lead the three of hearts if he held 9-5-3.

The advantage of this agreement is that when West leads the nine of hearts he must have either a singleton or a doubleton in hearts. If he had three or more hearts, he would have led a low card.

East can comfortably take his top hearts and lead a third heart for West to ruff.

East is comfortable only if he has discussed leads with his partner of the moment.

A discussion with some other partner doesn't help.

If you are sometimes bothered by such problems, you might try sitting down with your various partners and the Walsh booklet to remind you of all the items you should check off.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with 1 notrump (16 to 18 points), and the next player passes.

You hold:

♠ K 10 8 4
♥ Q 8 2
♦ K 6 5 3
♣ Q 5

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two clubs, the Stayman Convention.

This asks partner to bid a major suit of he can. If partner bids anything else, you will go to three notrump.

LEAKING GAS FEEDS INFERNO

Some 20 homes were destroyed this morning as leaking gas exploded in the Jamaica section of Queens, N.Y. A fire truck is among the burning vehicles trapped in the center of the blaze. Residents were evacuated by police before the inferno started, and there were no reported deaths nor major injuries. (See story, page 1).

Retirement Benefits Vs. Vacation Pay

The Main County Retirement Board by 4-3 vote yesterday ruled out in lieu vacation pay in figuring retirement benefits.

Norman J. Taylor, an accountant in the county auditor's office, raised the issue, saying he wanted to retire the end of this month taking payment in lieu of over 30 days of vacation due. Retirement benefits are based on average pay over three employment years of the employee's choice.

Taylor said the vacation pay should be included in the average. Board member Stanley J. Fontez argued strongly against this, and member Ernest N. Kettenhofen declared it would be a "gimmick" to figure vacation pay.

The board split 4-2, with Marion H. Marks abstaining and Kettenhofen and John Bacigalupi dissenting, on computation of benefits for part-time employees. The board agreed that a part time employee should be required to work more than 10 calendar years to qualify for employment, but the majority held credit on benefits must be based on the fractional time worked.

The board agreed to hold a hearing on fireman Kenneth Joseph's request for employment-connected disability pension. Joseph was burned on the neck, face and arms during the Chileno Valley fire Sept. 16, 1965.

An all-plastic house, according to some researchers, may become a reality in a not too distant future.

Busolo Preliminary Hearing Set Jan. 30

I-J Special Report

KINGMAN, Ariz.—Preliminary hearing for Mary Ellen Busolo on a charge of murdering her husband, Lincinio Busolo Jr., has been set for Jan. 30 here.

Busolo, 53-year-old former San Anselmo businessman and civic leader, was shot to death in his home at Lake Havasu City Dec. 19. Mrs. Busolo, who reported the shooting three days later, told a coroner's jury the gun she had intended to use to kill herself accidentally discharged during a quarrel with her husband.

Mrs. Busolo, 43, has been held without bail in the Mojave County Jail since the coroner's jury found she had shot her husband "with malice aforethought." Mrs. Busolo claimed the gun was fired with her husband more than seven feet away. A patheologist testified that Busolo had died of a contact chest wound.

Her preliminary hearing will be held before Justice of the Peace Clyde McCune, who previously ordered her held on the finding of the coroner's jury.

County Atty. Dan Schimmelpfennig said McCune, under Arizona law, can order Mrs. Busolo tried on a simple charge of murder, which includes all degrees, or he may limit the charge to second degree, if he finds insufficient evidence of premeditation.

The penalty for first degree murder in Arizona is death in the gas chamber.

Schimmelpfenning said that since their arrival in Lake Havasu City a little over two years ago, Busolo had been "kind of intermittently employed" by a lumber company, but that most of his time had been devoted to building their new home in the resort city on the Colorado River.

Before moving to Arizona, Busolo operated service stations in San Rafael, Kentfield and San Anselmo. He was a past president of the San Anselmo Lions Club and Chamber of Commerce and a former San Anselmo planning commissioner.

He and Mrs. Busolo had three grown children, one each by previous marriages and one by their own marriage.

Firemen Install New President

Vice Mayor George E. Wickham installed new officers.

Also elected were Harley Carpenter, vice president; David R. Wilson, secretary; Ken Clivio, treasurer, and Al Baudour, sergeant-at-arms. Elected to the board of directors were Edward S. Lewis, Fred Roemer, Roy A. Bernard, Albert A. Marovich and Raymond Modin.

Contact Lenses Fitting Eased

CHICAGO (SS) — More accurate fitting of contact lenses than has been possible in the past is reported through development of a new optical instrument trademarked a Corneoptor.

Just how valuable the new instrument can be was demonstrated by the developers in the case of a man whose eyes were severely burned by exploding acid that virtually destroyed his vision. Other instruments failed to produce a useful corneal measurement, but after obtaining a curve showing a flat spot on the cornea, the Corneoptor made it possible to fit the proper contact lens to restore the patient's vision. A contour-slit image of the cornea is recorded on an off-axis Polaroid camera. Camera focus is coupled with the instrument. The brilliant flash of the xenon lamp lasts only a millisecond, causing no discomfort.

The corneagram, developed through research at the Columbus, Ohio, laboratories of Battelle Memorial Institute in collaboration with Joseph L. Bitonte and Dr. Richard Keates of the Ohio State University College of Medicine, produces an accurate picture of the corneal profile in an instant.

Rights Board Seeks Police, Cities Unity

The Marin County Human Rights Commission, concerned about the shooting of a juvenile car theft suspect in Marin City Tuesday, asked last night for policy on police and community relations that could be followed by police in Marin.

Commission executive officer Robert Brauer said the matter was referred to the police-community relations committee.

Brauer reported he could find no basis to support a complaint by a Negro laborer who said he was dismissed from work on the Hall of Justice due to discrimination. The commission will ask the Robert E. McKee Construction Co. to keep better records on employment.

The Marin County Human Rights Commission also:

1. Learned that the California Department of Employment will continue its program of holding job interviews in Marin City one day a week.

2. Learned that Brauer will continue to meet with representatives of the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce on hiring of minorities in downtown stores and offices.

3. Appointed Walter Belden to head the commission's education committee.

5. Adjourned until 8 p.m., Feb. 9, at Novato City Hall.

Navy Selects Its Top Sailor

SAN DIEGO (AP)—A 26-year veteran from Orr, Okla., was named today as the Navy's top enlisted man.

The first "senior enlisted advisor" is Delbert D. Black, 44, whose mission will be to counsel the chief of naval personnel in Washington on enlisted men's problems and policies. He will receive about $11,083 a year as the Navy's counterpart to sergeants major of the Army and Marine Corps.

Summer School Set In Larkspur District

The Larkspur School District board last night decided to have a five-week summer school at Neil Cummins School and appointed Alfred Kerr, Larkspur-Corte Madera School vice principal, as summer school principal.

The summer session will start a week after the regular school term ends in June.

The board agreed to continue to lease a classroom at Neil Cummins School to the Marin County schools office for special education classes for $1,200 a year.

The board learned that all district teachers will attend a teacher institute at the College of Marin Jan. 27, so schools will be closed that day.

The board heard a report on the role of district vice principals, who teach half a day and act as curriculum consultants.

Expenses for one board member to attend a National School Boards Conference in Portland, Ore., in April were authorized, but no member was designated.

Increases In Apartments Are Forecast

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Bart Lytton, executive officer of Lytton Financial Corp., expects an increase in building jobs in California, but not in the immediate future.

Lytton, speaking to the American Society of Appraisers in San Francisco, said yesterday that home and apartment house building has been held back as much by a lack of demand as by a lack of funds.

"Late this year, when the public (attitude) changes, there will be a roaring demand," said Lytton. He predicted a sharp rise in construction of apartments.

"We are moving inevitably to a medium to high rise urban residential culture. We have just about reached the limits of urban single family housing," he said.

Youth Corps Aide At Drake High

Sections of the Neighborhood Youth Corps program have provided 10 jobs for low-come students at Sir Francis Drake High School. The federal poverty funds pay the salaries although the program is administered by the county.

Eligible students are paid $1.30 an hour and may work 10-12 hours a week. Jobs involve teacher aiding, office work, campus duties, locker room and shop assistance.

Rate Report Error

The Independent-Journal incorrectly reported Wednesday that Mill Valley Refuse Service last summer asked a rate increase to $2.75 a month from customers in Tamalpais Valley Sanitary District. The company asked a six-year contract, starting at $2.25 a month, increasing to $2.60 after five years.

Heart Fund Volunteers Get Ready

Thomas C. Falvey of Greenbrae, former assistant postmaster at San Rafael Post Office, will serve as campaign chairman of the 1967 Heart Fund Drive in Marin County.

The campaign will be conducted throughout February and will be launched Jan. 25 with a county-wide meeting of town chairmen, area leaders and block captains.

It will reach its climax Feb. 26 when volunteers will call at homes throughout the county to receive contributions.

Falvey, whose home is at 7 Via La Cumbre, has been associated with the Heart Fund for six years. He was an area chairman in 1966, Heart Fund captain in 1965 and a volunteer from 1961 through 1964.

He will be assisted this year by the following area chairmen:

LEAKING GAS FEEDS INFERNO

Some 20 homes were destroyed this morning as leaking gas exploded in the Jamaica section of Queens, N.Y. A fire truck is among the burning vehicles trapped in the center of the blaze. Residents were evacuated by police before the inferno started, and there were no reported deaths nor major injuries. (See story, page 1).

Retirement Benefits Vs. Vacation Pay

The Main County Retirement Board by 4-3 vote yesterday ruled out in lieu vacation pay in figuring retirement benefits.

Norman J. Taylor, an accountant in the county auditor's office, raised the issue, saying he wanted to retire the end of this month taking payment in lieu of over 30 days of vacation due. Retirement benefits are based on average pay over three employment years of the employee's choice.

Taylor said the vacation pay should be included in the average. Board member Stanley J. Fontez argued strongly against this, and member Ernest N. Kettenhofen declared it would be a "gimmick" to figure vacation pay.

The board split 4-2, with Marion H. Marks abstaining and Kettenhofen and John Bacigalupi dissenting, on computation of benefits for part-time employees. The board agreed that a part time employee should be required to work more than 10 calendar years to qualify for employment, but the majority held credit on benefits must be based on the fractional time worked.

The board agreed to hold a hearing on fireman Kenneth Joseph's request for employment-connected disability pension. Joseph was burned on the neck, face and arms during the Chileno Valley fire Sept. 16, 1965.

An all-plastic house, according to some researchers, may become a reality in a not too distant future.

Busolo Preliminary Hearing Set Jan. 30

I-J Special Report

KINGMAN, Ariz.—Preliminary hearing for Mary Ellen Busolo on a charge of murdering her husband, Lincinio Busolo Jr., has been set for Jan. 30 here.

Busolo, 53-year-old former San Anselmo businessman and civic leader, was shot to death in his home at Lake Havasu City Dec. 19. Mrs. Busolo, who reported the shooting three days later, told a coroner's jury the gun she had intended to use to kill herself accidentally discharged during a quarrel with her husband.

Mrs. Busolo, 43, has been held without bail in the Mojave County Jail since the coroner's jury found she had shot her husband "with malice aforethought." Mrs. Busolo claimed the gun was fired with her husband more than seven feet away. A patheologist testified that Busolo had died of a contact chest wound.

Her preliminary hearing will be held before Justice of the Peace Clyde McCune, who previously ordered her held on the finding of the coroner's jury.

County Atty. Dan Schimmelpfennig said McCune, under Arizona law, can order Mrs. Busolo tried on a simple charge of murder, which includes all degrees, or he may limit the charge to second degree, if he finds insufficient evidence of premeditation.

The penalty for first degree murder in Arizona is death in the gas chamber.

Schimmelpfenning said that since their arrival in Lake Havasu City a little over two years ago, Busolo had been "kind of intermittently employed" by a lumber company, but that most of his time had been devoted to building their new home in the resort city on the Colorado River.

Before moving to Arizona, Busolo operated service stations in San Rafael, Kentfield and San Anselmo. He was a past president of the San Anselmo Lions Club and Chamber of Commerce and a former San Anselmo planning commissioner.

He and Mrs. Busolo had three grown children, one each by previous marriages and one by their own marriage.

Firemen Install New President

Vice Mayor George E. Wickham installed new officers.

Also elected were Harley Carpenter, vice president; David R. Wilson, secretary; Ken Clivio, treasurer, and Al Baudour, sergeant-at-arms. Elected to the board of directors were Edward S. Lewis, Fred Roemer, Roy A. Bernard, Albert A. Marovich and Raymond Modin.

Contact Lenses Fitting Eased

CHICAGO (SS) — More accurate fitting of contact lenses than has been possible in the past is reported through development of a new optical instrument trademarked a Corneoptor.

Just how valuable the new instrument can be was demonstrated by the developers in the case of a man whose eyes were severely burned by exploding acid that virtually destroyed his vision. Other instruments failed to produce a useful corneal measurement, but after obtaining a curve showing a flat spot on the cornea, the Corneoptor made it possible to fit the proper contact lens to restore the patient's vision. A contour-slit image of the cornea is recorded on an off-axis Polaroid camera. Camera focus is coupled with the instrument. The brilliant flash of the xenon lamp lasts only a millisecond, causing no discomfort.

The corneagram, developed through research at the Columbus, Ohio, laboratories of Battelle Memorial Institute in collaboration with Joseph L. Bitonte and Dr. Richard Keates of the Ohio State University College of Medicine, produces an accurate picture of the corneal profile in an instant.

Rights Board Seeks Police, Cities Unity

The Marin County Human Rights Commission, concerned about the shooting of a juvenile car theft suspect in Marin City Tuesday, asked last night for policy on police and community relations that could be followed by police in Marin.

Commission executive officer Robert Brauer said the matter was referred to the police-community relations committee.

Brauer reported he could find no basis to support a complaint by a Negro laborer who said he was dismissed from work on the Hall of Justice due to discrimination. The commission will ask the Robert E. McKee Construction Co. to keep better records on employment.

The Marin County Human Rights Commission also:

1. Learned that the California Department of Employment will continue its program of holding job interviews in Marin City one day a week.

2. Learned that Brauer will continue to meet with representatives of the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce on hiring of minorities in downtown stores and offices.

3. Appointed Walter Belden to head the commission's education committee.

5. Adjourned until 8 p.m., Feb. 9, at Novato City Hall.

Navy Selects Its Top Sailor

SAN DIEGO (AP)—A 26-year veteran from Orr, Okla., was named today as the Navy's top enlisted man.

The first "senior enlisted advisor" is Delbert D. Black, 44, whose mission will be to counsel the chief of naval personnel in Washington on enlisted men's problems and policies. He will receive about $11,083 a year as the Navy's counterpart to sergeants major of the Army and Marine Corps.

Summer School Set In Larkspur District

The Larkspur School District board last night decided to have a five-week summer school at Neil Cummins School and appointed Alfred Kerr, Larkspur-Corte Madera School vice principal, as summer school principal.

The summer session will start a week after the regular school term ends in June.

The board agreed to continue to lease a classroom at Neil Cummins School to the Marin County schools office for special education classes for $1,200 a year.

The board learned that all district teachers will attend a teacher institute at the College of Marin Jan. 27, so schools will be closed that day.

The board heard a report on the role of district vice principals, who teach half a day and act as curriculum consultants.

Expenses for one board member to attend a National School Boards Conference in Portland, Ore., in April were authorized, but no member was designated.

Increases In Apartments Are Forecast

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Bart Lytton, executive officer of Lytton Financial Corp., expects an increase in building jobs in California, but not in the immediate future.

Lytton, speaking to the American Society of Appraisers in San Francisco, said yesterday that home and apartment house building has been held back as much by a lack of demand as by a lack of funds.

"Late this year, when the public (attitude) changes, there will be a roaring demand," said Lytton. He predicted a sharp rise in construction of apartments.

"We are moving inevitably to a medium to high rise urban residential culture. We have just about reached the limits of urban single family housing," he said.

Youth Corps Aide At Drake High

Sections of the Neighborhood Youth Corps program have provided 10 jobs for low-come students at Sir Francis Drake High School. The federal poverty funds pay the salaries although the program is administered by the county.

Eligible students are paid $1.30 an hour and may work 10-12 hours a week. Jobs involve teacher aiding, office work, campus duties, locker room and shop assistance.

Rate Report Error

The Independent-Journal incorrectly reported Wednesday that Mill Valley Refuse Service last summer asked a rate increase to $2.75 a month from customers in Tamalpais Valley Sanitary District. The company asked a six-year contract, starting at $2.25 a month, increasing to $2.60 after five years.

It will reach its climax Feb. 26 when volunteers will call at homes throughout the county to receive contributions.

INCOME TAX FACTS

Everyone Entitled To One Exemption

By PETER JAMES WIKEL CPA

Everybody is entitled to one personal exemption, which means that they can make $600 tax free.

If you are over 65 years of age, you are entitled to two personal exemptions and can make $1,200 tax free. If you are blind, you are entitled to an additional personal exemption of $600. This means that if you are under 65 years of age and blind, you can make $1,200 and if you are over 65 years of age and blind, you can make $1,800 tax free.

Wikel

No one is entitled to use another person's personal exemption.

If you file a joint return with your spouse, you may claim your spouse's personal exemptions on the same basis as above on the joint return.

You cannot file a joint return with your spouse if your spouse is claimed as a dependent on any other tapayer's return.

You are entitled to the dependency credit for certain dependents, and under certain circumstances you may claim the dependency credit for dependents who also filed their personal income tax returns and claim their personal exemptions on these tax returns.

Each dependent must meet all five of the following conditions:

1. Dependent must have received over one-half of his support from you in 1966.

2. Dependent must not have had over $600 income in 1966, unless the dependent was your child or stepchild under 19 years of age, or if 19 years of age or over, a full time student, in which case the dependent child can earn any amount as long as you actually provide over one-half of the support.

3. Dependent is not claimed by any other taxpayer and does not file a joint return with another taxpayer. For instance, do not list a dependent married daughter who files a joint return with her husband.

4. Dependent must be a citizen of the United States or a resident of the United States, Canada, Mexico, the Republic of Panama or the Canal Zone.

5. Dependent must be closely related to you or anyone else who meets the four requirements above and had your home as his principal place of abode and was a member of your household, even if not related to you.

If the dependent has worked part-time and earned less than $600 in 1966 or was your child under 19, or 19 or over and a student, and income tax was withheld from such earnings, the dependent should file a tax return to secure refund of the tax withheld.

This will in no way prevent you from also claiming the exemption for the dependent, provided, of course, that the dependent meets all five of the above conditions.

Also, if your dependent can qualify in all other ways except that you do not furnish over one-half of his support, then perhaps this will help you.

Where two or more persons contribute more than 50 per cent to the support of a dependent and each could claim the dependent except for the fact he did not contribute more than 50 per cent of the support, then one of the contributors can claim the dependent provided:

1. The taxpayer claiming the dependent contributed over 10 per cent of the support, and

2. Every other one who contributed over 10 per cent to the support agrees not to claim the dependent for 1966.

An agreement, Form 2120, must be signed by each person (other than yourself) who contributed more than 10 per cent to the support of the dependent. The agreement must be filed with your return claiming the deduction for the dependent.

Keep The Pennsy Stocks For The Merger Proposal

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. "I have 50 shares of National Biscuit in which I have a profit. My husband is not a speculating man and I go along with him. Do you think we should buy more National Biscuit or something more active? I also have 50 shares of Pennsylvania Railroad. What should I do with this?" R. H.

A. It is always pleasant to hear a wife say a nice thing about a husband. From the tone of your letter, he's probably a pretty good man to go along with. I think you have enough National Biscuit. I would give up nothing in the way of quality, but suggest that a few shares of Gillette would diversify your holdings. As to your Pennsylvania Railroad, I believe that I would hold at current levels in expectation that the merger with N. Y. Central will be consummated.

Q. "I am a widow of 76 and over many years have accumulated a list of stocks. These are American Telephone, Bank of America, Minnesota Mining & Mfg., DuPont, Eastman Kodak, General Electric, San Diego Gas & Electric. I could use a little more income and would welcome any suggestion." N. S.

A. If you will allow me, I should like to commend you for your sound common sense. You have one of the finest stock lists I have ever seen — without a single second-rate or doubtful security. If your need is not urgent, I would hate to break up this list. If you really must have a higher return, I wil make two suggestions. By switching 3 M into Norfolk & Western and Eastman Kodak into Standard Oil of New Jersey, you could substantially increase your income.

INCOME TAX FACTS

Everyone Entitled To One Exemption

By PETER JAMES WIKEL CPA

Everybody is entitled to one personal exemption, which means that they can make $600 tax free.

If you are over 65 years of age, you are entitled to two personal exemptions and can make $1,200 tax free. If you are blind, you are entitled to an additional personal exemption of $600. This means that if you are under 65 years of age and blind, you can make $1,200 and if you are over 65 years of age and blind, you can make $1,800 tax free.

Wikel

No one is entitled to use another person's personal exemption.

If you file a joint return with your spouse, you may claim your spouse's personal exemptions on the same basis as above on the joint return.

You cannot file a joint return with your spouse if your spouse is claimed as a dependent on any other tapayer's return.

You are entitled to the dependency credit for certain dependents, and under certain circumstances you may claim the dependency credit for dependents who also filed their personal income tax returns and claim their personal exemptions on these tax returns.

Each dependent must meet all five of the following conditions:

1. Dependent must have received over one-half of his support from you in 1966.

2. Dependent must not have had over $600 income in 1966, unless the dependent was your child or stepchild under 19 years of age, or if 19 years of age or over, a full time student, in which case the dependent child can earn any amount as long as you actually provide over one-half of the support.

3. Dependent is not claimed by any other taxpayer and does not file a joint return with another taxpayer. For instance, do not list a dependent married daughter who files a joint return with her husband.

4. Dependent must be a citizen of the United States or a resident of the United States, Canada, Mexico, the Republic of Panama or the Canal Zone.

5. Dependent must be closely related to you or anyone else who meets the four requirements above and had your home as his principal place of abode and was a member of your household, even if not related to you.

If the dependent has worked part-time and earned less than $600 in 1966 or was your child under 19, or 19 or over and a student, and income tax was withheld from such earnings, the dependent should file a tax return to secure refund of the tax withheld.

This will in no way prevent you from also claiming the exemption for the dependent, provided, of course, that the dependent meets all five of the above conditions.

Also, if your dependent can qualify in all other ways except that you do not furnish over one-half of his support, then perhaps this will help you.

Where two or more persons contribute more than 50 per cent to the support of a dependent and each could claim the dependent except for the fact he did not contribute more than 50 per cent of the support, then one of the contributors can claim the dependent provided:

1. The taxpayer claiming the dependent contributed over 10 per cent of the support, and

2. Every other one who contributed over 10 per cent to the support agrees not to claim the dependent for 1966.

An agreement, Form 2120, must be signed by each person (other than yourself) who contributed more than 10 per cent to the support of the dependent. The agreement must be filed with your return claiming the deduction for the dependent.

Keep The Pennsy Stocks For The Merger Proposal

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. "I have 50 shares of National Biscuit in which I have a profit. My husband is not a speculating man and I go along with him. Do you think we should buy more National Biscuit or something more active? I also have 50 shares of Pennsylvania Railroad. What should I do with this?" R. H.

A. It is always pleasant to hear a wife say a nice thing about a husband. From the tone of your letter, he's probably a pretty good man to go along with. I think you have enough National Biscuit. I would give up nothing in the way of quality, but suggest that a few shares of Gillette would diversify your holdings. As to your Pennsylvania Railroad, I believe that I would hold at current levels in expectation that the merger with N. Y. Central will be consummated.

Q. "I am a widow of 76 and over many years have accumulated a list of stocks. These are American Telephone, Bank of America, Minnesota Mining & Mfg., DuPont, Eastman Kodak, General Electric, San Diego Gas & Electric. I could use a little more income and would welcome any suggestion." N. S.

A. If you will allow me, I should like to commend you for your sound common sense. You have one of the finest stock lists I have ever seen — without a single second-rate or doubtful security. If your need is not urgent, I would hate to break up this list. If you really must have a higher return, I wil make two suggestions. By switching 3 M into Norfolk & Western and Eastman Kodak into Standard Oil of New Jersey, you could substantially increase your income.

Revenue passenger miles were 982,112,000, an increase of 20 per cent over December 1965.

Ninth Rise In Row For Stocks

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed higher today for the ninth straight session. Trading was heavy.

The market reversed an early decline and moved higher in vigorous trading late in the day.

Volume for the day was estimated at 9.2 million shares, compared with 12.82 million yesterday.

The prolonged rally faltered in early trading but around midday prices began advancing.

Brokers said from the start that the market should find inspiration in increased prices for steel, copper and aluminum, the return of federal reserve member banks to a free reserve position for the first time in a year and a proposal for a higher federal debt limit.

Fairchild Camera, up 4⅜ at 139¼, appeared headed for the top of the day's most active list.

Gains of more than 2 points were made by Itek, KLM Airlines and Sprague Electric.

U.S. Smelting jumped more than 4 points and Polaroid climbed more than 3.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange advanced in heavy trading.

IT'S BOLD, BOLD, BOLDER

B. H. Wragge showed a white slack suit, left, with a bold red and blue skirt print top capped with a spanking white hat at the spring previews of the American designer series held in New York on Tuesday. At right is Chester Weinberg's tent coat combining splashes of brown, black and white in a Tomchin geometric designed, worn with a coolie straw hat.

By MOLLY MARIN

The Junior League has decided to make a theatrical style production of it for the traditional fashion show this year, and in fact it's called "Dress Rehearsal" and will use theatrical lighting to achieve its special effects.

Mrs. Kirk Frederick of San Rafael and her committee will prove there's no business like show business to put across the annual benefit which raises funds in five figure amounts for various league projects, and they have chosen theme ideas from Broadway musicals over a three decade period.

Marinites who will participate in the show are Mesdames John Busterud of Mill Valley, McKenzie Moss of Ross, Howard D. Banks of Mill Valley, Burney Cleveland of Belvedere, Lee Gammill Jr. of Mill Valley, William J. Morris of Kentfield, Robert Clark Taylor of Ross, John H. Wingate Jr. and Leonard Weisenburg Jr. of San Rafael, and among sustaining members will be Mrs. Gerald D. Stratford of Belvedere.

ENTERTAINING the incoming and retiring boards of the Marin Charitable Foundation, which runs the Marin Debutante Ball, will be Mrs. Harrison Leppo. The luncheon will be given at her Mill Valley home on Monday.

Incidentally, the proceeds from this past December ball will be divided so that the major amount is given to the Family Service Agency of Marin for counseling families with teen-agers, and gifts also will be made to the Ross Psychiatric Center for treatment of youth, and to College of Marin's student loan fund.

MR. AND MRS. RALPH KEMERER, formerly of Novato and now of Angel's Camp, were honored at a dinner party on their 25th wedding anniversary when Mr. and Mrs. William J. J. Smith were hosts at their home in Novato on Saturday.

By HELEN BOTTEL

DEAR HELEN:

I am 17 and babysit for two kids whenever I'm not at school. The father is always home while his wife is working. He is a disabled war veteran, but not that disabled. He's around 47 and keeps making passes at me. It's getting worse.

Our family needs the money. Should I stick it out or quit school and get a better job?—F. B. S.

DEAR F:

Quit the job, but not school. You can find better-paying and much safer part-time work at stores, drive-in hamburger stands, restaurants. Inquire at your State Employment Office and start making applications—Now!—H.

DEAR HELEN:

My brother is a hog. All he does is eat, nothing else. He always makes a big mess when he cooks—burns the pots and pans, leaves the sink full of dishes and the stove and table disgusting. He eats about nine times a day since he quit school. He can't find a job because he is so overweight and I don't think he could get away from the kitchen that long.

My mother works and my father doesn't live with us, so I have to do all the housework. I am only 16, but feel like an old maid already. Never have any freedom and am always cleaning. If I don't do it, my mother hollers and throws things at me, then won't talk to me for days.

Once I went away for five days and when I got back the house hadn't been touched—they just waited for me to come home and clean it.

I can't date, and I can't have anyone visit me because my mother won't let people come when she isn't home, which is most of the time. Besides, I'm too tired to be nice to anyone what with school work, extra work and house cleaning. Is there any hope?—DISHPAN HANDS AND TIRED

DEAR TIRED:

If your mother doesn't crack down on her cloddy lump of son, she'll be feeding him all her life. Inasmuch as he has no job or no school, housecleaning should be his responsibility. A selfish family which expects all work and no play from a 16-year-old girl shouldn't be surprised when she leaves home for good the moment she is able.

Do you have relatives who would take you in?—H.

DEAR HELEN:

Hurray for the mother who was in favor of school uniforms. I'm a 16-year-old junior who would adore them. In our school, the students' emphasis is not on education but on how many days a girl can go without wearing the same thing twice. If you don't want to be laughed out of your nylons, your shoes must come from the most expensive store 20 miles from our town. Ditto purse. Clothes? Well, if you want to make a decent showing, you've got to have a bank president for a father!

I'd love to wear knee socks, but this would give you about as many friends as contracting a case of bubonic plague. If you ever rub the "in" crowd the wrong way—you do if you don't dress as they do—you may as well dig a six foot hole and crawl in, being careful to drag all your socks in with you.

My father isn't J. Paul Getty so I can't afford an entire new wardrobe every year, but it seems as if everyone else around here can. If you wear last year's styles, well, forget it—and you!

What happened to the "good old days" when it was what was inside that counted?—KNEE SOCKS LOVER

P. S. Nylons don't keep your legs warm on a winter day, besides.

DEAR KSL:

If the "In's" at your school are this snobbish, who needs them? Form an "anti-in crowd" and I'll bet it will take off like a runner in cheap nylons. Many girls and most boys resent overemphasis on expensive clothes. It's the best way I know to look cheap.—H.

'An Essay On Women' Program Set

Woman's problems in a man's world will be examined in "An Essay on Women" on Jan. 24 on television channel 5, the CBS network at 10 p.m.

The special report is reproted by correspondent Harry Reasoner and written and produced by Andrew A. Rooney. The network said that "An Essay on Women" develops the theme that woman's unrest is largely due to a belief that man's goals are the only ones worth achieving; the suspicion that, outside the home, the world is wonderfully interesting, and the well-intentioned efforts of experts to impress on women the magnitude of their problems.

My brother is a hog. All he does is eat, nothing else. He always makes a big mess when he cooks—burns the pots and pans, leaves the sink full of dishes and the stove and table disgusting. He eats about nine times a day since he quit school. He can't find a job because he is so overweight and I don't think he could get away from the kitchen that long.

My mother works and my father doesn't live with us, so I have to do all the housework. I am only 16, but feel like an old maid already. Never have any freedom and am always cleaning. If I don't do it, my mother hollers and throws things at me, then won't talk to me for days.

Once I went away for five days and when I got back the house hadn't been touched—they just waited for me to come home and clean it.

I can't date, and I can't have anyone visit me because my mother won't let people come when she isn't home, which is most of the time. Besides, I'm too tired to be nice to anyone what with school work, extra work and house cleaning. Is there any hope?—DISHPAN HANDS AND TIRED

DEAR TIRED:

If your mother doesn't crack down on her cloddy lump of son, she'll be feeding him all her life. Inasmuch as he has no job or no school, housecleaning should be his responsibility. A selfish family which expects all work and no play from a 16-year-old girl shouldn't be surprised when she leaves home for good the moment she is able.

Do you have relatives who would take you in?—H.

DEAR HELEN:

Hurray for the mother who was in favor of school uniforms. I'm a 16-year-old junior who would adore them. In our school, the students' emphasis is not on education but on how many days a girl can go without wearing the same thing twice. If you don't want to be laughed out of your nylons, your shoes must come from the most expensive store 20 miles from our town. Ditto purse. Clothes? Well, if you want to make a decent showing, you've got to have a bank president for a father!

I'd love to wear knee socks, but this would give you about as many friends as contracting a case of bubonic plague. If you ever rub the "in" crowd the wrong way—you do if you don't dress as they do—you may as well dig a six foot hole and crawl in, being careful to drag all your socks in with you.

My father isn't J. Paul Getty so I can't afford an entire new wardrobe every year, but it seems as if everyone else around here can. If you wear last year's styles, well, forget it—and you!

What happened to the "good old days" when it was what was inside that counted?—KNEE SOCKS LOVER

P. S. Nylons don't keep your legs warm on a winter day, besides.

DEAR KSL:

If the "In's" at your school are this snobbish, who needs them? Form an "anti-in crowd" and I'll bet it will take off like a runner in cheap nylons. Many girls and most boys resent over-emphasis on expensive clothes. It's the best way I know to look cheap.—H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

'An Essay On Women' Program Set

Woman's problems in a man's world will be examined in "An Essay on Women" on Jan. 24 on television channel 5, the CBS network at 10 p.m.

The special report is reproted by correspondent Harry Reasoner and written and produced by Andrew A. Rooney. The network said that "An Essay on Women" develops the theme that woman's unrest is largely due to a belief that man's goals are the only ones worth achieving; the suspicion that, outside the home, the world is wonderfully interesting, and the well-intentioned efforts of experts to impress on women the magnitude of their problems.

MARIN FILM FARE

Peter Sellers Turns Italian For Another Load Of Laughter

By LES DARD

Let's see what's to see this weekend at Marin area movie houses:

RAFAEL THEATER

Peter Sellers anyone? The man whose name is almost synonymous with wild hilarity is back again, in the zany "After the Fox" now on screen.

Sellers plays the Fox, one of Italy's leading lawbreakers. He's had nine prison stretches in 11 years. His only big problem is that he constantly blows the big jobs because of urgent family problems. In prison when the film opens, Sellers hears that his young sister (played by his real-life wife, Britt Eklund) is going astray. He stages a neat jail-break and saves her.

But once he's out, things really begin popping. The thread of the plot gets lost a little in the mania, but we soon find our boy in a flamboyant, riotous impersonation of a screwball director. Seems he's making a movie to help mobster Akim Tamiroff smuggle gold into the country, meanwhile throwing the police off his trail. Or something.

Notable in the contributing cast is Victor Mature doing a devastating self-parody—of an aging, sagging matinee idol—and Martin Balsam playing his merciless agent.

Co-featured is: "Seconds," featuring Rock Hudson.

NOVATO THEATER

A spy entry utilizing brain work instead of fancy gadgets is "The Liquidator," with Rod Taylor, Trevor Howard, Wilfred Hyde-White and Jill St. John.

The British Security Office is becoming embarrassed by the difficulties of arresting traitors in its ranks without scandal. A plan is arranged for fatal "accidents" to overtake the suspects. Ex-soldier Taylor is put to the task by promises of generous salary, sumptuous living conditions and lovely girls.

Though brawny, Taylor is not the killing type. So he hires professional assassin Eric Sykes to do the dirty work while he lives it up — until the scheme fouls up.

SEQUOIA THEATER

Now playing is "A Patch of Blue."

Elizabeth Hartman portrays a blind girl who has never been to school and who is mistreated by her sluttish mother, Shelley Winters—who won an Ascar for this performance.

101 DRIVE-IN

An almost legendary general, a much fabled battle and the mystic Middle East combine in "Khartoum," now playing.

A British army division is wiped out in the Sudan, in the 1880s. Gen. Charles "Chinese" Gordon is sent to restore peace, save face and keep the British from becoming deeply involved.

Gordon, as played by Charlton Heston, has other ideas and starts an all-out war. His opponent is the Mahdi (Laurence Olivier), meaning "Expected One," who has set himself up as the deliverer and leader of the conquest-hungry Moslems.

MOTOR MOVIES

When TV cameraman Lemmon is knocked unconscious by a player at a televised pro-football game, he winds up in the hospital. There's nothing really wrong with him, but his shyster lawyer brother-in-law (Matthau) talks him into faking all sorts of maladies to get the insurance loot.

LARK THEATER

Jean-Louis Trintignant stars as a race car driver whose wife commited suicide after he crashed at Le Mans. At a boarding school where he keeps his small son, he meets Anouk Aimee, a young widow haunted by memories of her dead husband and there to visit her daughter.

Slowly and cautiously, their relationship matures. It climaxes in an unexpected, but completely acceptable fashion.

TIBURON PLAYHOUSE

Also holding over is an English import starring talented David Warner and beautiful Vanessa Redgrave. It's "Morgan!"

Warner as Morgan revels in the primitive, rebelling against his proleterian background and London society wife. He imagines himself first as Tarzan and ultimately as King Kong. Co-featured is "Black Orpheus."

FAIRFAX THEATER

Alfie is an irrepressible rogue whose credo consists of telling his birds (girls) that he has absolutely no honorable intentions, and then proving it to them. In the end, after reels of mad comedy and social satire, he realizes that he's too much of a coward not to join the human race.

Fare for adults.

NORTHGATE THEATER

George Peppard stars with Ursula Andress in "The Blue Max," held over.

Peppard is a young German air ace who is out to win the coveted blue enamel by shooting down 20 enemy planes.

TAMALPAIS THEATER

"The Professionals," ranks high in the current Western field.

Florida Chief To See Reagan

Erika Mattfeld, 32, the German-born fiancee of Gov. Claude R. Kirk Jr. was to go to Rio de Janeiro, ending a vacation in this exclusive winter resort colony.

Kirk made plans to confer with Gov. Ronald Reagan in California on crime and education problems in their two states. Both Republican governors are in the early days of their first major political office.

Marin Author Has Top Junior Book

A book by a Marin author has been included on a list of the 62 best books for junior readers published in 1966, compiled by the editors of School Library Journal.

Stone Show Extended

The current exhibition of collages by Gwen Stone of San Rafael at the California Palace of the Legion of Honor will be extended through Jan. 29, it was announced today by William Elsner of the museum staff. The galleries are open daily from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Moose are now protected by game laws.

Art Institute Names Marinite Executive

John D. Yates of San Rafael has been appointed director of administration for the San Francisco Art Institute, announced by Theodore L. Eliot, executive director.

Yates, a native of Birmingham, England, has degrees in economics and commerce and for the past 16 years has been active in the import-export field in an executive capacity. He and Mrs. Yates have two children and live at 810 Pine Lane.

Ullner Calls For Ouster Of Reagan

Frederick L. Ullner of Santa Venetia, self-styled leader of a group he calls the Conservative Action Committee, today urged the impeachment of Gov. Ronald Reagan.

He said 17 members of his "policy making committee" met at his home last night and voted to start circulating petitions for the impeachment.

Ullner, 47, is a former television shop owner who supported Barry Goldwater and Ronald Reagan and switched his backing to Gov. Edmund G. Brown in the late stages of the last campaign.

"With less than two weeks in office, Governor Reagan has caused panic in our higher education system. object fear in our state welfare organization, and general chaos in Sacramento," Ullner declared.

"Reagan's great leap backwards can only result in further damage to all our existing social welfare programs, the dismissal of President Clark Kerr, and a reaction from the poor that will breed further distrust and dissension.

"We are now seeing the results of being ruled by a handful of kingmakers from Southern California and we wish to stop the dictatorship of the Reagan mafia before further disastrous cutbacks born out of ignorance reduce our state to a second or third place in the nation."

Board Makes Offer On Land

Nicasio School District trustees last night offered Petaluma rancher Tom Rogers $7,500 for three acres he owns adjacent to the school.

Rogers told the board he would have an answer when the board meets at 8 p.m. Feb. 9 at the school.

The board was advised that its new portable classroom, obtained on a lease-purchase agreement at a cost of about $14,000 over a seven-year period, was erected and in use this week. It provides a third classroom for the school, which now has three teachers.

68 Quentin Inmates Finish High School

By M. ELIZABETH JOHNSON

In a "golden hour" at San Quentin Prison last night inmates were honored for "im proving themselves by preparing to be better citizens" in the words of Stanley H. Friese, assistant superintendent of Marin County Schools.

The Bayview Schools graduation ceremony in the recently completed prison gymnasium saw 68 high school graduates in caps and gowns, receive diplomas, flanked by 43 inmates who won certificates for literacy; 56 with elementary school diplomas, and 25 who were given certificates of completion of university correspandence courses.

Also, 24 men got certificates for the first prison college course, "the prison community" financed by the Ford Foundation.

A valedictorian address by Robert Winslow congratulated fellow inmates on their graduation and urged them to "please continue."

Associate Warden Homer J. Hastings told the audience of inmates' family members this was the largest class ever to graduate in the prison.

Dr. Everett T. Calvert, chief state deputy superintendent of public instruction, spoke to the men about education in general as well as in the prison. He felt the high school program could be improved in several fields—mathematics, English, writing, spelling, history and geography —by making them relate more closely to actual living situation. He called radio and television "negative influences on English."

Calvert said "we can all do better in learning to treat people alike" and in "being better citizens."

Not all of the 77 men earning industrial certificates were present, as many of them were paroled or transferred to conservation camps after completing their courses.

Across the room from the graduates was the glee club, whose version of "People Who Need People" was not only harmonious but caused some inmate family members in the audience to wipe their eyes. They later sang the "Bayview Alma Mater."

A brisk brass band in the back of the room played several rousing numbers during the three-hour ceremony which began at 7 p.m. Gene Short conducted.

30 Days Given On 2 Drunken Driving Counts

Roy Benedict Collette, 49, of 75 Billou Street, San Rafael, was given a total of 30 days in county jail yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for two counts of drunken driving. He also was placed on two years probation.

San Rafael police arrested him May 4 on Woodland Avenue, and again on Spet. 15 on Third Street.

John Gary McFall, 31, of 18 Salt Landing, Tiburon, was fined $250 and placed on 18 months probation, for drunken driving. California Highway Patrol arrested him on Highway 101 Dec. 5.

William Earl Thompson, 45, of 17½ Frances Street, San Rafael, was fined $87 and given six months probation for the same offense. San Rafael police arrested him Dec. 31 on Second Street.

Valarie Blackburn, 37, of 11 Sycamore Avenue, Larkspur, was fined $87 and placed on six months probation for drunken driving. The highway patrol arrested her Dec. 9 on Highway 101.

Leydecker Backed For Housing Post

Appointment of former Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker to the Marin County Redevelopment Agency and Housing Authority commissions was urged today by the Marin Council for Civic Affairs.

In a letter to the county board of supervisors, Edward J. Neumeier, council president, said the council's executive committee "with great enthusiasm" recommended Leydecker for one of two vacancies on the two commissions — which have the same membership. The vacancies were created by resignations of Omar E. McNalley and Jesse Berry.

Douglas Raps Grand Jury's Criticisms

By RICHARD LYTTLE

John M. Douglas, Marin County's director of economic development, reacted bitterly today to the grand jury's recommendation that his department be eliminated.

Douglas, hired by supervisors in December, 1965, to head the newly created department, said budget limitations have restricted his work, and he is not even allowed enough postage to get out a general mailer for promotion.

BUDGET ARGUED

The grand jury said the $24,646 budget allowed Douglas is almost the same amount distributed to chambers of commerce and other groups for promotion in fiscal 1960.

His salary, starting at $15,600 a year and upped this month to $16,380 a year, and $2,514 for a half-time secretary are the only salary items in the budget. However, expenses, retirement benefits and office costs bring the total up to the $24,646 figure, County Auditor-Contorller Michael Mitchell confirmed.

Douglas said the secretary position was not filled until October and until then he had difficulty getting his letters typed. The letters, taken to the county administrator's office for typing, were often sent back due to the clerical log-jam, Douglas said.

CREDIT GIVEN

Douglas charged that the grand jury failed to give credit for the institution of the motel-hotel tax, a 4 per cent charge on room occupancy that will bring in $30,000 in revenue this year, more than covering the cost of his operation.

Douglas said he has been in almost daily touch with University of California officials and the planning department of the Bechtel Corp., making a study on the location for a North Bay campus of the university. It has not yet been decided whether Marin will get the campus.

Douglas said the Marin County Chamber of Commerce has tried to take much of the credit for the work, but that if Carroll W. Snyker, executive director of the chamer, "should walk into Bechtel's planning office, they would not know him and he would not know where to go."

'WAIT FOR GOODIES'

Douglas said that much of his work has been with the organizations receiving county money for promotional work, "determining their objectives and problems."

He said he believes the philosophy of giving these groups sustaining funds is in error, "because all they have to do is wait for the next goodies."

Part of Douglas's bitterness is due to his belief that there is a real opportunity for promotion. "Marin is on the threshold of expanding its economic base, largely through the visitor industry," he said.

County Administrator Alan Bruce said he had no comment on the grand jury report.

Hub Council Narrows Field

The San Anselmo City Council, in closed session last night, reviewed 39 applications for city administrator and chose 13 for further review, according to Councilman Arthur W. Smith.

Smith said that after further investigation of the 13, the council will have another closed session, but no date was set last night.

He declined to comment on the general salary range being asked by the applicants.

Marin Couple Feting 60th Anniversary

Guglielmo and Amalia Colombo, married 60 years ago today in St. Stefano's Church in Taino, Italy, will celebrate that anniversary tomorrow with a reception for relatives and friends.

Colombo, 84, came to the United States in February, 1913, and settled in Ely, Minn., to work in the iron mines there. His wife and daughter followed him in September of that year.

Mr. and Mrs. Colombo lived in Ely until 1948, when they came to live with their son in Corte Madera. In 1963, Elvira and her husband, Nat, moved to Marin and the Colombos joined them in their new home.

They also have two grandchildren, Ronald Dargontina and Mark Colombo, and two great-grandchildren, Gail and Gary Dargontina.

Miss Oberto's essay was chosen by a panel of three judges, Corte Madera Town Mgr. Ronald L. Usher and Lions members Larry A. Wheeler and Arn Frederick.

'701' Citizens Group Holds First Meeting

A citizens committee to advise the City of Mill Valley on its "701" program last night met for the first time and set a series of meetings through May to review reports due next month from the program's planning consultants.

Planning Director Harvey E. Bragdon explained the first six months of the one-year program have been spent surveying physical appearance, land use, marketing, transportation and institutions in the Throckmorton, Locust and Alto commercial areas. Final report on the $27,000 program to plan future development of these areas is due this summer. The federal government granted $18,000 for the program.

Next meeting of the committee will be Jan. 26 at 8 p. m., with the place not yet determined.

Meeting Canceled

The regular meeting of the Marin County School District Organization Committee scheduled next Wednesday at the county schools office has been canceled. No other date has been set, according to the Marin County superintendent of schools office.

German Slaying Of A Teacher

KITZINGEN, Germany (AP) — German police disclosed today the slaying of an American woman school teacher and appealed for public help in finding the killer.

Mrs. Elma R. Allen, 53, of Woodside, Calif., was found strangled in a U.S. Army women's residence building Thursday morning. Police said they are seeking a man seen riding a bicycle in the vicinity.

The body of Mrs. Allen, a widow, was discovered by her mother, Mrs. Mary C. Robinson, 75, who was visiting her daughter, an Army spokesman said.

Mrs. Robinson was sleeping in a room on the first floor of the two - story women's residence building. Her daughter lived on the second floor. Residents of the building reported hearing a noise in the night but said it was not loud and they paid no attention.

For once, Top Brass at the Presidio of San Francisco could be excused if they expected to see double.

Fortunately one of the men wore the uniform of commanding general, Sixth Army, while the other was newly appointed Warrant Officer J. L. H. Richardson of San Rafael. They are not related.

The local Richardson was being given his appointment after services as a staff sergeant with the data processing center at the Presidio. General Richardson did the pinning.

Warrant Officer Richardson will shortly leave his home at 167 Novato Street with his wife and family and take up new duty at Fort Carson, Colo.

'701' Citizens Group Holds First Meeting

A citizens committee to advise the City of Mill Valley on its "701" program last night met for the first time and set a series of meetings through May to review reports due next month from the program's planning consultants.

Planning Director Harvey E. Bragdon explained the first six months of the one-year program have been spent surveying physical appearance, land use, marketing, transportation and institutions in the Throckmorton, Locust and Alto commercial areas. Final report on the $27,000 program to plan future development of these areas is due this summer. The federal government granted $18,000 for the program.

Next meeting of the committee will be Jan. 26 at 8 p. m., with the place not yet determined.

Meeting Canceled

The regular meeting of the Marin County School District Organization Committee scheduled next Wednesday at the county schools office has been canceled. No other date has been set, according to the Marin County superintendent of schools office.

Redwood-San Rafael Tilt Headlines Prep Schedule

By GARY TISCHLER

Redwood High's basketball team, roosting comfortably on top of the Marin County Athletic League standings, will get its first severe test when it meets once-beaten San Rafael on the Bulldog court tonight at 8:15 o'clock.

The Giants are 2-0 in the standings, having feasted on last-place Terra Linda and Novato. San Rafael bopped Marin Catholic, 51-42 Tuesday to bounce back from a 53-51 heartbreaker to resurgent Tamalpais.

In other games, Drake, which looked like a champ in routing Terra Linda, 49-33, Tuesday, is a more than good bet to make it two in a row at Novato while Marin Catholic tries to rebound against Tamalpais, at Marin Catholic.

The Giants, 10-5 on the season, boast a trio of consistent scorers in Andre Horn, Jack Fitzhenry and Al Fritz. Horn is averaging close to 16 points a game on the season while Fitzhenry and Fritz have been hitting in double figures for league action. Fritz may be the key to the Redwood hopes. At 6-4, he's been steadily improving in point production and rebounding, getting 14 markers and 17 rebounds in the Novato game.

San Rafael boasts no superstars, but the Bulldogs can kill you from all directions. They had four players in double figures against Marin Catholic. The clutch player and big surprise has been Mike Donahoo, a junior. Rich Schau and Roger Widmer make a fine guard combo and Chip Tyson, although inconsistent, can score big.

Marin Catholic, now 7-5 for the season, will have its hands full trying to stop the ambitious Tamalpais Indians, who own a deceptive 3-8 season record.

The Indians, after a rough and tumble adjustment period, have come into their own as most coaches predicted they would. Their 81-71 upset of Petaluma may be the trigger that will set them off on a big win streak.

Late Spurt Gives Win To Warriors

SAN JOSE (AP)—Rick Barry of the San Francisco Warriors can be suppressed for just so long, as the New York Knicks have learned.

They'll try to apply that lesson tonight against the leading scorer of the National Basketball Assn. in a rematch at San Jose Municipal Auditorium.

For three quarters, the physically tough Knicks kept Barry down last night at San Francisco Civic Auditorium. But Barry scored 10 of his team's last 12 points and assisted in the other basket as the Warriors beat the Knicks, 127-123, and increased their Western Division lead to 8½ games.

The Knicks led throughout as Willis Reed and Dick Barnet paced the New Yorkers until the Warriors managed a 119-119 tie. Walt Bellamy then reached over Barry on the Warrior board for a personal foul and Barry dropped in two free throws.

After Reed missed a jump shot, Barry was fouled again and sank another two free throws. He finished with 41 points and received strong support from Nate Thurmond, who scored 30 and grabbed 30 rebounds.

Barnett scored 33 and Reed 22 for the losers.

Hornung Looms As Key Man In Super Bowl

Reg Carolan May Start For Chiefs

By MIKE RATHET

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The suddenly developed Hornung hunch heightened interest at the Super Bowl site today as both the Green Bay Packers and Kansas City Chiefs went through their final workouts in preparation for Sunday's first clash of pro football champions.

The first major question on the battle between the National and American football league champions developed when the rival coaches pointed to Green Bay's Paul Hornung as the player who could make a difference in this rich struggle for supremacy.

Not only will pride be on the line in the long-awaited game, which will be televised and broadcast nationally by both NBC and CBS at 1:05 p.m., PST, but record payoffs of $15,000 to each member of the winning team and $7,500 to each loser.

With that substantial pot of gold up for grabs, the Hornung hunch first cropped up at the Chiefs' Long Beach training camp, where Coach Hank Stram said:

"I don't have any particular reason for saying so—it's more like a feeling—but I think Hornung will see a considerable amount of action. He always plays extremely well in big games."

"I think that's a very good answer."

He then went on to elaborate on the chances of using his former Golden Boy in the game.

"I really don't know who will start," Lombardi said, "but I'm a great hunch player. The game will dictate who plays and who doesn't. I'm not going to say who will get in or who won't get in. I probably won't know until Sunday.

Hornung May Be Best Receiver

"I'll have to say this, though. Hornung may be the best pass receiver we have as far as running patterns. He knows when to stay on 'em and when to bre them off. He reads defenses better than anyone else I know."

Lombardi then was asked to point out the hunch that paid off in the Packers' game against Baltimore during the 1965 season when Green Bay needed a victory to take over the Western Division lead.

In that one, Lombardi tapped Hornung for duty. And he went on to score five touchdowns, a team record.

But Hornung, has not started in eight weeks and has lost his starting job to Elijah Pitts, who gained 393 yards rushing and 460 on 26 passes while joining quarterback Bart Starr, fullback Jim Taylor and flanker Boyd Dowler in the Green Bay backfield.

The Chiefs, meanwhile, were concerned about All-league tight end Fred Arbanas, who suffered a shoulder separation in the AFL championship game against Buffalo. Arbanas has been working out, but still is taking cortisone shots and is being fitted with a harness.

Marin Teacher Possible Starter

If Arbanas, who caught 22 passes for 305 yards and is an excellent blocker, cannot play, he very likely will be replaced by Reg Carolan, who saw little action during the season. Aaron Brown, a rookie defensive lineman, also has been working at the position.

Carolan, the former Drake High All-Star athlete who works as a substitute teacher in Marin County during the spring, saw considerable action in the Chiefs' AFL championship game two weeks ago.

Arbanas' absence undoubtedly would handicap Kansas City's passing attack since he has been one of Len Dawson's prime targets along with flanker Otis Taylor and split end Chris Burford.

That combination, plus the running of Mike Garrett and Curt McClinton and their hefty lines, brought the Chiefs through the regular season with an 11-2-1 record. Garrett, the former Heisman Trophy winner from Southern California returning to the scene of some of his greatest feats, gained 801 yards as an AFL rookie.

Neither Taylor nor Pitts was able to match that figure but provided key yardage all season long as the Packers rolled through the league with a 12-2 record.

And while the Chiefs have a weight advantage, the Packers have an experience advantage with such longtime stars in the lines as defensive end Willie Davis, tackle Forrest Gregg, guard Fuzzy Thurston and defensive tackle Henry Jordan.

In addition, the Packers have a veteran trio of linebackers in Ray Nitschke, Lee Roy Caffey and Dave Robinson and two outstanding defensive backs in Willie Wood and Herb Adderley.

All-Leaguers Protect Dawson

Kansas City relied on two all-league performers—tackle Jim Tyrer and guard Ed Budde—to give Dawson the pass protection he needed while tackle Buck Buchanan, a 6-foot-7, 280-pounder and end Jerry Mays led the defensive line.

Bobby Bell was a standout at linebacker, as were the Chiefs' two safeties, Johnny Robinson and Bobby Hunt.

With all that talent around, plus the additional interest because of the first meeting be-

The Man Of Strong Convictions; Redwood-Hawaii Trade Is Unfair

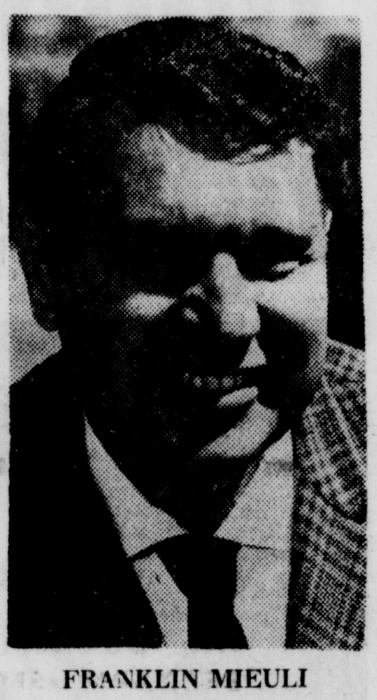
The dynamic young boss of the San Francisco Warriors deserves 100 per cent credit for the team's fantastic success this season because he alone made two of pro basketball's toughest decisions during the past year. Had they failed, Mieuli would have been roasted by the experts.

First, his firing of Alex Hannum after last season qualified Mieuli as a candidate for the silly farm. True, Hannum has the incredible Philadelphia 76ers running away from everyone in the NBA's Eastern Division, but Little Orphan Annie could do the same thing with THAT ball club.



FRANKLIN MIEULI

MEANWHILE, NEW Warrior Coach Bill Sharman has developed a fourth place San Francisco team into by far the "Best in the West" and he's a strong candidate for Coach of the Year.

Mieuli's second eye-opener was trading local favorite Guy Rodgers to Chicago for Jim King and Jeff Mullins. This developed into a beautiful trade, giving the Warriors vital depth in their present drive for a title.

Had either the Hannum or Rodgers decisions failed, Mieuli would have been haw-hawed out of the league. So next time you're at a Warrior game, walk up to him, shake his hand, and say "Nice going." He deserves it.

HOT DOG—I don't know how the coaches and players feel about the use of the NFL's one-point conversion in Sunday's Super-Bowl, but I do know the Los Angeles Coliseum concessionaires are delighted.

Please ask me why. Thanks.

When there is only the one point after touchdown, the kick is generally so automatic that the fans take the time to rush to the foodstands for goodies. But with the American League's two-point conversion, the fans don't know if a team will kick, run or pass and the suspense keeps them glued to their seats. Hence, the concessionaires suffer.

Well, anyway, I hope you get the point. It's food for thought.

TRADE WINDS—Redwood High athletic director-head football coach Bob Troppmann is still hoping to swap jobs with a Hawaiian grid coach for one year in a novel exchange program.

But, according to Hal Wood, sports editor of the Honolulu Advertiser, the prospects are dim. "We talked to some Honolulu coaches about the plan," Wood wrote, "but one replied, 'Can't see how it would work out. There is so much organizing, recruiting, etc., to do that it doesn't make much sense.' What the Mainland coaches probably don't know is that they actually recruit players from the junior ranks in Hawaii."

Anyway, I think Troppmann's plan was unfair to the Marin Athletic League. Why should we trade a man of his high quality for just one Hawaiian coach? I think in exchange for him we should get two varsity coaches, one hula dancer and a future draft choice.

BOB BUNNELL, distance runner from Terra Linda High School, will be competing in the prep two-mile race in the Athens Invitational indoor track and field meet Sunday night in the Oakland Arena.

Beware, V.C., Clay Is Still 1-A

But his local draft board has had the last say,
Cassius Clay is still 1A.

By JOHN T. KADY

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI)—The Louisville draft board has counted ten over Cassius Clay but the heavyweight champion's attorney says he will fight all the way to the U.S. Supreme Court to reverse the decision.

Clay's draft board refused yesterday to consider his request for an exemption as a Black Muslim minister.

"As of now, Cassius Clay is still 1-A," said draft board Chairman J. Allen Sherman, after a one-hour meeting.

APPEAL TO HERSHEY

But Hayden Covington of New York, attorney for the 24-year-old heavyweight boxing champion and an expert on draft laws, said he would ask Gen. Lewis Hershey, head of the U.S. Selective Service System, and Everett Stephenson, chairman of the Kentucky Selective Service System, to order the case re-opened.

Failing this, Covington said, he would take Clay's appeal as far as the Supreme Court.

"We're not making any threats," Covington said, "but if they try to steamroller us then we have to move out of the way."

The rebuff was the second for Clay in three days. The Kentucky Selective Service Appeals Board Tuesday denied him a classification as a conscientious objector.

INCLUDED IN REVISION

Clay was twice classified 1-Y after failing to pass the Army's aptitude tests. He was reclassified 1-A—fit for the draft—when military needs in Vietnam forces a downward revision in the Army's standards.

That was last February and Clay responded with the plaint: "I ain't got no quarrel with them Viet Cong."

His disclaimer to serve in the armed forces brought a large public outcry and a championship fight with George Chuvalo could find no takers in this country and was finally held in Canada. Clay then went to Europe for three more defenses before returning to fight Cleveland Williams last November.

MARINITE FIGURES IN CUB YOUTH MOVEMENT

CHICAGO (AP) — John Boccabella of San Anselmo, a Chicago Cub who learned his baseball on Marin County sandlots, will get his chance as the No. 1 first baseman this year, his boss Leo Durocher said yesterday.

Entering his second year as Cub master, Leo emphasized that the youth movement with the club is here to stay.

"We're not going to win a pennant in 1967, but we're going up, up, up!" he told a news conference yesterday.

"I think we've found the key to moving upward," Leo exclaimed. "Sticking with our youngsters." Leo made it clear that Ernie Banks fitted in with his program although the veteran is 36.

"John Boccabella is going to get a real shot at first base," declared Leo. "Ernie isn't a 20-year-old boy anymore, but whatever playing he will do, it will be with us."

JOHN BOCCABELLA
Cub first sacker

Durocher disclosed his long range plan with the Cubs, who finished last in the National League last year. "We might-buy or trade for a veteran who might move us up from 10th to eighth — but we would be left there. Our future definitely is bound up with the youngsters."

Leo conceded that the retirement of Sandy Koufax and the trading of Maury Wills and Tommy Davis "eliminates the Dodgers as strong pennant contenders. With the addition of Wills, the Pirates should be the pennant favorite," he added.

"Wills is teed off by the trade. He will go all out to prove the Dodgers made a mistake and will give not 100 per cent but 200 per cent with Pittsburgh."

Hard-Luck Bob Bolin Inks Giant Contract

The San Francisco Giants had two-thirds of their 1966 starting pitchers under contract for 1967 today with the acceptance of terms by hard-luck Bob Bolin.

Bolin won 11 and lost 10 for the Giants last year but was one of the team's more effective pitchers. Among his performances were two games he lost by a run and four others he dropped when his teammates weren't able to get him a single run.

However, he fashioned a sparkling earned run average of 2.89 on the strength of one one-hitter, two two-hitters and two three-hitters. It was a frustrating season all the way around for BB, who in 1965 won 14 games and lost only six while compiling an ERA of 2.76.

But the Giants saw to it that he would be happy this season and gave him a contract calling for the same $25,000 he got in 1966.

Bolin's signing came on the heels of Gaylord Perry's acceptance of 1967 terms. Perry won 21 games in 1966, a figure topped only by Juan Marichal, who had 25.

The Giants now have seven players under contract for the coming season. Besides Bolin and Perry they are Willie Mays, Willie McCovey, Tom Haller, Jimmy Davenport, Jay Alou and Bill Sorrell.

Hard-Luck Bob Bolin Inks Giant Contract

The San Francisco Giants had two-thirds of their 1966 starting pitchers under contract for 1967 today with the acceptance of terms by hard-luck Bob Bolin.

Bolin won 11 and lost 10 for the Giants last year but was one of the team's more effective pitchers. Among his performances were two games he lost by a run and four others he dropped when his teammates weren't able to get him a single run.

However, he fashioned a sparkling earned run average of 2.89 on the strength of one one-hitter, two two-hitters and two three-hitters. It was a frustrating season all the way around for BB, who in 1965 won 14 games and lost only six while compiling an ERA of 2.76.

But the Giants saw to it that he would be happy this season and gave him a contract calling for the same $25,000 he got in 1966.

Bolin's signing came on the heels of Gaylord Perry's acceptance of 1967 terms. Perry won 21 games in 1966, a figure topped only by Juan Marichal, who had 25.

The Giants now have seven players under contract for the coming season. Besides Bolin and Perry they are Willie Mays, Willie McCovey, Tom Haller, Jimmy Davenport, Jay Alou and Bill Sorrell.

Reg Carolan May Start For Chiefs

By MIKE RATHET

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The suddenly developed Hornung hunch heightened interest at the Super Bowl site today as both the Green Bay Packers and Kansas City Chiefs went through their final workouts in preparation for Sunday's first clash of pro football champions.

The first major question on the battle between the National and American football league champions developed when the rival coaches pointed to Green Bay's Paul Hornung as the player who could make a difference in this rich struggle for supremacy.

Not only will pride be on the line in the long-awaited game, which will be televised and broadcast nationally by both NBC and CBS at 1:05 p.m., PST, but record payoffs of $15,000 to each member of the winning team and $7,500 to each loser.

With that substantial pot of gold up for grabs, the Hornung hunch first cropped up at the Chiefs' Long Beach training camp, where Coach Hank Stram said:

"I don't have any particular reason for saying so—it's more like a feeling—but I think Hornung will see a considerable amount of action. He always plays extremely well in big games."

"I think that's a very good answer."

He then went on to elaborate on the chances of using his former Golden Boy in the game.

"I really don't know who will start," Lombardi said, "but I'm a great hunch player. The game will dictate who plays and who doesn't. I'm not going to say who will get in or who won't get in. I probably won't know until Sunday.

Hornung May Be Best Receiver

"I'll have to say this, though. Hornung may be the best pass receiver we have as far as running patterns. He knows when to stay on 'em and when to bre them off. He reads defenses better than anyone else I know."

Lombardi then was asked to point out the hunch that paid off in the Packers' game against Baltimore during the 1965 season when Green Bay needed a victory to take over the Western Division lead.

In that one, Lombardi tapped Hornung for duty. And he went on to score five touchdowns, a team record.

But Hornung, has not started in eight weeks and has lost his starting job to Elijah Pitts, who gained 393 yards rushing and 460 on 26 passes while joining quarterback Bart Starr, fullback Jim Taylor and flanker Boyd Dowler in the Green Bay backfield.

The Chiefs, meanwhile, were concerned about All-league tight end Fred Arbanas, who suffered a shoulder separation in the AFL championship game against Buffalo. Arbanas has been working out, but still is taking cortisone shots and is being fitted with a harness.

Marin Teacher Possible Starter

If Arbanas, who caught 22 passes for 305 yards and is an excellent blocker, cannot play, he very likely will be replaced by Reg Carolan, who saw little action during the season. Aaron Brown, a rookie defensive lineman, also has been working at the position.

Carolan, the former Drake High All-Star athlete who works as a substitute teacher in Marin County during the spring, saw considerable action in the Chiefs' AFL championship game two weeks ago.

Arbanas' absence undoubtedly would handicap Kansas City's passing attack since he has been one of Len Dawson's prime targets along with flanker Otis Taylor and split end Chris Burford.

That combination, plus the running of Mike Garrett and Curt McClinton and their hefty lines, brought the Chiefs through the regular season with an 11-2-1 record. Garrett, the former Heisman Trophy winner from Southern California returning to the scene of some of his greatest feats, gained 801 yards as an AFL rookie.

Neither Taylor nor Pitts was able to match that figure but provided key yardage all season long as the Packers rolled through the league with a 12-2 record.

And while the Chiefs have a weight advantage, the Packers have an experience advantage with such longtime stars in the lines as defensive end Willie Davis, tackle Forrest Gregg, guard Fuzzy Thurston and defensive tackle Henry Jordan.

In addition, the Packers have a veteran trio of linebackers in Ray Nitschke, Lee Roy Caffey and Dave Robinson and two outstanding defensive backs in Willie Wood and Herb Adderley.

All-Leaguers Protect Dawson

Kansas City relied on two all-league performers—tackle Jim Tyrer and guard Ed Budde—to give Dawson the pass protection he needed while tackle Buck Buchanan, a 6-foot-7, 280-pounder and end Jerry Mays led the defensive line.

Bobby Bell was a standout at linebacker, as were the Chiefs' two safeties, Johnny Robinson and Bobby Hunt.

OPEN GOLF

Unknowns Share San Diego Lead

SAN DIEGO (AP) — A few weeks ago, Jeery Steelsmith of Santa Barbara, was ready to quit the pro tour and take a job as assistant teaching pro.

Not so many years ago, Dan Keefe, of Chatham, Mass., was making a good living as industrial advertising manager for a camera firm, with no thoughts of playing golf as a profession.

Today, these two men, obscure in a world of glamor and riches —have their fingers toying with the $13,200 first prize in the $66,000 San Diego Open golf tournament, first on the $4.5 million tour.

Steelsmith is leading the pack with a seven-under par 64 over the Stardust Country Club course, thanks to a flashy putter, which gave him an eagle and six birdies in the opening round.

Next to him, one stroke back at 65, is 25-year-old Randy Glover, who never has won a tour tournament. Then comes Keefe, a teaching pro from New England, tied with former PGA champion Bobby Nichols and Gay Brewer at 66.

PRETTY DISCOURAGED

"I was pretty discouraged and was getting ready to quit and go to work," said Steelsmith, a boyish-looking 31-year-old pro for nine years, who in 1966 earned only $2,083.13 and never finished higher than 28th in 20 tournaments.

But, just to show how such things work, Steelsmith married a girl who introduced a girl friend to PGA champion Al Geiberger.

Geiberger later married the the girl friend. He decided he owed Steelsmith a favor, so he got two Los Angeles businessmen, Mike McKeon and Gene Eichler, to put up money to keep the Californian on the tour.

Steelsmith's opening 64 — his best round ever on the pro tour —was his way of showing appreciation. "I am more relaxed, you don't know what it means to a guy to have this security," he said.

He ran in seven putts of 12 to 40 feet in getting an eagle and six birdies over the 6,783-yard, par-71 layout.

When Keefe, a bespectacled, nice - looking young man of 32, posted his 66, golf buffs started looking around for some material on him and found nothing. No wonder.

Keefe was a good golfer in high school but gave up the game when he went to Brown University, where he worked his way through college as a bartender and became a star in Ivy League hockey. Then he went into the advertising business.

$50 A WEEK

But golf was in his blood, and in 1961, he turned pro, serving at first at a municipal course, where he made $50 a week. He graduated to the swank Eastward Ho! Club in Chatham. Members there have let him play the winter tour in California and Florida for the past three years.

"It's tough on a club pro," Keefe said today. "I think it's nerves mostly. The club pro can not take the pressure."

Hardened touring pros were still in the thick of the fight with 56 players under par. Forty-six year old Tommy Bolt and young Lee Graham were tied at 67. There was a flock at 68, 69 and 70.

Geiberger was in the 69 group, and the other national champion in the field, U.S. Open winner Bill Casper, also defending champion here, was even-par 71.

Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus aren't playing.

HAPPY FRIDAY THE 13TH

Cal, Stanford Invade Lew-Land This Week

Two omens of ill fortune face the California basketball team today. It's Friday the 13th and time to visit Pauley Pavilion.

At Pauley, the Bears look up to Lew Alcindor, the 7-foot 1-inch sophomore who has been instrumental in bringing UCLA 10-0 record overall, the No. 1 ranking nationally, and a 2 - 0 mark in the Pacific-8.

With a couple of little guards, Russ Critchfield and Charlie Perkins, leading the attack,California has built a 7-3 overall mark and 1-1 in the conference. Critchfield stands just 5-10 and Perkins 6-2½ so it will be interesting to see what defense Coach Rene Herrerias has worked out for long Lew.

Stanford also travels to Los Angeles with Southern California the foe tonight and then into a game against UCLA. The Indians also boats a 2-0 league record but for the season are only 7-4.

While Stanford plays at UCLA on Saturday night, California meets USC, Washington State plays at Oregon and in the afternoon regionally televised game, Washington goes at Oregon State.

California's Critchfield has averaged 19 points a game and Perkins 19.5 but Alcindor has averaged 29.5 including 28 point in each of last weekend's opening league games against Washington State and Washington.

Southern California boasts a 1-2 punch with Bill Hewitt and sophomore Steve Jennings. Hewitt has averaged 23.3 and Jennings 14.7.

Stanford has five men in double figures paced by junior Art Harris, moved from guard to forward, who has hit at a 15.2 clip.

All-league guard Steve Woodward leads the Indians. Pat Shafer, who gunned in 28 points against Petaluma, is a strong rebounder and defender. Steve Johnson provides another shooting threat and Floyd Jakson is capable of breaking loose. Another returning starter, Mike Biber, is still seeing limited action due to an ankle injury.

Drake should have little trouble against Novato, despite a jittery offense. With 6-5 Jerry Sprout beginning to come into his own on offense, the Pirates pose a formidable threat. Sprout and Bob Don Alvarado pace a strong defense, while Chet Carlisle sports a 14-point season average.

Novato, 2-10 on the season, is led by John Howard, who has a 12-point scoring average for the season.

Terra Linda, drawing tonight's league bye, hosts Salesian High of Richmond, 8 o'clock in a non-league scrap.

USF To Give Pacific A Stiff Test

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

University of the Pacific takes a basketball test tonight which even this early could have a major bearing on the final outcome in the West Coast Athletic Conference.

Coach Dick Edwards' Tigers meet the invasion of the University of San Francisco Dons at Stockton. UOP's David Fox, who topped all scorers in opening games with 26 last week, draws a challenge from Dennis Black who had 24 for USF.

Still it will be Keith Swagerty and Bob Krulish, at 6-7 and 6-6 respectively, who will try to control the boards against the Dons whom they beat in the WCAC tournament finale last month.

UOP, Loyola, USF all go into the weekend slate with 1-0 conference record. The defending champion Tigers are 10-3 overall with Loyola posting the next best record at 7-4.

Tars Travel To Eureka

College of Marin's basketball team, with two straight Golden Valley Conference victories under its belt, will face a lengthy trip and two games against College of the Redwoods at Eureka this weekend.

The Tars will be meeting a team that is long on ball control and beef and low on scoring and victories.

Redwood is 0-2 in conference play having lost to Sierra, 36-40, and Yuba, 43-69. They play tonight and tomorrow night.

Fittingly for a lumber country team, Redwoods has some lumberjack personnel, especially in 6-5, 235--pound center Mike Rogers.

"They like to play a zone defense," College of Marin coach Cal Riemck said. "That could pose problems for our type of offense but then again we shot Santa Rosa out of their zone."

Riemcke had several things to be happy about after the Tars' easy 79-65 win over Santa Rosa.

"I like the way Russ Smith scored," Riemcke said. "We've known he could do it all along and that proved it."

Riemcke also praised Terry Overlid's consistent performances in the rebounding department. The slender, 6-3 forward battled for 12 rebounds. He had 16 against Shasta.

Bob Phillips, one of a trio of Tars' peppery guards, slipped a little in the scoring department, getting "only" 12 points, but held Santa Rosa's high scoring guard Bruce McNeely, who had been averaging close to 20 points a game, to 10 points, in addition to hauling in 11 rebounds. That's plenty for a 5-9 fellow.

"Generally, I like the way we've been playing together," Riemcke said. "They're not selfish and we're passing off for the good shots. We're working well together."

Riemcke will go with the same lineup of three guards and two forwards that has produced a 2-1 conference record. That will be Bill Pandiani, Phillips and Smith at guards and Overlid and Tom Stetson at forwards.

No Sellout For Super Bowl Sunday

tween NFL and AFL champions, a sellout had been expected at the 93,000-seat Los Angeles Coliseum. But 30,000 seats still are available and a sellout is unlikely.

Full house or not, the players will be battling for the biggest single payoff in the history of team competition. By comparison, the highest payoff for baseball's World Series was $12,794 by the 1963 Los Angeles Dodgers.

The Packers already have won some $8,500 for beating Dallas 34-27 in the NFL title game while the Chiefs grabbed $5,308 by beating Buffalo 31-7 in the AFL title game.

As in all title games, there will be a sudden death overtime period that will continue until one team scores if the clubs wind up tied at the end of regulation time.

Next to him, one stroke back at 65, is 25-year-old Randy Glover, who never has won a tour tournament. Then comes Keefe, a teaching pro from New England, tied with former PGA champion Bobby Nichols and Gay Brewer at 66.

PRETTY DISCOURAGED

"I was pretty discouraged and was getting ready to quit and go to work," said Steelsmith, a boyish-looking 31-year-old pro for nine years, who in 1966 earned only $2,083.13 and never finished higher than 28th in 20 tournaments.

But, just to show how such things work, Steelsmith married a girl who introduced a girl friend to PGA champion Al Geiberger.

Geiberger later married the the girl friend. He decided he owed Steelsmith a favor, so he got two Los Angeles businessmen, Mike McKeon and Gene Eichler, to put up money to keep the Californian on the tour.

Steelsmith's opening 64 — his best round ever on the pro tour —was his way of showing appreciation. "I am more relaxed, you don't know what it means to a guy to have this security," he said.

He ran in seven putts of 12 to 40 feet in getting an eagle and six birdies over the 6,783-yard, par-71 layout.

When Keefe, a bespectacled, nice - looking young man of 32, posted his 66, golf buffs started looking around for some material on him and found nothing. No wonder.

Keefe was a good golfer in high school but gave up the game when he went to Brown University, where he worked his way through college as a bartender and became a star in Ivy League hockey. Then he went into the advertising business.

$50 A WEEK

But golf was in his blood, and in 1961, he turned pro, serving at first at a municipal course, where he made $50 a week. He graduated to the swank Eastward Ho! Club in Chatham. Members there have let him play the winter tour in California and Florida for the past three years.

"It's tough on a club pro," Keefe said today. "I think it's nerves mostly. The club pro can not take the pressure."

Hardened touring pros were still in the thick of the fight with 56 players under par. Forty-six year old Tommy Bolt and young Lee Graham were tied at 67. There was a flock at 68, 69 and 70.

Geiberger was in the 69 group, and the other national champion in the field, U.S. Open winner Bill Casper, also defending champion here, was even-par 71.

Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus aren't playing.

HAPPY FRIDAY THE 13TH

Cal, Stanford Invade Lew-Land This Week

Two omens of ill fortune face the California basketball team today. It's Friday the 13th and time to visit Pauley Pavilion.

At Pauley, the Bears look up to Lew Alcindor, the 7-foot 1-inch sophomore who has been instrumental in bringing UCLA 10-0 record overall, the No. 1 ranking nationally, and a 2 - 0 mark in the Pacific-8.

With a couple of little guards, Russ Critchfield and Charlie Perkins, leading the attack, California has built a 7-3 overall mark and 1-1 in the conference. Critchfield stands just 5-10 and Perkins 6-2½ so it will be interesting to see what defense Coach Rene Herrerias has worked out for long Lew.

Stanford also travels to Los Angeles with Southern California the foe tonight and then into a game against UCLA. The Indians also boats a 2-0 league record but for the season are only 7-4.

While Stanford plays at UCLA on Saturday night, California meets USC, Washington State plays at Oregon and in the afternoon regionally televised game, Washington goes at Oregon State.

California's Critchfield has averaged 19 points a game and Perkins 19.5 but Alcindor has averaged 29.5 including 28 point in each of last weekend's opening league games against Washington State and Washington.

Southern California boasts a 1-2 punch with Bill Hewitt and sophomore Steve Jennings. Hewitt has averaged 23.3 and Jennings 14.7.

Stanford has five men in double figures paced by junior Art Harris, moved from guard to forward, who has hit at a 15.2 clip.

Mosquita is owned by Mrs. Inez R. James of Daly City.

Three League Games On Prep Cage Slate

All-league guard Steve Woodward leads the Indians. Pat Shafer, who gunned in 28 points against Petaluma, is a strong rebounder and defender. Steve Johnson provides another shooting threat and Floyd Jakson is capable of breaking loose. Another returning starter, Mike Biber, is still seeing limited action due to an ankle injury.

Drake should have little trouble against Novato, despite a jittery offense. With 6-5 Jerry Sprout beginning to come into his own on offense, the Pirates pose a formidable threat. Sprout and Bob Don Alvarado pace a strong defense, while Chet Carlisle sports a 14-point season average.

Novato, 2-10 on the season, is led by John Howard, who has a 12-point scoring average for the season.

Terra Linda, drawing tonight's league bye, hosts Salesian High of Richmond, 8 o'clock in a non-league scrap.

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

University of the Pacific takes a basketball test tonight which even this early could have a major bearing on the final outcome in the West Coast Athletic Conference.

Coach Dick Edwards' Tigers meet the invasion of the University of San Francisco Dons at Stockton. UOP's David Fox, who topped all scorers in opening games with 26 last week, draws a challenge from Dennis Black who had 24 for USF.

Still it will be Keith Swagerty and Bob Krulish, at 6-7 and 6-6 respectively, who will try to control the boards against the Dons whom they beat in the WCAC tournament finale last month.

UOP, Loyola, USF all go into the weekend slate with 1-0 conference record. The defending champion Tigers are 10-3 overall with Loyola posting the next best record at 7-4.

Tars Travel To Eureka

College of Marin's basketball team, with two straight Golden Valley Conference victories under its belt, will face a lengthy trip and two games against College of the Redwoods at Eureka this weekend.

The Tars will be meeting a team that is long on ball control and beef and low on scoring and victories.

Redwood is 0-2 in conference play having lost to Sierra, 36-40, and Yuba, 43-69. They play tonight and tomorrow night.

Fittingly for a lumber country team, Redwoods has some lumberjack personnel, especially in 6-5, 235--pound center Mike Rogers.

"They like to play a zone defense," College of Marin coach Cal Riemck said. "That could pose problems for our type of offense but then again we shot Santa Rosa out of their zone."

Riemcke had several things to be happy about after the Tars' easy 79-65 win over Santa Rosa.

"I like the way Russ Smith scored," Riemcke said. "We've known he could do it all along and that proved it."

Riemcke also praised Terry Overlid's consistent performances in the rebounding department. The slender, 6-3 forward battled for 12 rebounds. He had 16 against Shasta.

Bob Phillips, one of a trio of Tars' peppery guards, slipped a little in the scoring department, getting "only" 12 points, but held Santa Rosa's high scoring guard Bruce McNeely, who had been averaging close to 20 points a game, to 10 points, in addition to hauling in 11 rebounds. That's plenty for a 5-9 fellow.

"Generally, I like the way we've been playing together," Riemcke said. "They're not selfish and we're passing off for the good shots. We're working well together."

Riemcke will go with the same lineup of three guards and two forwards that has produced a 2-1 conference record. That will be Bill Pandiani, Phillips and Smith at guards and Overlid and Tom Stetson at forwards.

tween NFL and AFL champions, a sellout had been expected at the 93,000-seat Los Angeles Coliseum. But 30,000 seats still are available and a sellout is unlikely.

Full house or not, the players will be battling for the biggest single payoff in the history of team competition. By comparison, the highest payoff for baseball's World Series was $12,794 by the 1963 Los Angeles Dodgers.

The Packers already have won some $8,500 for beating Dallas 34-27 in the NFL title game while the Chiefs grabbed $5,308 by beating Buffalo 31-7 in the AFL title game.

As in all title games, there will be a sudden death overtime period that will continue until one team scores if the clubs wind up tied at the end of regulation time.

Rain Will Help Steelhead Fishing; Complaint Over Unborn Stripers

STEVENS

Bob Johnson phoned to tell me he had just returned from his place above Fort Bragg, and the only word he could use to describe the steelhead fishing was—"Stinko." Most streams were too low and too clear for much fishing.

"Only the few anglers who are experts in casting a gaudy fly without being seen by a lurking steelie, have made the grade," said Johnson. "I tried at the Noya and Ten Mile without even getting a rise on roe-berries, spinners or flies. I was told that some fish had been taken at the mouth of the Navarro (the Lagoon) and ditto the Garcia and the Gualala, but not many," he said.

STEELHEAD FISHING is governed by the conditions of the streams, so we may charge the present slow fishing in most of the coastal streams to a lack of rain. According to the weather report, rain is due for the weekend. If it does rain and not too hard, steelhead in all the coastal streams should be worthwhile. As usual, I caution you to get the current shape of the streams by calling a reliable source on the ground.

I MET A CHAP yesterday who was all hot and bothered over the "millions" of small shrimp that have been introduced into many waters where trout fishing (steelhead trout) was expected to pay off. I asked him what waters he had in mind. "Lake Berryessa and Shasta Lake," he replied, and claimed that the little shrimp have multiplied in those two bodies of water to the point where they are crowding the game fish out. That is the first complaint I have heard along that line.

A late report from Jim Roads of the Klamath River Guide Service is optimistic. Jim writes: "Klamath low and clear. A run of steelhead averaging around four pounds is on in the Happy Camp area. Weather is clear and cold. Temperature: days, high 40s—nights, low 30s."

SPEAKING OF complaints—I was put on the pan recently by a local critic. "You and all others who write on fishing claim to be conservationists. But, in my estimation, you are not. You keep publishing news of one certain area where fish—striped bass—are very active. You point the way to where the big fish may be found. Recently you wrote of three fishermen taking limits of bass, none of which was under 20 pounds, and at least a few of them close to 30 pounds. You know—or you should know—that a 20-pound female striped bass may carry well over 500,000 eggs. I know that one large bass carried over 2,000,000 eggs.

"Just suppose the nine fish caught by the men you mentioned in your column only averaged one-half million eggs. Then there were over four million potential bass that would not be born. I don't know the rate of survival, but even though it is only one per cent, it means that more bass are never born than are caught by all fishermen in the entire Bay and Delta regions."

THE SPEAKER PAUSED to catch his breath, and before I could say a word he continued: "It's about time some of you writers faced up to the truth."

I confess that I, for one, have never considered the harm that might result if the big spawners on their way to the spawning grounds were all caught. It's something to think about and talk about, wouldn't you say?

The FISHIN' FOOL

By RALPH STEVENS
I-J Fish and Game Writer

STEVENS

Bob Johnson phoned to tell me he had just returned from his place above Fort Bragg, and the only word he could use to describe the steelhead fishing was—"Stinko." Most streams were too low and too clear for much fishing.

"Only the few anglers who are experts in casting a gaudy fly without being seen by a lurking steelie, have made the grade," said Johnson. "I tried at the Noya and Ten Mile without even getting a rise on roe-berries, spinners or flies. I was told that some fish had been taken at the mouth of the Navarro (the Lagoon) and ditto the Garcia and the Gualala, but not many," he said.

STEELHEAD FISHING is governed by the conditions of the streams, so we may charge the present slow fishing in most of the coastal streams to a lack of rain. According to the weather report, rain is due for the weekend. If it does rain and not too hard, steelhead in all the coastal streams should be worthwhile. As usual, I caution you to get the current shape of the streams by calling a reliable source on the ground.

I MET A CHAP yesterday who was all hot and bothered over the "millions" of small shrimp that have been introduced into many waters where trout fishing (steelhead trout) was expected to pay off. I asked him what waters he had in mind. "Lake Berryessa and Shasta Lake," he replied, and claimed that the little shrimp have multiplied in those two bodies of water to the point where they are crowding the game fish out. That is the first complaint I have heard along that line.

A late report from Jim Roads of the Klamath River Guide Service is optimistic. Jim writes: "Klamath low and clear. A run of steelhead averaging around four pounds is on in the Happy Camp area. Weather is clear and cold. Temperature: days, high 40s—nights, low 30s."

SPEAKING OF complaints—I was put on the pan recently by a local critic. "You and all others who write on fishing claim to be conservationists. But, in my estimation, you are not. You keep publishing news of one certain area where fish—striped bass — are very active. You point the way to where the big fish may be found. Recently you wrote of three fishermen taking limits of bass, none of which was under 20 pounds, and at least a few of them close to 30 pounds. You know — or you should know—that a 20-pound female striped bass may carry well over 500,000 eggs. I know that one large bass carried over 2,000,000 eggs.

"Just suppose the nine fish caught by the men you mentioned in your column only averaged one-half million eggs. Then there were over four million potential bass that would not be born. I don't know the rate of survival, but even though it is only one per cent, it means that more bass are never born than are caught by all fishermen in the entire Bay and Delta regions."

THE SPEAKER PAUSED to catch his breath, and before I could say a word he continued: "It's about time some of you writers faced up to the truth."

I confess that I, for one, have never considered the harm that might result if the big spawners on their way to the spawning grounds were all caught. It's something to think about and talk about, wouldn't you say?

Redwood Area Promotions To Be Planned

Civic and business leaders from nine Redwood Empire counties will gather in Tiburon next Thursday and Friday to chart a course for merchandising the region to travelers, industrialists and second-home buyers during 1967.

The occasion is the quarterly executive board session of the Redwood Empire Assn., headed by Pres. Edwin A. Frediani, San Francisco attorney.

In a preliminary caucus Thursday morning, the ways and means committee, headed by Thomas P. Ludcke will crystallize program recommendations for the next day's board meeting. That afternoon delegates and wives will explore Marin County tourist attractions in a chartered bus.

Business meetings will open at 9:30 a.m. Friday in the Tiburon Lodge, according to Elias Day, Pacific Gas and Electric Co. North Bay Division manager, who is county chairman for the association. Items for action include:

1. Implementing the 1967 publicity-advertising promotion programs within the framework of REA's 1966-67 budget, now over the $140,000 level.
2. Consideration of a sports and vacation show exhibit this year in major western travel-market areas.
3. Employment of a staff field-service representative to cooperate more fully in expanding local special events, membership relations and special participation in sports and vacation shows.

Friday's luncheon, at the Corinthian Yacht Club, will be jointly sponsored by REA, Marin County Chamber of Commerce, Marin Visitors Bureau, and Tiburon Chamber of Commerce.

Speaker will be Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, whose topic is "the imperative need for increased community, county and regional cooperation in the Redwood Empire" during the new Legislature.

Fences To Hide The Short Skirts

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Fences will be built around jury boxes in the San Francisco Hall of Justice to hide female legs exposed by short skirts.

Assistant city architect John Devitt said yesterday $7,000 would be spent to build wooden baffle screens two feet, eight inches tall in front of the jury boxes.

"If the mini skirt fads continue, maybe we'll eventually have to build them higher," Devitt said.

Finance Report Due Trustees

The board will not meet on its regularly scheduled meeting date next Thursday.

Deadline For Pay Raises Approaches In San Rafael

If San Rafael's four elected city employees want pay increases this year, they must secure them soon.

Their raises must be granted by ordinance passed by the city council and they may not be granted for the term of office being served.

City Atty. David Menary, who is one of the four, said the ordinance granting new salaries must be introduced sometime in February, 45 days before the new or re-elected officials take office.

The positions and salaries in question are Police Chief Charles J. Chiesa, $10,800 a year; Clerk W. C. Cornwell, $10,200; Treasurer Angelina J. Soldavini, $9,000 and Menary, $6,600.

City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen said he has asked the four what changes they think should be made in their salaries, which were increased prior to start of the present terms four years ago.

Warden On Show

Warden Lawrence W. Wilson of San Quentin Prison will be the guest on "Encounter" on television station KPIX (channel 5) at 10 a.m. Sunday.

General Services Deputy Is Named

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Reagan has named Edward B. Hutchinson, 36, Palo Alto, to the $22,000 post of deputy director of the State General Services Department.

Hutchinson, who replaces resigned John H. Stanford, is a former area governor of the United Republicans of California and directed transportation for American Christmas Train and Trucks — a Vietnam relief program.

The occasion is the quarterly executive board session of the Redwood Empire Assn., headed by Pres. Edwin A. Frediani, San Francisco attorney.

In a preliminary caucus Thursday morning, the ways and means committee, headed by Thomas P. Ludcke will crystallize program recommendations for the next day's board meeting. That afternoon delegates and wives will explore Marin County tourist attractions in a chartered bus.

Business meetings will open at 9:30 a.m. Friday in the Tiburon Lodge, according to Elias Day, Pacific Gas and Electric Co. North Bay Division manager, who is county chairman for the association. Items for action include:

1. Implementing the 1967 publicity-advertising promotion programs within the framework of REA's 1966-67 budget, now over the $140,000 level.

2. Consideration of a sports and vacation show exhibit this year in major western travel-market areas.

3. Employment of a staff field-service representative to cooperate more fully in expanding local special events, membership relations and special participation in sports and vacation shows.

Friday's luncheon, at the Corinthian Yacht Club, will be jointly sponsored by REA, Marin County Chamber of Commerce, Marin Visitors Bureau, and Tiburon Chamber of Commerce.

Speaker will be Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, whose topic is "the imperative need for increased community, county and regional cooperation in the Redwood Empire" during the new Legislature.

Fences To Hide The Short Skirts

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Fences will be built around jury boxes in the San Francisco Hall of Justice to hide female legs exposed by short skirts.

Assistant city architect John Devitt said yesterday $7,000 would be spent to build wooden baffle screens two feet, eight inches tall in front of the jury boxes.

"If the mini skirt fads continue, maybe we'll eventually have to build them higher," Devitt said.

Deadline For Pay Raises Approaches In San Rafael

If San Rafael's four elected city employees want pay increases this year, they must secure them soon.

Their raises must be granted by ordinance passed by the city council and they may not be granted for the term of office being served.

City Atty. David Menary, who is one of the four, said the ordinance granting new salaries must be introduced sometime in February, 45 days before the new or re-elected officials take office.

The positions and salaries in question are Police Chief Charles J. Chiesa, $10,800 a year; Clerk W. C. Cornwell, $10,200; Treasurer Angelina J. Soldavini, $9,000 and Menary, $6,600.

City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen said he has asked the four what changes they think should be made in their salaries, which were increased prior to start of the present terms four years ago.

Frantic Warnings Avert Fire Deaths

"It looked like an atom bomb," one witness said.

Nearly four hours after the explosion and fire there were no reports of deaths or serious injuries. Several hundred persons were evacuated from the eight-black area, many roused by two policement who raced from door to door alerting sleeping occupants to a gas leak.

Fast work by the two officers apparently averted a major tragedy, although five buildings, including a 24 family apartment were destroyed by the flames and searing heat. Another 20 were damaged, some heavily.

The fire in the Queens area, 10 miles from the heart of Manhattan, was touched off by a series of underground explosions about 5:30 a.m. EST.

Police officers Francis Keating and Jack O'Connor saw gas seeping "glowing gold" from a manhole, at a three-way intersection, sounded a general fire alarm, and began their dramatic dash to awake the sleeping residents of the area.

Fifteen minutes later, a 24 inch gas main burst. A ball of flames rolled down both sides of 101st Avenue, as firemen and policemen outran the fire to safety. Two large fire trucks were incinerated.

Thirteen alarms were sounded for the fire. More than 1,000 city firemen battled the blaze, but were unable to get close because of the intense heat. One fire company poured chemicals and water from the roof of a six-story school building on the fringe of the blaze.

It took utility companies several hours to pinpoint the gas leaks and shut them off. Streets were torn up as crews rushed to isolate the seeping gas, but assistant fire captain Charles McKeough said "if the gas is turned off too fast, there is the danger that we might spring a leak somewhere else, then we'd really be in trouble."

"It was a miracle hundreds weren't killed," said Sgt. William Finnan, an 11 year fire department veteran. "It's the worst fire I've ever seen Thank God we were able to get the people out of their houses before they caught fire or blew up."

The explosion apparently occurred in an air flow device which traps moisture collecting in the gas line.

Education Quality Vs. Cutbacks

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Gov. Ronald Reagan's 10 per cent slash in the state budget could result in a decline in quality or new limits on enrollment in California's colleges and universities, considered among the finest in the nation.

Reagan, making good on his inaugural pledge to "squeeze, cut and trim" state expenditures, announced his across-the-board budget increase yesterday.

The cuts apply to all regular state agencies, the nine-campus University of California, and the 18-campus California State College System.

The heads of both the university and the state colleges —which between them have an enrollment of more than 250,000, largest in the world, said the cuts would result in either a decline in quality or new limits on enrollment.

University President Clark Kerr hoped some of the cut would be restored. If not, he said, the university will have to trim either quality or quantity of its program.

State College Chancellor Glenn S. Dumke, who already has ordered a freeze on new admissions, said the colleges would turn away students if necessary rather than "increase faculty workloads and class sizes."

Reagan announced the austerity program at a cabinet meeting attended by Kerr and Dumke. The session lasted less than 30 minutes and Reagan and his staff did all the talking.

He said the budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1 will

Board Picks Tomales For High School Site

Tomales High School District will build its new school in or near Tomales, with first choice being the Romeo Cerini property east of the community.

High school district trustees voted for this action unanimously last night, on motion of chairman Roy A. Parks, to end long discussion over location of a school to be financed through a $900,000 bond issue which will be placed before voters Feb. 28.

Advocates of a location in the Point Reyes Station-Olema area—the south end of the district which spans the Marin-Sonoma line—were given a sop with another unanimous vote calling for state study of three sites there as possibility in case the district later builds a second school.

The Cerini property, east of the Tomales Elementary School, was No. 1 choice of the State Department of Public Instruction, which made a study of sites submitted to it by the Tomales selection committee. Parks' motion last night accepted this.

Designated as other possibilities, however, were property between Cerini's and the Tomales Elementary School, a site east of the Cerini property owned by Romeo Sartori, and the present high school site.

The district is seeking 30 to 40 acres for the new school. There is only 5.8 acres in the present site, but the committee said it might be expanded to about 15 useable acres through purchase of adjoining property.

The board designated Parks and trustee Joseph Tremari to investigate this along with the other three sites. Architects Richard C. Marshall and Chester Bowles Jr. were authorized to have geological tests made of all four sites and report on development costs. Parks and Tremari are to find out how much

Novato Man Is Booked; Shooting Baffles Officers

Police booked a Novato man on suspicion of assault with intent to kill, but said they were baffled as to what happened.

Matt Cernac Jr., 43, of Apartment 301, was found by police lying face up at 1:30 a.m. in a hallway between his living room and bathroom. A bullet had entered the right eye. Police found a .22-caliber automatic pistol near the body.

Cernac was taken to Marin General Hospital, where his condition was reported as critical after four hours' surgery.

TITLE EXAMINER

Booked at county jail was John W. Frederick, 36, of 50 Sullivan Lane, Novato, a title examiner with the Marin Title Guarantee Co., San Rafael. Police said he had called them to the scene.

Police said they were unable to pinpoint what happened because Frederick refused to make a statement. Cernac had not regained consciousness.

"It could have been a suicide attempt, an accident or a deliberate shooting," said Sgt. James Carlton, one of the investigating officers.

UNABLE TO TALK

Carlton and Patrolman Donald Merkley answered a call to police headquarters by Frederick, who asked that an officer be sent to the Lincoln Avenue address. They found Frederick standing outside in the street. He led them to the apartment.

Carlton said the bullet shattered upon entering the head. A large fragment exited at the temple, he said, leaving a small porton still inside the head.

Cernac was semi-conscious at the time but unable to talk, the policeman reported.

Carlton said Frederick refused to talk and called his lawyer, Joseph A. Dahlman, who went to police headqaurters and counseled him to remain silent.

Booked at the county jail, Frederick was held in lieu of $55,000 bail set by Judge Alvin H. Goldstetin Jr. this morning in Marin Municipal Court.

Taipei Bags Two MIGs

TAIPEI (UPI) — Nationalist Chinese air force jets shot down two Communist MIG19s over the Formosa Strait today in the first air battle in the area in six years, the Defense Ministry announced.

The Ministry said the air battle took place this afternoon when the MIGs opened fire on Nationalist patrol planes northeast of the island of Quemoy, just off the Chinese mainland.

A spokesman said four Nationalist jets encountered 12 MIGs flying in three waves and that two MIGs were shot down without Nationalist loss in the brief airbattle. The Nationalists fly American-made F100 Supersabres.

A spokesman declined to say whether the air battle meant any change in the placid situation in the Formosa Straight but military observers said it may be a prelude to increased tension in the area because of the mammoth power struggle raging in Red China.

Auto Kills Novatan Flagging Down Bus

Greyhound Driver Steps Into Motorist's Path

A 27-year-old Greyhound Bus driver, waiting on Highway 101 for a ride to work, was killed instantly this morning just north of the Black Point cutoff.

California Highway Patrolman Robert K. Richter said Buckingham was killed at 6:30 a.m. when he stepped onto the highway to flag down a southbound bus.

The driver of the car that struck Buckingham — Francis Fullam, 22, of 11 Boulevard Court, Novato — told Richter that he and his passenger, Calvin Shafer of 33 Grove Lane, Novato, had used a jack to raise the car, but were unable to extricate Buckingham's body.

Fullam said he was driving south in the curb lane at about 60 miles per hour when he saw Buckingham about 80 feet away, standing on the shoulder of the road and facing north. A moment later, Fullam told Richter, Buckingham stepped into the highway, trying to flag down a bus in the faster lane.

Fullam said he applied his brakes, but was unable to stop in time.

Asst. County Coroner Eugene R. Fontaine said death was instantaneous.

Buckingham's death was the third traffic fatality in Marin this year, as compared to two by the same date last year.

Patrolman Richter said skidmarks bore out Fullam's account and that an inspection of Fullam's car showed no mechanical or other defect.

Buckingham is survived by his wife, Floris Lorraine, and their two children, Larry Allen, 5, and Elise Laverne, 2.

Secondary Airfields Bombed

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. warplanes knocked out North Vietnam's secondary airfields with a little-known series of bombing raids, sources said today. The raids apparently were halted sometime last year.

The United States has ruled only four major jet-capable bases in the Hanoi-Haiphong area off limits, the sources said.

In 1965 and 1966 American strikes devastated five allweather air strips which the Communists could have used in a pinch for the operation of their small fleet of Soviet-made MIG fighters.

Twenty-nine bombing raids unleashed hundreds of tons of explosives in 1965 against bases at the former French stronghold of Dien Bien Phu, 180 miles west of Hanoi; at the coastal city of Vinh, about 200 miles north of the demilitarized zone; at Na San, 100 miles west of Hanoi; and at Dong Hoi, another coastal town only 40 miles north of the DMZ.

Last year U.S. Jets clobbered Dien Bien Phu again after Communist construction teams had almost completed repairs; another strip at Phu Tho, 50 miles northwest of Hanoi in the heavily defended Red River valley was attacked.

The Phu Tho strip was a new base. U.S. planes waited until construction was almost finished, then streaked in with a destructive bombing sweep.

"Finally they gave up trying to repair them," a Pentagon spokesman said today.

At last report the fields, which could accommodate the supersonic MIG fighters, were still largely useless.

Workers Pouring Into Peking Area

TOKYO (AP) — A Japanese correspondent reported from Peking today that Red Chinese workers, including both supporters and opponents of Mao Tse-tung, are pouring into the capital.

A correspondent for the newspaper Yomiuri telephoned his paper that more than one million workers had already arrived in Peking and more are coming in daily.

Japanese newsmen reported that wall posters in Peking said Mao has returned to Peking to take personal command in his struggle against the faction headed by President Liu Shao-chi.

Baker Trial Jury Hears Martinelli

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A California lawyer testified today he paid $5,000 to Wayne L. Bromley, portrayed as the funnel through which money flowed to Robert G. Bobby) Baker, after government approval of a charter for a new national bank.

The testimony in Baker's trial came as the government produced four witnesses who said they had sent $36,500 in legal fees to Bromley at a Washington office the government says he shared with Baker.

After the testimony by Roderick P. Martinelli of San Rafael, U.S. District Judge Oliver Gasch recessed the trial until 8:45 a.m. Monday.

The jury will remain locked up during the weekend, but Gasch told the jurors the trial might be concluded in three weeks rather than the two months he estimated earlier.

Martinelli, who represented organizers of Redwood National Bank, said he was told by Washington contacts to see Bromley in connection with the bank's application for a charter, filed with the U.S. comptroller of the currency. The charter was approved Jan. 4, 1963.

The government contends that the money sent to Bromley's office wound up in Baker's bank accounts and no income tax was paid on it.

The payments to Bromley were brought out in the fifth day of the trial of the one-time Senate Democratic secretary on charges of income tax evasion, larceny and fraud.

The money was reported paid as legal fees for Bromley, who became the center of controversy earlier in the trial. Baker's lawyer accused the government of using Bromley as a "walking bug" to gather evidence on Baker.

Eight members of Congress appeared in U.S. District Court yesterday at the invitation of the Justice Department to give evidence on whether they had received any 1962 campaign contributions from Baker, the former Senate Democratic secretary.

All said they received nothing from Baker from the $66,300 in cash two California savings and loan officials testified they had given him for such purposes.

U.S. Artillery Barrage Kills Eight Yanks

SAIGON (UPI) —Shells from American 155-millimeter howitzers blasting Communist positions in the Iron Triangle in a creeping barrage hit a company of the U. S. 1st Infantry Division by accident today, killing eight men and wounding 34.

An American spokesman blamed the Friday the 13th tragedy on a plotting error by the men who control the big artillery pieces.

The tragedy in the biggest operation of the Vietnamese war came shortly after the Army announced the opening of a new phase of the war in the Mekong Delta—establishment of the first permanent American camp in the Communist stronghold.

Ten rounds of high explosives hit a company of the 1st Battalion, 28th Infantry Regiment at 3:30 p.m. as the Big Red One swept forward in

Brezhnev Flays Hanoi Bombings

MOSCOW (AP) — Leonid I. Brezhnev charged today that the United States had bombed residential sections of Hanoi and thereby placed new obstacles in the way of a Vietnamese peace.

"Who will believe Washington's calls for peace in Vietnam now, if these calls are accompanied by provocative actions which aggravate the situation and raise new obstacles to settling the conflict?" he asked.

Brezhnev spoke in Gorky, an industrial city on the Volga River. Excerpts from his remarks were carried by Tass, the official Soviet news agency.

Negro Summit In Powell Case

NEW YORK (AP) — Civil rights leader A. Philip Randolph says he intends to call a "Negro summit conference" to consider possible action against congressmen responsible for Rep. Adam Clayton Powell's congressional troubles.

Randolph

Powell was ousted from his House committee chairmanship Tuesday and has been deprived—at least temporarily—of his seat in the 90th Congress.

Randolph, president of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, said yesterday he believed the congressional action against the Harlem Negro congressman "reflected the greatest crisis in Negro-white relations."

The over-all aim of the conference, Randolph said, would be to re-examine and revise Negro strategy against what he termed "the white power structure."

Army In Power In Tiny Togo

COTONOU, Dahomey (AP) — The tiny coffee-growing land of Togo had its second coup in four years today with the army reporting seizure of all civil powers.

The takeover was announced in a broadcast from Lome, the Togolese capital, by the army chief of staff, Lt. Col. Etienne Guassingre Eyadema. He warned the public to refrain from any political demonstrations and ordered all public offices closed for the day.

Grunitsky

Informed sources in neighboring Dahomey said President Nicolas Grunitsky resigned during the night. There were no reports of violence but a blackout of the radio-telephone circuit to Paris prevented any check on the situation.

Eyadema reportedly has been carrying on a running dispute with Grunitsky about the budget for his 1,200-man army. The army chief played a key role in the January 1964 coup when one of his soldiers assassinated Sylvanus Olympio, Togo's first president and a brother-in-law of Grunitsky.

Aluminum Producers Defy Plea

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's four major aluminum producers have posted price increases despite a government request that they defer the action "on grounds of the important national interest involved."

Gardner Ackley, chairman of President Johnson's Council of Economic Advisers, promptly criticized the price hikes as "untimely and unnecessary in view of the industry's continually improved earnings."

Ackley

Olin Mathieson boosted the price of primary aluminum ingot and billet by 1 cent a pound to 25½ cents and of fabricated products by 1½ cents a pound.

Reynolds also posted a 1-cent-a-pound increase on ingot and said appropriate adjustments will be made in fabricated product prices. Aluminum Corp. of America and Kaiser each raised ingot prices by one-half cent a pound to 25 cents.

Window Artist Is Found Slain

Police said the victim was Theodore Young, 40, owner of Young's Displays of Monterey.

Inspector Al Tibaldi said Young was beaten on the head with a poker. Young was clad in an undershirt, trousers and sandals with his hands bound at his waist by strips of white linen.

The three-bedroom home was rifled but nothing apparently was stolen, Inspector Tibaldi said.

'Howlin' Mad' Gen. Holland Smith Dies

GEN. HOLLAND SMITH
Amphibious exponent

He suffered a heart attack Nov. 14 and had been in critical condition at Balboa Naval Hospital since Dec. 13.

In 1905, he applied for a commission in the Army, but was turned down because there were no vacancies. When told the Marine Corps had vacancies, Smith asked, "What are the Marines?"

He was told — and then he joined.

Two wars and 41 years later, Gen. Smith retired, wearing the Distinguished Service Medal.

His "Howlin' Mad" nickname came from his outbursts at men who didn't follow instructions and machines that didn't work.

Just before World War II, he took a Marine brigade to Cuba for seven months of amphibious training, and then returned to train other Marine units and the Army in the art of amphibious warfare.

Troops trained in his methods were successful in Europe and the Pacific, and played a major role in the war.

Smith was born on April 20, 1882 at Seale, Ala., and received a law degree from the University of Alabama.

His son, Rear Adm. John Victor Smith, is a graduate of the U.S. Naval Academy and is attached to the Pentagon.

Variance Requested

The Marin County Zoning Administrator Monday will consider the request of Bender Roofing Co. for a variance to allow construction of a hime on a 6,400 square foot building site (7,500 square feet required) on Calle del Arroyo at Stinson Beach. The hearing will begin at 2 p. m. at the Civic Center.

'Ugliest' LBJ Portrait On Display

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)--The presidential portrait that drew the scorn of Lyndon B. Johnson went on public display here today. About 400 persons had a sneak preview last night.

Members and guests of the Columbus Gallery of Fine Arts viewed the work by artist Peter Hurd and no one found it quite as objectionable as the President. Hurd said Johnson called it "the ugliest thing I ever saw."

The formally attired gallery members and their guests crowded the room where the portrait was displayed. About 200 other works by the 62-year-old artist were being exhibited in other rooms.

"I'd like to see all this publicity come to an end so all can be forgotten," said Hurd.

Hurd was quoted last night as saying he has had about 20 offers for the portrait, the most recent a bid of $16,000 from St. Louis businessman William Ernst. The artist had asked $12,000 plus expenses.

At the showing here, Hurd was quoted as saying he "doesn't want to profiteer," and still plans to sell it to the Smithsonian Institution.

Budget Meeting

The Larkspur Teachers Assn. will consider next year's budget and discuss plans for summer school Monday at 3:45 p. m. at Henry C. Hall School.

Thousands Due New $1.40 Wage Minimum On Feb. 1

The minimum will go to $1.40 for those covered by the law who are now making a minimum of $1.25.

At the same time, about 8 million more workers will be brought under the law for the first time, starting at $1 per hour.

But the first-step hike won't mean wage increases for all those covered. Most already are making at least the amount of the new minimums.

Congress enacted the new wage minimums last fall. The second step, bringing the minimum to $1.60 for the almost 30 million workers previously covered, will go into effect Feb. 1, 1968.

For the new workers brought under the law, the minimum starts at $1 per hour next month and goes up in annual steps to $1.15; $1.30; $1.45 and $1.60 by Feb. 1, 1971. It also requires time and one-half pay for overtime.

The newly covered workers include those in some laundry and dry cleaning businesses, construction, hospitals, nursing homes and schools, hotels, motels and restaurants. It also brings some farm workers under the minimum wage provisions for the first time.

The increases are the first since 1963, when the minimum wage went up from $1.15 to $1.25 per hour.

Hollis Tells Why School Taxes High

Marin County's preoccupation with residential development—rather than industrial—was one reason put forward yesterday by Virgil S. Hollis, county superintendent of schools, for high school taxes.

"This controlled development has been nice, but it has been expensive," he said. "The point is that restricted residential development does not pay its own way as far as school taxes are concerned. The Dixie School District is a prime example."

Hollis was speaking on "Who's to Blame for High Taxes?" at a meeting of San Rafael Kiwanis Club in the Mission Inn.

Noting that money raised for education was determined in a large measure by assessed valuation, he stressed that in areas such as Marin which had grown rapidly in the past 10 years, growth by iyself had created problems.

Even if the cost of educating an individual child had remained constant during this growth period, tax rate increases provided the only way to raise money to offset an ever-declining assessed wealth per child, he said.

But educational costs did not remain constant, and the condition was aggravated as the population grew with only expensive residential development to support it.

According to the "Collier Factor" computed by the state of California, state funding to school districts was adjusted to compensate for a county's variation in assessment from the state-wide average.

Hollis predicted that as a result, the next three years would see an adverse effect upon the tax rates in Marin for school purposes.

"While a reduction in state apportionment will result in this deterioration, statutes provide the loss may be recovered by the imposition of a county-wide tax.

"Thus the more we lose by under-assessment on a comparative basis to the rest of the state, the more local taxes will increase to recover the loss," said Hollis.

State legislation had an adverse effect on local taxes in the area of mandated programs," he said.

Recently, the state ordered a state-wide testing program which was, in some cases, more extensive than many districts were already doing, he said. "No money was forthcoming to meet the legislative mandate and the local taxpayer was forced to pick up the tab."

Looking to the future, he said that without a real breakthrough in the method of financing education, authorities will be hard-pressed to provide students with adequate facilities in higher education in the next 20 years.

He told his audience: "School taxes are main taxes upon which you have an opportunity to register your opinion directly. The statutory limis on the taxing power of school districts—unchanged for many years—may, in the final analysis, be a blessing in disguise."

Right Jobs Are Hard To Locate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Retired military men usually get jobs soon after leaving the service, but private research shows their military training is neither as great an asset nor liability as various beliefs would indicate.

A study by the Bureau of Social Science Research says officers have a tougher time getting the job they want than do enlisted men, apparently because they aspire to jobs at the business-managerial level. The enlisted men frequently take positions in the skilled trades.

The study, based on experiences of 3,000 persons retired in 1964 or earlier, concluded that the vast majority landed jobs soon after military retirement even if it wasn't always the job they wanted.

Operation Cedar Falls which already has killed or captured more than 400 Communists with only light losses, and captured tons of war material.

It was the first such incident of the operation involving 30,000 or more troops although B-52 strategic bombers hit Communist positions only a mile ahead of the advancing troops and jet fighter-bomber struck as close as a few hundred yards, in the area 30 miles north of Saigon.

The company was advancing today behind a creeping barrage which moves gradually forward toward the Communist positions as the infantry men follow But the 10 rounds fell short through some miscalculation and inflicted almost as many casualties as the Viet Cong have been able to.

A spokesman said about 1,000 U.S. troops including engineers, signal elements and security forces had established the first U.S Mekong base at Dong Tan on the My Tho River five miles southwest of My Tho. It is a swampy, snake infested area that has been a Viet Cong lair for 20 years.

The base is about 30 miles southwest of Saigon.

The Vietnamese government now has about 40,000 troops in the Delta, where the Viet Cong is said to control 60 per cent of the area by day and more after nightfall.

Many Vietnamese opposed the move, fearful that civilian casualties would rise because of massive American firepower. Among the opponents was Fourth Corps Commander Lt. Gen. Dang Van Quang, who recently was relieved of command. Prime Minister Nguyen Cao Ky favored use of American forces in the Delta. He said they were needed not only in battle, but to help win friends.

Tot Park Lot Recommended

The Marinwood Park and Recreation Commission last night recommended development of a tot lot on land owned by the Marinwood Community Services District on Las Gallinas Avenue adjacent to Miller Creek School.

The commission accepted a $100 donation from the Marinwood Garden Club for planting, set a 9:30 a.m. tour tomorrow to inspect the need for pool improvements, and approved a Jan. 28 ski trip and a Feb. 4 Mardi Gras dance and midnight supper at the community center, Recreation Director William Gordon reported.

Cars Parts Stolen

Someone entered his storage yard Wednesday night at Hoag Avenue and Mill Street, San Rafael, by scaling the fence and cutting the barbed wire at the top, then stole $300 worth of parts from a foreign sports car, yard owner Aldo Barsotti told police yesterday.

Span Board Extends Bus Study

Directors of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District today authorized their engineer Arthur C. Jenkins to continue part-time services to the Marin Transit District so that the district can come to a speedy conclusion on bus service across the span.

Jenkins estimated he would be able to complete his report in about 30 days. There was opposition to the move from director F. C. Keonoudakis of San Francisco who foresaw the possibility of a conflict of interest because one transit proposal envisions a bridge district subsidy to make the transit district operatable. However, the majority of the board voted to let Jenkins continue the work he's been doing for the past six months.

In a year end report general manager James Adam said that a new record for traffic was established in 1966. A total of 27,847,976 vehicles used the bridge during the year an increase of 7.1 per cent over 1965, meaning that about 5,000 more cars are using the bridge each day than a year ago.

A significant statistic was that commute buses declined 6.7 per cent during the month of December although automobile traffic in general went up 5.9 per cent in the same month.

Trustee Files Election Papers

Incumbent Thomas A. Skornia of 105 Camino Bueno, Ross, filed a petition yesterday with the Marin County School's Office for election to the Marin Junior College Board in April.

Skornia was appointed to the board Dec. 8, after the November election enlarged the board membership from five to seven.

Larkspur School District trustee Mrs. Cornelia J. Perrone, who was appointed to the board in 1965, announced her candidacy for election in April at last night's board meeting.

Burglars Take Liquor, Change

Burglars stole two bottles of liquor and $1 in change from the home of Dreda Virginia Grambow at 325 Goodhill Road, Kent Woodlands, sheriff's officers said today.

Entry apparently was through an open front door.

Deputies said someone broke a window of the home of Charles J. Lutz at 522 Northern Avenue, Tamalpais Valley, but apparently was frightened away without entering.

reflect "a normal workload, less about 10 per cent."

The budget for the current fiscal year is $4.6 billion, largest of any state. Inflation and population growth, without any new programs, would push the budget for the next year to about $5 billion. Reagan said the 10 per cent cut would be applied to the $5 billion budget projection.

After the cabinet meeting, Reagan met for 90 minutes with Smith, Kerr, and a six-member committee from the University Board of regents.

The governor urged the regents to impose a tuition to replace the reduction in state aid. He said he would prefer a tuition to cut in either quality or enrollment.

But both Kerr and Dumke have consistently opposed any change in traditional "no tuition" policy of the university and the colleges.

The tuition proposed has brought angry protests from students and faculty throughout the state. University students now pay $275 a year in special fees and state college students pay $130.

Phoner Gives His Identity

Sheriff's officers today said identity of a man who twice telephoned threats against SFO Helicopter Airlines has been learned.

They said the man, who first telephoned an airlines employee in Oakland on Jan. 4 with threat of shooting helicopters coming too near his house, made a second threat the next day, and identified himself.

He was questioned on his houseboat at Gate 5, Marinship, officers said, but declared he intended no harm. Deputies said he is a possible mental case. No immediate action was taken.

Robert Angle Resigns Bel Marin Rec Post

Robert Angle resigned last night from the Bel Marin Community Services District Park and Recreation commission. The district board will appoint a successor at its February meeting.

A $25 reward was announced for information leading to the recovery of a stone lion stolen recently from the rear of the Bel Marin Keys community center.

Jury Says Guilty On Check Charge

A Marin Superior Court jury at noon today found James Allen Calkins, 22, of San Jose, guilty of possession of a check with intent to defraud. Jurors deliberated two hours.

A co-defendant, Gilbert Lucas Bernal, also 22, and from San Jose, earlied pleaded guilty to the charge. The pair attempted to cash a worthless $126 check at Value World in Larkspur Oct. 8. Both will be sentenced Feb. 6.

$350,000 Suit In Traffic Death Of Tot

The traffic death of a 2-year-old San Francisco boy and injury of his mother resulted in filing of a $350,000 damage suit in Marin Superior Court today.

Jarlath and Irish O'Connor, parents of Stephen O'Connor, asks $150,000 for his death. Mrs. O'Connor also asks $300,000 for back and other injuries she suffered.

They accuse the State of California and Fisk, Firenze and McLean Inc., contractors, San Carlos, with impropjer repair of Highway 101 one mile south of the Sonoma County line.

The car containing Mrs. O'Connor, who was driving, and Stephen swerved into a dirt ditch at the highway's center, July 19, according to California Highway Patrol, then turned over.

Stephen was thrown from the car and crushed to death beneath it.

The three southern sites added for possible future use are the Baty property on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard east of Olema, and Martinelli property on Shoreline Highway a mile north of Point Reyes Station, and a portion of the Shafter property adjacent to Point Reyes National Seashore.

The board appointed Parks to prepare the argument in favor of the bond issue for the ballot.

The Tomales High School District board also named trustees N. Louise Passalaqua, Jean A. Adams and Parks to interview the staff regarding charges which were made against some members more than a month ago. This was done after a closed session to discuss how to handle the charges.

Probert Takes Gavel Of Mosquito Board

Hildred B. Probert of Larkspur was elected president of Marin County Mosquito Abatement District board of trustees yesterday. Harold Henry of Mill Valley was named vice president, and Clifton C. Cordes of Fairfax was elected secretary.

Dist. Mgr. G. Paul Jones told trustees that salt marsh mosquitoes have been found in all the Marin and Sonoma reclaimed marshlands. The species will be in its aquatic stage until March 15, and district employees will spray the pests using hand equipment, jeeps and aircraft, said Jones.

On the site of Lake Tequesquitengo, Mexico, a town once existed but it began to sink and was finally submerged.

Ross Council Votes For Widening Stretch Of Sir Francis Drake

Ross Town Council last night approved preliminary plans for widening Sir Francis Drake Boulevard to four lanes from the north end of the Corte Madera Creek Bridge to the San Anselmo city line.

The project is designed to eliminate a traffic bottleneck at the intersection of the boulevard with Bolinas and Winship avenues.

Town Engineer Philip B. Lygren said the plans calls for two through lanes northbound and two through lanes southbound and a center median strip. The area for the widening would be taken from the west side of the present boulevard, Lygren said.

Consulting Engineer Roy Hoffman reported that 18 trees within the right-of-way will have to be removed under the landscaping plan of William L. Kapranos, landscape architect.

There are 15 trees within the future median strip, he said, and it is recommended that eight of these be retained and seven be removed. He said trees removed from the median will be replaced by five "large specimen trees."

Councilmen agreed that the council's streets and parks committee should meet with Kapranos on landscaping plans.

The council authorized Whitelow, Hoffman and Albritton, consulting engineers, to prepare final plans at a cost of $4,800.

Councilmen also approved a five-year urban thoroughfare agreement with Marin County whereby the county contributes a portion of its gasoline tax revenue to cities on a matching basis.

Mayor Frederick S. Allen noted that the city could not accomplish the Sir Francis Drake Boulevard widening project without the agreement.

The Ross Town Council also;

1. Postoned action on a request by Tele-Vue Systems to increase its rate from 10 to 50 cents a foot for cable connection to houses more than 150 feet from the splice-off point, usually the nearest street pole. The company contended that the 10-cent figure in its contract with the city was a typographical error. The council asked for evidence of hardship to the company.

2. Agreed to start budget discussions, exclusive of salaries, with a review of the general government section Feb. 9.

3. Postponed introduction of a personnel ordinance clarifying conditions of work and instituting a rising pay scale for employees based on increased efficiency and seniority until Thursday Mayor Frederick S. Allen explained that the council had just received the final draft and had not had time to review it.

4. Set for Feb. 9 hearing on an ordinance limiting fence height to six feet.

5. Heard a plea from Councilman Roy Farrington Jones to enact an ordinance limiting the square footage of buildings by a formula relating the size of the building to the size of the lot.

6. Approved expenditure of $1,000 in state allocated engineering funds for the city's street system.

7. Adjourned until 8 p.m. next Thursday at town hall, when it will hold a public hearing on extension of the Corte Madera Creek Flood Control project into Ross, and agreed to adjourn that meeting until Feb. 2 at 8 p.m. at city hall for discussion of re-zoning of the Marin Art and Garden Center.

Arts And Crafts Classes Scheduled

Registraiton for the classes will be on Jan. 24 at 4 p.m. The class will be limited to 15 children.

Welch Raps LBJ On Soviet Trade

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Robert Welch, founder and president of the John Birch Society, says American soldiers in Vietnam are being killed by Russian-made bullets from Russian guns while President Johnson seeks to bolster trade with the Soviet Union.

Welch criticized the Johnson Administration last night for what he called its "lack of will to win the Vietnam war." He told an audience of about 1,400 persons that the Birch Society now has about 70,000 members, that his goal is to enlarge membership to 300,000 or 400,000.

TRIBUTE GIVEN CRAWFORD GREENE

The Ross Town Council adjourned last night in memory of A. Crawford Greene, a longtime resident, who left the city a $5,000 bequest "in recognition of the happiness Ross Valley has brought to me and mine."

Default Notices Against Builder

Ninety-three notices of loan defaults believed a record for one day in the Marin County recorder's office, were filed Wednesday against Jack Hunt West Jr. and his wife, Evelyn Remmele West, developers of Bel Marin Keys near Novato.

The defaults were filed by Eureka Federal Savings and Loan Assn. of San Francisco, who will schedule a public auction to sell the properties after a 90-day period, according to Recorder Noel T. Giacomini.

The residences last month were placed in receivership by Judge Thomas F. Keating of Marin Superior Court pending outcome of a $3.5 million foreclosure suit against the Wests by the loan company.

Zoning Study Turned Down For Town

Ross Town Council last night rejected the county's bid to have Ross participate in a city-county zoning ordinance study.

Councilman Jordan L. Martinelli Jr. said, "I think this (zoning) is the most jealously guarded thing Ross has, and I move we do not enter into the agreement."

Councilman Roy Farrington Jones asked that Ross automatically be given notice if the study covers any area of land of interest to Ross.

County Zoning Administrator Thomas E. Cordill suggested that the city "set up a relationship" with the study committee.

Analysis On Agenda

An analysis of existing special education programs in Mill Valley School District by Dr. Glenn Skelton, director of education, will be considered Monday by the district's community relations committee at 8 p.m. at 26 Miller Avenue.

Zoning Hearing Slated On Art, Garden Center

Ross Town Council last night moved to establish greater city control over traffic and noise at the Marin Art and Garden Center.

If the city could control the number of people at the center, and the parking "it would be a big step forward," said Councilman William P. McAndrew.

He also said the city should seek to establish the best traffic flow through the center to reduce the traffic problem on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

McAndrew, a member of the council's coordinating committee which has been meeting with center directors, said the time has come to work out a zoning ordinance.

Councilmen agreed to discuss the center zoning at 8 p.m. Feb. 2 at city hall. They also set Feb. 9 at 8 p.m. a public hearing on the center's application for rezoning from residential to community cultural.

At 102, Parrot Doesn't Need Funds

Howard J. Harman, a lawyer for Miss Wilson's estate, said yesterday that Louis, now 102, no longer needs the more than $20,000 remaining in the fund. So two-thirds of it will be given immediately to the Red Cross and the hospital.

Extra Russian Food To India

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—The Soviet Union plans to give India 500,000 more tons of food grains for the drought-stricken eastern region of the country, sources close to the Soviet Embassy said today.

The Soviet Union already has 200,000 tons of grain en route to India under an agreement announced last month.

The United States said in December it would ship 900,000 tons of food grains to India in the next two months.

India needs to import about 900,000 tons of grains monthly to make up for shortages aggravated by the two-year drought in the eastern states.

Ride into the New Year with that sure feeling

To have second thoughts after a major purchase is a very human trait. The joy of owning a Chevrolet is the good, secure, sure feeling that you made the right decision. The feeling starts the day you pick up your Chevrolet at your dealer's. It gleams and sparkles. That's because it comes already waxed from the factory. You'll be pleased at the way it rides. An improved suspension system isolates you from bumps and noise and it has a nice, firm, secure feel on curves. You'll like the way it handles.

You can now turn with up to 10 per cent less effort, stop smoother too. And there are the extras . . . extra rustproofing, extra soundproofing, extra fenders (four inner ones), extra attention to details like a ball bearing ash tray that glides instead of scrapes. Is it any wonder Chevrolets have a reputation for being worth more when you trade them in? It's all part of what happy Chevrolet owners call that Sure Feeling.

Bisson 'Touch' More Pronounced At Adolph's West End Villa

The Bisson "family touch" has become more pronounced at Bill and Adolph's West End Villa.

Newest addition here on the kitchen staff under chef Camille Bamatter is Bill Bisson's younger brother Stewart, who has been getting continental cuisine experience first hand in Europe. Now he should pick up a few more tricks of the profession under Camille.

Actually there are four Bissons in the West End picture. Bill's wife Vera, of course, is hostess and those artistic Christmas decorations (they were still there last time I looked—too pretty to take down) were the work of son Ronnie whose talents combine both art and good craftsmanship. He had a hand, by the way, in doing some of the original colored glass lighting fixtures here.

All of this blends in a rare combination of family business, nice decor and good food which makes dining here an enjoyment.

What will you have as an appetizer at West End these days? Eastern oysters on the half shell? Or oysters Rockefeller? Take your choice, but if you ask maitre Harry Auda he'll likely suggest the latter so he can strike another match and flambe them on a bed of rock salt. No matter. They are still as delicious as the show is spectacular.

One thing I do like here in the steak and lobster combination is the two served as brochettes. Tender filets of each and just enough to make this dish a good one for dieters. In large dimensions it can be a hearty one.

SOMETHING MORE on the Peacock—Novato's newest restaurant: This is at 1624 Grant Avenue and is open seven days a week—from 11 a.m. to 10 p.m. weekdays for lunch and dinner; and Sunday for dinner from 4 p.m.

Chinese and American cuisine—but the thing to remember is that there are also Korean and Japanese dishes here by request. We haven't had anything like this in Marin before. As a suggestion you might try Jae Soon Del Rose's "kolbie" (marinated Korean beef rib). They also make their own egg rolls here.

Walter and Jae Soon Del Rose had restaurants before in Singapore and in New Orleans. Chef Tom Hom used to be on the Lin Fa Gardens staff, as also did Jae Soon.

There are four Chinese lunch plates from 90 cents to $1.45 and a sandwich menu priced from 60 cents to about $2.

Special Chinese family dinners are priced at $2.50, $3.50 and $4.50 each (for two or more persons) and in the customary Oriental manner as the number of persons increases so do the dishes. There's also a moderately priced "solo" Chinese dinner. American dinners from about $2.25 to $4. Wines and beers. Food also to take out—and delivery service.

I'd suggest reservations—weekends anyway. Later the Peacock may do a little expanding.

OUR GOOD WISHES to accordionist Al Stone who leaves La Petite Auberge, San Rafael, following this weekend after I don't remember how many years here. He's transferring activities to the city.

Replacing him will be young Ken Judnick whom you may remember—he took Al's place once before during a vacation absence.

OAK TREE INN is now on its winter schedule, with dinners served only on Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays from 5 to 11 p.m. But these evenings are active and I'd make reservations—especially since there's now a new chef, Harry Zimlin, formerly at the Hotel Australia in Sydney.

Regular dinner menu is being continued but Harry will come up with other specialties as he thinks of them. So far he's been preparing beef Stroganoff, frog legs vin blanc, London broil.

The winter schedule, by the way, leaves the dining room available the rest of the week for parties and banquests. It can seat about 50, has a cozy fireplace and extra room for film viewing and dancing.

Bar is still open seven days a week from 9 a.m. Daytime bar manager is Skipper Schivo, whom you will recognize if you ever visited Spec McAuliffe's place in Lagunitas.

CAL'S STEAK HOUSE in San Rafael has gone in for "Gay Nineties" weekends and to step up the pace Friday and Saturday nights Cal Wheeler has brought in a piano and banjo duo to perform from 8 p.m. to midnight.

Cal's now serves wines and beers on draught and if you can manage to pull in on a Tuesday night between 5 and 9 there's a good special taking hold—spaghetti and garlic bread for 75 cents.

ORGANIST Gordon Tucker is now featured in the Mai Tai Room at Lin Fa Gardens, Northgate. He's active in local organists affairs and has been playing in the county for some time. A good man for handling your requests. You may recall his music at the Lodge in Novato and later at Tiburon Lodge.

FOR STEAK EATERS — and big steak eaters at that—there's a new dinner add at Eugene's Country Restaurant in the Country Club Bowl, San Rafael that should send anyone away from the table smiling and satisfied in appetite and purse.

Eugene calls this the "Gourmand Special," which consists of a 20-ounce top sirloin, charbroiled, and served with a well dimensioned baked potato. For the latter are butter, sour cream with horseradish or crisp bacon or all three. Also included is toasted French bread (garlicked, if you like) and a bowl of fresh garden salad with choice of dressing.

All for $3.95 and served daily from 5:30 to 9:30 p.m. Good steak, too.

WAITRESS Vi Martin is back atMission Inn, San Rafael serving lunches after an absence of about eight months and she seems to have recuperated fully from her accident. Welcome aboard again.

Family style dinners at night—after the Italian fashion.

SHOULD YOUR WEST MARIN COURSE run by the Inverness Wye on Shoreline Highway near Point Reyes Station, popular eating place here is Parkway Cafe where owner Bernice Stewart has added a wine and beer license. She also provides clam chowder, homemade pies, biscuits at all hours, doubledeck hamburgers and other viands. Meals go from about $1.50 to $3.50 for a man-sized steak.

JOHN SNIDER at Shakey's Pizza Parlor, San Rafael no doubt has often had calls for pizza to go out—but for once he ran into an order he couldn't fill, and prepaid at that.

It seems that airman first class Hugh D. Murray, once stationed at Hamilton Air Force Base and now in Vietnam, got to thinking about the Shakey merchandise he had enjoyed here. The more he thought the more unhappy he became. Finally the gnawing pains in his stomach for a large pepperoni and sausage pizza exceeded any punishment the Viet Cong had to offer.

Thereupon he sent John a money order and requested the ingredients for said pepperoni and sausage mixture be sent forthwith—or even sooner.

Alas—airman Murray must undergo his hunger and the Cong flack a while longer before his reward—for the laws on shipping pork are inflexible.

What would you do? That's what John did—returned the check with a letter of explanation. And as a bonus, when Murray returns all he has to do is show the letter and he can have five big pizzas—with pepperoni, sausage or anything else.

STARTING NEXT FRIDAY the Destination South Pacific Room at Tiburon Tommie's will be taken over again Friday and Saturday nights by the Cove Players for their winter season comedy presentation "Seven Year Itch." This will be performed for four weekends through Feb. 11.

There is still room for banquets in the Maori Loft. And dinners continue to be served every evening in the lower floor dining room.

Teachers Union Shuns Carol Ban

The American Federation of Teachers (AFL-CIO) yesterday entered the controversy over the banning of Christmas carols at San Rafael High School by disclaiming any responsibility for the incident.

Bella H. Aaron, atorney for the teachers union, said the union objected to statements by a member of the San Rafael Board of Education which appeared to link the union with the carol ban.

Mrs. Aaron said: "This was not a union action. It was a unilateral action by a teacher, social studies instructor Morse J. Byer, who happened to belong to the AFT."

Meeting Postponed

The Ross School District Board has postponed its regular meeting, originally scheduled for Monday, until Jan. 23.

Undersea Mountains Mapped First Time

WASHINGTON (SS) — The discovery of dozens of previously uncharted undersea mountains, mountain ridges and sea basins in the North Pacific and Bering Sea was disclosed by the U.S. Department of Commerce when six new maps of the sea floor surrounding the Aleutian Islands were published. The maps cover about 400,000 square miles of sea bed where thousands of earthquakes are spawned each year.

The bathymetric charts are the culmination of nearly 25 years of painstaking work and are the most detailed ever made of this region. They were produced by the Environmental Science Services Administration using information gathered from more than 275 hydrographic surveys by vessels of the Coast and Geodetic Survey between 1943 and 1964.

Mrs. Vigno's Family Charges Malpractice

A $300,000 malpractice suit in the death of Mrs. Marcella M. Vigno, 47, of 693 Tiburon, was filed yesterday in Marin Superior Court.

Her husband, Edward D. Vigno; son, Edward John Vigno, and daughter, Rochelle Elaine Vigno, allege that Dr. Rodney B. Hartman of Mill Valley was negligent in abdominal treatment of Mrs. Vigno, resulting in her death Nov. 20.

Halley Gets Patrick's Nod For Chairman

By WAT TAKESHITA

James Halley of San Francisco, who is scheduled to move into the chairmanship of the Republican State Central Committee, will get no opposition from Marin industrialist William Penn Patrick at Sunday's statewide meeting in Sacramento.

But Patrick, 36-year-old cosmetics manufacturer, declared today he will oppose Dennis Carpenter of Anaheim, who is being groomed for the vice chairman's post.

NO. 2 SPOT

For the number two spot, Patrick said his forces will nominate Dr. Bernard Tully, a West Covina surgeon. "We think the party needs a little surgery."

"Joe Shell (former assemblyman from Los Angeles) will nominate Dr. Tully, and I will probably second the nomination," said Patrick. "We have 400 votes committed for Tully and I think we have more than Carpenter has. If we lose, we won't lose by a great deal. And even then, we're going to be a strong devil's advocates."

Patrick explained he is opposed to Carpenter because "he was hand-picked" by Dr. Gaylord Parkinson, present GOP chairman.

Patrick, who has his eyes on the Senate seat held by Thomas H. Kuchel, said he believes Senator Kuchel should be censured by the state GOP committee "for his failure to support Nixon, Goldwater, Murphy, and Reagan" and also "for his voting record."

TO ATTEND

Patrick said he will attend the Sacramento meeting as an appointee of Don R. Hummer, who was defeated by Paul Leake in the race for the State Board of Equalization in the Third District.

The biennial organization meeting of the state GOP Central Committee will start at 10 a.m. Sunday in the Sacramento Memorial Auditorium.

Mrs. Lee Sherry of Fairfax will preside over the Northern California region women's caucus to nominate candidates for women's regional vice chairmen.

Lost Paintings Back In Germany

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three paintings which disappeared from a German museum 45 years ago have been formally returned to the West German government for a trip closer to home.

The three, valued at more than $1 million, are a self-portrait by Rembrandt, "Portrait of a Man" by Gerard Ter Borch and "Portrait of a Young Woman" by Johann Tischbein. They are on exhibit at the National Gallery of Art until Feb. 28.

They won't get all the way home now, however, because the museum of Weimar from where they were taken is in East Germany. The paintings were stolen in 1922, apparently by two German soldiers, and were sold to an unidentified Ohio businessman in the 1930's by a German merchant seaman.

LEAVES 84th — Lt. Col. James W. Babb, commander of the 84th Fighter Interceptor Squadron since 1965 at Hamilton Air Force Base, has been reassigned to Fontainebleau, France. He came to Hamilton in 1962 as chief of operations for the 28th Air Division Headquarters. (USAF Photo)

Liberals Await Word On Cabinet

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP) — Lynden Pindling today sought permission to form a government from the British governor, who said before Tuesday's election he thought the United States would be concerned about a Pindling victory.

Sir Ralph Grey, governor in the British colony, said: "The U.S. Defense Department is extremely interested in the outcome of the election. After all, they have three missile tracking stations on Grand Bahama, Eleuthera and San Salvador Islands and an underwater base at Andros, and they want to be sure this place is going to stay stable."

"I think they are also frightened that if the Progressive Liberal party won, Cuba's Castro could eventually use this as a beachhead," Grey said.

Child Beating Probation Set By Roth

Douglas Ross Davidson, 22, yesterday was put on two years probation for beating his 4-year-old son by Judge Hadden W. Roth of Marin Municipal Court.

The judge also ordered Davison, of 1441 Casa Buena, Corte Madera, to seek psychiatric treatment.

Davison had pleaded guilty to beating the child, Wesley De Veas, with his hands and burning him with a cigarette lighter. Sheriff's officers who arrested him Nov. 25 quoted Davison as first as saying Wesley was burned while making popcorn on the kitchen stove.

His wife, Virginia E. Romm Davison, 22, also known as Virginia De Veas, was originally charged with neglecting the child and permitting the beatings, but the complaint was dismissed Dec. 29 for insufficient evidence.

Judge Orders Kappas To Suspend Dredging

Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court yesterday ordered George Kappas to stop dredging or filing of his Waldo Point yacht harbor pending a full court hearing on the issue.

The order came as a denial of Kappas's request for a preliminary injunction restraining the County of Marin, the state, and the Bay Conservation and Development Commission from preventing him from maintaining his levees and roads, and from dredging.

Judge Wilson also consolidated Kappas' suit, which ultimately seeks a permanent injunction against the public bodies, with an earlier suit filed by the county to force Kappas to remove all piers, docks, buildings, and fill from the area.

The county also is seeking back rent from Kappas at $500 for every month since the county gained title to 10 underwater "streets" and two canals—about 1959. His fill allegedly encroaches on the county properity.

The county and conservation commission contend that granting Kappas an injunction would prevent state regulating agencies from exercising the police power of the state. They also contended that the superior court is without jurisdiction to grant such a request.

Kappas claims he has the right to fill the underwater streets and canals and to erect the structures. His suit was transferred to Marin Superior Court Nov. 28 after being filed in San Francisco Superior Court last March 31.—The day after the County of Marin and the conservation commission filed their suit.

Job Switching Gains In U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) -- The government says American workers are switching jobs faster than ever.

A Labor Department report issued today attributed this trend to the growing number of workers under 25 and a bright employment picture which is encouraging more people to move to better paying jobs.

The report said a survey this month showed that the 71 million Americans now at work have been on their current job an average of 4.2 years, compared with 4.6 years three years ago.

Refreshing Candor Of Ike Livermore Hailed

Norman B. (Ike) Livermore Jr. of San Rafael, newly appointed administrator of the State Resources Agency, may turn out to be a controversial figure.

Certainly, he is not the classic politician who is a master at sidestepping and smoothing ruffled feathers. His first press conference in Sacramento served notice that here was a state official who would call a spade a spade and let the chips fall where they may.

His acquaintances in Marin know Ike as a totally honest and non-political individual. At his opening press conference, he led off with criticism of a Redwood National Park proposal by the Sierra Club, of which he is a member. He is also a member of the Wilderness Society and the Marin Conservation League.

On another day, Livermore is just as likely to sound off against one of his colleagues in the lumber industry. He is an executive with Pacific Lumber Co.

In other words, Livermore is the type of person who would not allow personal friendships cr organizational affiliations color his thinking. Conscience is his guide. He truly calls them as he sees them.

Both State Sen. John F. (Jack) McCarthy and Assemblyman William T. Bagley of Marin, who are personal friends of Ike Livermore, hailed the appointment as a boon for the entire state.

"Ike's integrity and his broad knowledge in both conservation and in industry equip him to deal with both segments fairly and with understanding," said Senator McCarthy. "It was a superior appointment by Governor Reagan."

Assemblyman Bagley called the choice "the greatest appointment to date" by the Governor. "Ike's long family heritage in conservation and his knowledge and experience in industry will provide a happy balance between the industries concerned and the conservationists.

"The appointment epitomizes Governor Reagan's announced intention to bring into state government top people in the private sector," Bagley noted. "I am sure this is a major sacrifice for Ike to come into government. He is taking on a can of worms almost gratuitously."

We have respected the refreshing candor, directness and plain talk of Ike Livermore. The remarks he made at the opening press conference are in keeping with his nature of facing problems exactly as they are and refusing to gloss over the unpleasant for the sake of expediency.

By his appointment of Ike Livermore, Governor Reagan has brought refreshing candor and directness into the top level of state government.

This deserves to be appreciated by the general (non-special interest) public.

The Pleasing Fragrance Of Loquat

Not many Marin trees bloom in early January. An exception is the loquat. This small tree, with its large, long, rather narrow leaves, is spreading the fragrance of its small blossoms in the damp January chill. And it is a very pleasing fragrance, carrying some distance.

Later in the year, the trees will bear the exotic loquat fruit, and unusual and intriguing taste treat.

MARIN POLITICAL VIEWS

Gov. Reagan's Economy Move Reaches Down To Clerical Level

By WAT TAKESHITA

Takeshita

THE REAGAN Administration's economy edict in Sacramento is sending repercussions all the way down to the level of secretaries and clerks.

You can sense it in the general tenseness among most of the employees as each department marks time to see (1) what's going to happen in the way of staff cuts and/or changes and (2) what's going to happen to departmental programs if the administration should lop off budget requests.

The State Consumer Counsel's Office around the corner from the Governor's office was in a state of gloom. They were expecting the office to be wiped out. Must have been a pleasant surprise to see a new consumer counsel appointed, even temporarily.

IN OTHER departments, the atmosphere is one of "watchful waiting." The general feeling is that the operation of existing programs will be allowed, but that many of the capital improvement projects outlined for the coming fiscal year may be cut back.

For example, take parks and recreation. In the department's budget proposal, there is no doubt some provision for capital improvements (picnic and other tourist facilities) on Angel Island. Under the Governor's "hold the line" objective, it's quite possible that further improvements may be halted.

Governor Reagan is not merely giving lip-service to government economy. Here's a letterhead from the Department of Mental Hygiene, with the printed name "Edmund G. Brown" crossed out and the name "Ronald Reagan" typed in its place. Apparently, there is going to be no waste in old letterheads.

WE'VE FINALLY pinned down the correct pronunciation of the Governor's name. It's Ray-gun, not Ree-gun. That's straight from the Governor's office.

Some of the "new faces" in the State Capitol are familiar, friendly ones imported directly from Marin. In the top echelon of Governor Reagan's staff, we have Tom Reed of Ross as appointments secretary, Ike Livermore of San Rafael as administrator of the State Resources Agency, and Nancy Clark Reynolds of Sleepy Hollow as assistant press secretary. Pretty good showing for a small county like Marin.

BOTH OF MARIN'S representatives have expanded staffs. Senate Minority Leader Jack McCarthy has a new field director, Mike Kahl of Novato, because of expansion in the Fourth Senatorial District (to include Napa and Solano). Assemblyman William T. Bagley could very well get an expanded office, in addition to personnel. Rumors are that Bagley may be in line for chairmanship of a major Assembly committee—maybe the Judiciary Committee.

MARIN FEDERATED Republican Women will hold its luncheon meeting next Tuesday (Jan. 17) at Villa Rafael, 1606 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael. President Betty Williams says she'll have Chuck Michals, new chairman of the County Republican Central Committee, as luncheon speaker.

David R. Ring, Tiburon attorney and engineer, is making a determined bid for a post on the Tam High District board in the April 18 election. He's got fellow lawyer Hank Broderick to serve as campaign chairman.

Ring is an advocate of smaller unification as opposed to the unification of the entire Tam High District.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Marin citizens can take pride in the important influence which the Marin Medical Society through the Marin Interagency Council on Cigarette Smoking exerted in helping to pass the resolution of the California Medical Assn. urging its 23,000 member physicians to quit smoking and to advise their patients to do likewise.

Beginning five years ago with a smoking education program which was offered to the local schools, the Medical Society joined forces with the local Cancer, Heart, TB and Health agencies plus the Health Dept. and the county schools to form the Interagency Council. Our counterpart of the California and National Interagency Councils has been continually updating and expanding its programs available to the community.

Two years ago the Marin Medical Society used its available funds to make the first satirical smoking film. The lead article in the Wall Street Journal for Jan. 9, refers to our film in its national article captioned "Anti-Smoking Drive Seems to Make Gains, Worries Tobacco Firms." In describing the U. S. Public Health Service "community laboratory" in Syracuse, N. Y., reference is made of a program for 900 junior high school students in which was introduced " . . . a 17-minute satirical movie called Too Tough To Care. The movie is about the president of a mythical tobacco company, maker of Finster cigarettes, who demands that his advertising man dream up a new sales pitch. The slogan: 'The Finster Man is Too Tough to Care.' . . . After the film, teachers dressed in forbidding costumes enacted a skit featuring such performers as Mr. Death, Heart Disease, Emphysema, and Tuberculosis. The climax came when two students decide smoking is a 'crummy habit' and ask advice on how to stop. . . ."

Because of this success and the need for a film suitable for elementary school children, the Marin Medical Society has decided to proceed with the making of another film.

It is ironic that Marin County smoking education efforts are better known and requested outside our community than within it. It is becoming increasingly clear that anti-smoking programs the country over are successful in relation to the vigor with which they are carried out.

Stock List Request Gets Prompt Action

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I am a subscriber to your paper and one of the advantages you give over the morning paper is the stock report for same day.

(As with all requests for additions to the stock lists published in the I-J, we referred reader Bigelow's request to the organization which supplies the quotations, half expecting the standard reply that there was insufficient interest to justify quoting that price. Wonder of wonders: the National Assn. of Security Dealers forthwith added Koret of California to its daily over-the-counter list supplied to the I-J —Editor.)

Tuition Proposal Held Prejudicial

Editor, Independent-Journal:

In attempting to raise tuition at state colleges and universities to exorbitant levels, Governor Reagan is making clear his social and ethnic prejudices. It hardly requires an advanced degree in sociology to determine what portion of the population Mr. Reagan is "punishing." This is prejudice at its most brutal and effective — at an economic level.

To pretend that there will be sufficient scholarships available to accommodate the sizable number of college and university students disenfranchised by Mr. Reagan's plan is hypocrisy at its most blatant.

If Governor Reagan is successful, he will be allowed to subvert the very purpose for which the state colleges and universities were set up: to guarantee equal opportunity for higher education to all Californians.

Some Action Sought On Bad Intersections

There are two dangerous intersections in our area: Center Boulevard and Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in San Anselmo and the same two, plus Pacheco in Farifax.

There are no traffic lights, only stop signs in some directions, but not in all, which makes the situation even worse. Months ago I sent a letter to the San Anselmo City Hall, but up to date they did not find the time to answer it. Could not you start some action?

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

OUT IN New zealand, the faces of one local fire brigade are as red as their suspenders. The entire brigade was frolicking at a town fair when a building only two blocks away suddenly caught fire The boys unhesitatingly raced over to the scene of the conflagration—but found when they got there they they had neglected to bring one reasonably important item: the fire engine. They rushed back to headquarters to retrieve it. Alas! By the time the brave lads returned with it, the buliding had burned to the ground.

NEWSHAWK DICK Tobin tells about the editor of a metropolitan newspaper who took a dim view of a humorous, tasteless gossip column that the owners made him run. One evening he was told, "Hey, Eddie, they seem to have left So-and-so's column out of the first edition." "That's quite all right," nodded the unperturbed eidtor. "We'll squeeze it into the next edition—next to the reading matter."

A TOURIST in California paused at a motel that advertised "FREE TV." The room clerk demanded, "Do you want the seven-or nine-dollar room?" The tourist asked "What's the difference?" The clerk explained . "The nine-dollar room has the free TV."

Manchester Book Needs To Be Read–With Reservations

WASHINGTON—Just about everybody is going to read—or read about—William Manchester's account of the assassination of John F. Kennedy, "The Death of a President."

It is a useful and welcome book because it adds some new facts and some fresh insight into the sum-total of circumstances of the tragedy in Dallas.

ON THE BASIS of the first installment in Look and the numerous previews offered by those who have read the full manuscript, it seems to me that "The Death of a President" will be most useful and most valuable if it is read with continuous reservation and with final judgment withheld for more knowledge to come.

I think it needs to be understood that the book is not objective or definitive history. It is some of the raw material out of which the three-dimensional truth ultimately may emerge.

There are two compelling reasons why the Manchester book needs to be read sympathetically and with abiding reservation. It is an "authorized" account. It is a book commissioned by Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy and Sen. Robert Kennedy who retained the right to edit the manuscript before publication and exercised that right. Mr. Manchester was selected by the Kennedys after two other writers reportedly had rejected the undertaking because they believed the conditions imposed would impair their independence.

THIS IS WHY "The Death of a President," though completely honest from Mr. Manchester's viewpoint, is a point-of-view account whose value rests on understanding this fact.

Secondly, in his first installment in Look, Mr. Manchester affirms that he is "speculating" at different points but contends that "legitimate speculation is one of the duties of historians." And so it is, but before you have read very far it seems evident, to me at least, that speculation soon becomes assertion and assertion becomes apparent fact and it is hard to tell where the two separate. Mr. Manchester speculates enough about the political rivalry among Governor John Connally, Senator Ralph Yarborough, Vice President Johnson, and President Kennedy as to make Connally look bad, Johnson look futile, and everybody else look good.

In recapturing the atmosphere of political hatred toward President Kennedy in Dallas, Manchester speculates about the effect of this ferment on Oswald.

HE REPORTS from Mr. Kennedy's viewpoint on the night-before-the - assassination tension between the President and Vice President Johnson in their hotel room meeting.

And, most speculative of all in the first installment, Mr. Manchester assumes to pinpoint the occasion and the minute when Oswald finally lost his reason and asserts that after Marina Oswald's dismissal of her husband on the evening of Nov. 21 "the total eclipse of his reason occurred shortly before 9 p.m."

I can't say it isn't true, but it is certainly unproved. Apparently it is the kind of "legitimate speculation" which Manchester deems the "duty" of historians and it shows how constantly the reader must protect himself from speculation clothed like fact and from one-sidedness.

It is announced that in the next installment Manchester will reveal "the beginning of the deep division between the Kennedy loyalists and the realists, who offered to help the new President."

Red Guard Hurting Hong Kong Tourism

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — The strident militancy and antics of the Red Guards are having a highly adverse effect on once-booming Hong Kong.

Tourists, principal money producer of the British colony, lagged severely last year, with the result that real estate values have plummeted, foreclosures become common, and business in general turned sour.

THIS DOLEFUL situation is significantly acknowledged in a two-column article on the front page of the Hong Kong China Mail under a banner headline, "Growth Rate of Tourist Arrivals Falling," as follows:

"Hong Kong's top money maker and probably its greatest source of revenue—tourism—is in low gear. Its growth rate, once admired by the world, has slowed down—almost stopped. The tourism growth rate is expected to be even lower this year (1966) than last, when it plunged from 23 per cent in 1964 to 12 per cent.

"Between 1957 and 1965, tourists skyrocketed with a 927 per cent increase in eight years. Other countries watched enviously. But the boom is over.

THERE ARE varying reasons for the drop—not the least of them the frenetic operations of the vast hordes of Red Guards. Should the fanatical Red Guards just over the border decide to move in, without Mao's consent, he could do nothing but go along with them."

The China Mail calls for a large increase in advertising and promotion by the Hong Kong Tourist Assn. According to the paper, this government agency is spending only "$10 per tourist, while in comparison, Lebanon spends $31, Japan $40, Jamaica $45 and the Bahamas $35."

U.S. economists stationed in Hong Kong view as highly exaggerated the claims of Peking's New China News Agency of the harvesting of the biggest grain and cotton crops in the country's history.

THE LARGEST grain harvest previously claimed was 270 million tons in 1959 at the height of the subsequently disastrous "Great Leap Forward." Later Peking indirectly admitted this claim was phony.

The U.S. experts are pointing out that weather conditions for farming in China last year were generally unfavorable.

Red China is continuing to buy large quantities of grain from Canada and Australia. Obviously, if claims of a bumper crop were true, Peking wouldn't be spending its extremely scarce "hard" currency for Western wheat and rice.

INCREASINGLY beleaguered President Sukarno will "resign." The one-time all-powerful pro-Communist Indonesian leader will be forced to quit by steadily intensifying public clamor, and the insistence of Western creditors that the ruling generals get rid of him to ensure the stability of the stringent measures needed to revive the country's economy . . .

It's only a matter of time until anti-poverty director Sargent Shriver steps out. His successor is already being groomed. He is William Crook, a Texan, who was recently installed as acting director of the VISTA program in the anti-poverty set-up . . .

Sausalito School District architects came up with a plan this week to provide a new school plant for all pupils in the district at a profit of $230,000. That's right new facilities for 1,500 kindergarten through eighth grade pupils could be built at a profit, they figured.

THE PROFIT would result, that is, if all classrooms were consolidated on the Manzanita School site in Marin City. The architects, Weisbach, Boutmy and Silver, did not assume consolidation was desirable — they were directed by the board of trustees to study the cost of consolidation on one or more of the present sites, except for Central School, which is to be sold.

According to their estimates, the project would cost $2,870,300 at Manzanita, including purchase of nine of 32 adjacent acres owned by Tamalpais High School District. Sale value of the other school sites has been estimated at $3.1 million, thus producing the profit.

THE CATCH is that the present tight money market either may lower the value of the sites or prevent their sale. Without sal, the district would have neither a profit nor a new school plant — without a big bond issue.

Construction of a new plant at Bayside would cost $2,623,600, the architects estimated. Value of other sites was figured at $2,55,000. Thus, development of Bayside would cost $68,600.

Most expensive of the three sites to develop would be Richardson Bay, the architects said. A completely new plant would cost $3,525,100, they estimated. With value of other sites at $1,365,000, the cost to the district would be $2,160,100.

The district's finance committee will meet Monday at 8 p.m. in the district office to consider financing a biulding program — and realistic estimates of revenues that could be expected from sale of school sites.

FIELD TRIPS to San Francisco for pupils in Mill Valley School District were suggested this week by Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Copperman to "expose the many facets of the city." They suggested trips to the financial district, downtown, museums, zoo and shipyards. "It is very possible for our children to miss one aspect of our cultural heritage — the city," they wrote.

Certainly the proposal is a good one, but it is surprising to realize how little exposure suburban children get to the city. To them, it's just a place Daddy works and Mommy occasionally shops.

ANOTHER LETTER to the trustees was from Robbie Sarkaria, fourth grade pupil at Homestead School. Thanking the board for ordering a second portable classroom so her class would not have to continue double sessions, Robbie wrote: There are two things I would miss very much. These two things are: Hotdog day and library period.

"I would miss the latter because I like the librarian and I am what you would call a book-worm."

MILL VALLEY SCHOOL district trustees still are shooting for a $3 million bond election in June — despite opposition from all architects interviewed to plan a district building program.

Further complicating plans for the bond issue, of which $2 million would be for a "middle school" on Camino Alto, are doubts by some city councilmen about joint development by the city and district of the Project 17 area for the school and recreation facilities. "The middle school appears to be retreating," according to a prediction this week by Nan Hepp, co-chairman of Parents Assn. for Neighborhood Schools.

SEEING A delay of a bond election to November, she wrote in her "report card" to association members that "an architect who can raise a middle school out of this muddy muddle will indeed be a miracle worker.

Where Only The Commercials Are Kind: Insult Interviews

WASHINGTON—Every time you think television has hit its lowest ebb, a new type of program comes along to make you wonder where you thought the ebb was. The latest in TV wrinkles is what could be termed the "Insult Interview Show" in which the interviewer spends two or three hours insulting his guests. Joe Pyne is probably the master of this type of program though, unfortunately, he now has many imitators.

If you're lucky to live in a place that doesn't carry a show of this kind, they all go something like this:

INTERVIEWER: "Our next guest on Couth Wants To Know is Professor Kowowski. What do you do, Professor?"

PROFESSOR: "I am making a study of the world population explosion."

INTERVIEWER: "Well, that's the stupidest thing I've ever heard of. How did you ever get to be a professor?"

PROFESSOR: "I studied at Harvard, MIT and did research work at Stanford."

INTERVIEWER: "We've had lots of nuts on this show, but you take the cake. Tell us about the world population explosion."

PROFESSOR: "It is getting very serious. There will probably be a terrible crisis by 1990 which should wreak havoc on all of mankind."

INTERVIEWER: "You sound like a Pinko to me. Who gives you money for your research—the Soviet Union?"

PROFESSOR: "May I continue?"

INTERVIEWER: "Sure. We may not get a kook like you again."

PROFESSOR: "The main problem is that the populationis increasing at a much faster rate than our food production."

INTERVIEWER: "Well, what about all those nutty kids at Berkeley?"

PROFESSOR: "I beg your pardon?"

PROFESSOR: "I'm not interested in that proble."

INTERVIEWER: "Of course you're not. You're so wrapped up in your miserable statistics you don't even know what's going on in the world. You know what I would do if I was a professor and the kids got out of line?"

PROFESSOR: "What?"

INTERVIEWER: "I'd shoot them. I carry a gun with me at all times, and if I found a kid who gave me a bad time I'd just take out the gun and put one right between his eyes. You want to see my gun?"

PROFESSOR: "Not particularly."

INTERVIEWER: "Well, here it is. It's a .38 revolver, and I don't mind telling you they better not mess with me."

PROFESSOR: "I thought we were going to discuss the population explosion."

INTERVIEWER: "You eggheads give me a pain. I don't care about the population explosion and I don't think anybody watching this show cares. I'm sorry we even asked you on the show."

PROFESSOR: "Well, I'll be happy to leave."

INTERVIEWER (picking up the gun): "Not before the commercial break. What do you feel is the solution to the population explosion?"

PROFESSOR: "Strong birth control measures."

INTERVIEWER: "Don't you have any shame?"

PROFESSOR: "What do you mean by that?"

INTERVIEWER: "You mentioned the words 'birth control' on a family show. I've got a good mind to pop you in the nose, but we have to pause for a commercial. Stay tuned, folks, to this informative, thought-provoking show that is not afraid to deal with controversial subjects and let the chips fall where they may."

COUNTY COMMENT

By WILLIAM D. (BILL) FUSSELMAN

Economic Development Office Report Gets More Criticism

Fusselman

While reading and evaluating the report addressed to the board of supervisors by Mr. John M. Douglas, director of the department of economic development, in which he attempts to justify his salary of $15,600 and a total budget of $24,632 for the year just passed, more and more one is impressed with the effort to obscure the fact that "this trip isn't necessary."

The creation of this department (?) by the administrator and elements of the board was as unnecessary as the proverbial extra thumb. It was superimposed on the efforts and work of people with experience in the field, which the gentleman simply doesn't have. Following from where the cut off occurred last week is this—

"3. Experimentil and developmental industry. I think 'mariculture' or farming of the sea is an example." Does this mean fishing? Or oyster planting or inducing the crabs to be good guys and come back home where they belong? It certainly isn't clear just what he does mean because further on where he elaborates on the several categories he says respecting this (3) "The cultural activities of the county should be stimulated wherever possible and I mean stimulated, not encouraged to relax into dull dependency" (Just what does this have to do with "mariculture or farming of the sea"?)

"4. Development of facilities to utilize the great wealth of highly skilled medical talent existent within the county." (What is meant here — hospitals? Certainly it wasn't necessary to spend time and money to be told this. It is common knowledge there is a bed shortage across the nation as well as nurse shortage. Ross Hospital and Marin General are working at this and the San Rafael General group is making every effort in that direction. The Kaiser people have taken over the Lucas Valley one and no doubt Novato is alert to extending its coverage.

"5. Distribution centers developed in industrial parks that are neat and orderly and attractive" It is not clear whether he means private or governmental construction.

UNDER THE HEADING — "The necessary basis to accomplish these ends:" he goes on to number them "(1), (2), (3), (4)" and so on. For what is listed above re: University based commercial growth this is said: "(4) The plans for the fair grounds development to be broad enough to consider dog and horse shows as commercially profitable activities." You figure this one out.

AT ONE POINT this paragraph appears: "These are long term objectives, but must be approached with an unswerving sense of direction. (More rhetoric.) The Civic Center complex when ultimately developed in its entirety must become the county's number one park and show place. Point Reyes National Seashore is already a great source of interest to thousands and will grow. Between the Civic Center and Point Reyes is a vast area that can and should be the target of those "people oriented" activities. . . ."

I wonder if he has ever heard of the MMWP's lakes and the fishing there — or Samuel Taylor Park — or Tomales Bay Parks — or Stinson Beach and Bolinas? Not to mention the dairy industry in the area.

This whole set up is just an effort to grab more and ever more controls in the tight little fists of the administrator group. They simply haven't the background nor experience for such a spread and the cost is ever mounting.

SOME PLACE along the line you folks will have to demand a halt.

Smith To Head Municipal Court

Judge Peter Allen Smith will be presiding judge of Marin Municipal Court for 1967, it was announced today.

Judge Smith said assignments for hearing traffic cases, criminal calendar, and criminal and civil jury and non-jury cases will be rotated equally among Judges Hadden W. Roth and Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. and himself.

He said civil actions, are reaching trial within three months of request for trial.

Republican Women To Hear Michals

Charles Michals of Greenbrae, new chairman of the Marin County Republican Central Committee, will be luncheon speaker Tuesday noon at a meeting of the Marin Federated Republican Women at Villa Rafael in San Rafael.

President Betty Williams announced Michals will discuss Marin Republican party plans for 1967.

Grand Jury Asks School Aid Shift

Condenming the present reimbursement system for inmate education at San Quentin prison as "an unfair imposition of state responsibilities upon local property taxpayers," the Marin County Grand Jury has urged the Legislature to amend the penal code "to rectify this continuing inequity."

The code requires the Department of Corrections to reimburse the county schools for their adult education program at the prison on a cost basis, but the grand jury resolution says the laws "do not provide adequate reimbursement to the county and result in the unfair imposition of state responsibilities upon local property taxpayers."

The jury urged that the laws be amended to provide more state aid to the prison education program.

Library Lawn Getting Sprinkler Installed

The lawn in front of the San Rafael City Library on Fifth Avenue will be torn up a few more days, according to librarian Vivian Smith, while city crews lay an underground sprinkling system.

Cost of materials for the system, which will also include a drinking fountain, is about $700, according to Mrs. Smith.

ALMANAC

Today is Friday, Jan. 13, the 13th day of 1967 with 352 to follow.

the moon is between the new and first quarter stages; the morning stars are Mars and Jupiter; the evening stars are Saturn, Jupiter and Venus.

American author Horatio Alger was born on this day in 1834.

On this day in history:

In 1864, American songwriter Stephen Foster died in New York City.

In 1966, President Johnson named the first Negro in history to a cabinet position. Robert Weaver was named secretary of the new Housing and Urban Development Department.

A thought for the day—American humorist Mark Twain said; "work consists of whatever a body is obliged to do—play consists of whatever a body is not obliged to do."

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey, Western District headquarters. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

The column of heights gives the elevation in feet of each tide above or below the plane of Coast Survey chart soundings. The depths are always additive to the chart depths unless preceded by a minus sign (-), when the numbers are subtracted from the depth given in the chart. Light-face type indicates a.m. times; bold-face type indicates p.m. times.

For example, consider East's problem in today's hand, taken from the excellent little booklet "Partnership Misunderstandings," by Donald E. Walsh, of Los Angeles.

EAST IN TROUBLE

West leads the nine of hearts, and East wins with the king.

South drops the jack, and East has a problem.

In most partnerships it is entirely possible that West has led his highest heart from 9-7-5-3 of hearts. If so, East cannot afford to lead another heart.

The problem may be delayed if South drops the seven of hearts at the first trick and then the jack of hearts on East's ace. East must then guess who has the missing three of hearts.

EXPERT SOLUTION

Most of the leading experts (but very few average players) solve this problem by agreeing to lead the lowest card from a holding of three small cards in partner's bid suit.

For extmple, West would lead the three of hearts if he held 9-5-3.

The advantage of this agreement is that when West leads the nine of hearts he must have either a singleton or a doubleton in hearts. If he had three or more hearts, he would have led a low card.

East can comfortably take his top hearts and lead a third heart for West to ruff.

East is comfortable only if he has discussed leads with his partner of the moment.

A discussion with some other partner doesn't help.

If you are sometimes bothered by such problems, you might try sitting down with your various partners and the Walsh booklet to remind you of all the items you should check off.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with 1 notrump (16 to 18 points), and the next player passes.

You hold:

♠ K 10 8 4
♥ Q 8 2
♦ K 6 5 3
♣ Q 5

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two clubs, the Stayman Convention.

This asks partner to bid a major suit of he can. If partner bids anything else, you will go to three notrump.

LEAKING GAS FEEDS INFERNO

Some 20 homes were destroyed this morning as leaking gas exploded in the Jamaica section of Queens, N.Y. A fire truck is among the burning vehicles trapped in the center of the blaze. Residents were evacuated by police before the inferno started, and there were no reported deaths nor major injuries. (See story, page 1).

Retirement Benefits Vs. Vacation Pay

The Main County Retirement Board by 4-3 vote yesterday ruled out in lieu vacation pay in figuring retirement benefits.

Norman J. Taylor, an accountant in the county auditor's office, raised the issue, saying he wanted to retire the end of this month taking payment in lieu of over 30 days of vacation due. Retirement benefits are based on average pay over three employment years of the employee's choice.

Taylor said the vacation pay should be included in the average. Board member Stanley J. Fontez argued strongly against this, and member Ernest N. Kettenhofen declared it would be a "gimmick" to figure vacation pay.

The request was denied with members William Desmond, Sidney Stinson and Marcel Lusinchi dissenting.

The board split 4-2, with Marion H. Marks abstaining and Kettenhofen and John Bacigalupi dissenting, on computation of benefits for part-time employees. The board agreed that a part time employee should be required to work more than 10 calendar years to qualify for employment, but the majority held credit on benefits must be based on the fractional time worked.

The board agreed to hold a hearing on fireman Kenneth Joseph's request for employment-connected disability pension. Joseph was burned on the neck, face and arms during the Chileno Valley fire Sept. 16, 1965.

An all-plastic house, according to some researchers, may become a reality in a not too distant future.

Busolo Preliminary Hearing Set Jan. 30

I-J Special Report

KINGMAN, Ariz.—Preliminary hearing for Mary Ellen Busolo on a charge of murdering her husband, Lincinio Busolo Jr., has been set for Jan. 30 here.

Busolo, 53-year-old former San Anselmo businessman and civic leader, was shot to death in his home at Lake Havasu City Dec. 19. Mrs. Busolo, who reported the shooting three days later, told a coroner's jury the gun she had intended to use to kill herself accidentally discharged during a quarrel with her husband.

Mrs. Busolo, 43, has been held without bail in the Mojave County Jail since the coroner's jury found she had shot her husband "with malice aforethought." Mrs. Busolo claimed the gun was fired with her husband more than seven feet away. A patheologist testified that Busolo had died of a contact chest wound.

Her preliminary hearing will be held before Justice of the Peace Clyde McCune, who previously ordered her held on the finding of the coroner's jury.

County Atty. Dan Schimmelpfennig said McCune, under Arizona law, can order Mrs. Busolo tried on a simple charge of murder, which includes all degrees, or he may limit the charge to second degree, if he finds insufficient evidence of premeditation.

The penalty for first degree murder in Arizona is death in the gas chamber.

Schimmelpfenning said that since their arrival in Lake Havasu City a little over two years ago, Busolo had been "kind of intermittently employed" by a lumber company, but that most of his time had been devoted to building their new home in the resort city on the Colorado River.

Before moving to Arizona, Busolo operated service stations in San Rafael, Kentfield and San Anselmo. He was a past president of the San Anselmo Lions Club and Chamber of Commerce and a former San Anselmo planning commissioner.

He and Mrs. Busolo had three grown children, one each by previous marriages and one by their own marriage.

Firemen Install New President

Vice Mayor George E. Wickham installed new officers.

Also elected were Harley Carpenter, vice president; David R. Wilson, secretary; Ken Clivio, treasurer, and Al Baudour, sergeant-at-arms. Elected to the board of directors were Edward S. Lewis, Fred Roemer, Roy A. Bernard, Albert A. Marovich and Raymond Modin.

Contact Lenses Fitting Eased

CHICAGO (SS) — More accurate fitting of contact lenses than has been possible in the past is reported through development of a new optical instrument trademarked a Corneoptor.

Just how valuable the new instrument can be was demonstrated by the developers in the case of a man whose eyes were severely burned by exploding acid that virtually destroyed his vision. Other instruments failed to produce a useful corneal measurement, but after obtaining a curve showing a flat spot on the cornea, the Corneoptor made it possible to fit the proper contact lens to restore the patient's vision. A contour-slit image of the cornea is recorded on an off-axis Polaroid camera. Camera focus is coupled with the instrument. The brilliant flash of the xenon lamp lasts only a millisecond, causing no discomfort.

The corneagram, developed through research at the Columbus, Ohio, laboratories of Battelle Memorial Institute in collaboration with Joseph L. Bitonte and Dr. Richard Keates of the Ohio State University College of Medicine, produces an accurate picture of the corneal profile in an instant.

Rights Board Seeks Police, Cities Unity

The Marin County Human Rights Commission, concerned about the shooting of a juvenile car theft suspect in Marin City Tuesday, asked last night for policy on police and community relations that could be followed by police in Marin.

Commission executive officer Robert Brauer said the matter was referred to the police-community relations committee.

Brauer reported he could find no basis to support a complaint by a Negro laborer who said he was dismissed from work on the Hall of Justice due to discrimination. The commission will ask the Robert E. McKee Construction Co. to keep better records on employment.

The Marin County Human Rights Commission also:

1. Learned that the California Department of Employment will continue its program of holding job interviews in Marin City one day a week.
2. Learned that Brauer will continue to meet with representatives of the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce on hiring of minorities in downtown stores and offices.
3. Appointed Walter Belden to head the commission's education committee.
5. Adjourned until 8 p.m., Feb. 9, at Novato City Hall.

Navy Selects Its Top Sailor

SAN DIEGO (AP)—A 26-year veteran from Orr, Okla., was named today as the Navy's top enlisted man.

The first "senior enlisted advisor" is Delbert D. Black, 44, whose mission will be to counsel the chief of naval personnel in Washington on enlisted men's problems and policies. He will receive about $11,083 a year as the Navy's counterpart to sergeants major of the Army and Marine Corps.

Summer School Set In Larkspur District

The Larkspur School District board last night decided to have a five-week summer school at Neil Cummins School and appointed Alfred Kerr, Larkspur-Corte Madera School vice principal, as summer school principal.

The summer session will start a week after the regular school term ends in June.

The board agreed to continue to lease a classroom at Neil Cummins School to the Marin County schools office for special education classes for $1,200 a year.

The board learned that all district teachers will attend a teacher institute at the College of Marin Jan. 27, so schools will be closed that day.

The board heard a report on the role of district vice principals, who teach half a day and act as curriculum consultants.

Expenses for one board member to attend a National School Boards Conference in Portland, Ore., in April were authorized, but no member was designated.

Increases In Apartments Are Forecast

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Bart Lytton, executive officer of Lytton Financial Corp., expects an increase in building jobs in California, but not in the immediate future.

Lytton, speaking to the American Society of Appraisers in San Francisco, said yesterday that home and apartment house building has been held back as much by a lack of demand as by a lack of funds.

"Late this year, when the public (attitude) changes, there will be a roaring demand," said Lytton. He predicted a sharp rise in construction of apartments.

"We are moving inevitably to a medium to high rise urban residential culture. We have just about reached the limits of urban single family housing," he said.

Youth Corps Aide At Drake High

Sections of the Neighborhood Youth Corps program have provided 10 jobs for low-come students at Sir Francis Drake High School. The federal poverty funds pay the salaries although the program is administered by the county.

Eligible students are paid $1.30 an hour and may work 10-12 hours a week. Jobs involve teacher aiding, office work, campus duties, locker room and shop assistance.

The students work after school but some attend classes on a shortened schedule.

Rate Report Error

The Independent-Journal incorrectly reported Wednesday that Mill Valley Refuse Service last summer asked a rate increase to $2.75 a month from customers in Tamalpais Valley Sanitary District. The company asked a six-year contract, starting at $2.25 a month, increasing to $2.60 after five years.

Heart Fund Volunteers Get Ready

Thomas C. Falvey of Greenbrae, former assistant postmaster at San Rafael Post Office, will serve as campaign chairman of the 1967 Heart Fund Drive in Marin County.

The campaign will be conducted throughout February and will be launched Jan. 25 with a county-wide meeting of town chairmen, area leaders and block captains.

It will reach its climax Feb. 26 when volunteers will call at homes throughout the county to receive contributions.

Falvey, whose home is at 7 Via La Cumbre, has been associated with the Heart Fund for six years. He was an area chairman in 1966, Heart Fund captain in 1965 and a volunteer from 1961 through 1964.

He will be assisted this year by the following area chairmen:

INCOME TAX FACTS

Everyone Entitled To One Exemption

By PETER JAMES WIKEL CPA

Everybody is entitled to one personal exemption, which means that they can make $600 tax free.

If you are over 65 years of age, you are entitled to two personal exemptions and can make $1,200 tax free. If you are blind, you are entitled to an additional personal exemption of $600. This means that if you are under 65 years of age and blind, you can make $1,200 and if you are over 65 years of age and blind, you can make $1,800 tax free.

No one is entitled to use another person's personal exemption.

Wikel

If you file a joint return with your spouse, you may claim your spouse's personal exemptions on the same basis as above on the joint return.

You cannot file a joint return with your spouse if your spouse is claimed as a dependent on any other tapayer's return.

You are entitled to the dependency credit for certain dependents, and under certain circumstances you may claim the dependency credit for dependents who also filed their personal income tax returns and claim their personal exemptions on these tax returns.

Each dependent must meet all five of the following conditions:

1. Dependent must have received over one-half of his support from you in 1966.

2. Dependent must not have had over $600 income in 1966, unless the dependent was your child or stepchild under 19 years of age, or if 19 years of age or over, a full time student, in which case the dependent child can earn any amount as long as you actually provide over one-half of the support.

3. Dependent is not claimed by any other taxpayer and does not file a joint return with another taxpayer. For instance, do not list a dependent married daughter who files a joint return with her husband.

4. Dependent must be a citizen of the United States or a resident of the United States, Canada, Mexico, the Republic of Panama or the Canal Zone.

5. Dependent must be closely related to you or anyone else who meets the four requirements above and had your home as his principal place of abode and was a member of your household, even if not related to you.

If the dependent has worked part-time and earned less than $600 in 1966 or was your child under 19, or 19 or over and a student, and income tax was withheld from such earnings, the dependent should file a tax return to secure refund of the tax withheld.

This will in no way prevent you from also claiming the exemption for the dependent, provided, of course, that the dependent meets all five of the above conditions.

Also, if your dependent can qualify in all other ways except that you do not furnish over one-half of his support, then perhaps this will help you.

Where two or more persons contribute more than 50 per cent to the support of a dependent and each could claim the dependent except for the fact he did not contribute more than 50 per cent of the support, then one of the contributors can claim the dependent provided:

1. The taxpayer claiming the dependent contributed over 10 per cent of the support, and

2. Every other one who contributed over 10 per cent to the support agrees not to claim the dependent for 1966.

An agreement, Form 2120, must be signed by each person (other than yourself) who contributed more than 10 per cent to the support of the dependent. The agreement must be filed with your return claiming the deduction for the dependent.

Keep The Pennsy Stocks For The Merger Proposal

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. "I have 50 shares of National Biscuit in which I have a profit. My husband is not a speculating man and I go along with him. Do you think we should buy more National Biscuit or something more active? I also have 50 shares of Pennsylvania Railroad. What should I do with this?" R. H.

A. It is always pleasant to hear a wife say a nice thing about a husband. From the tone of your letter, he's probably a pretty good man to go along with. I think you have enough National Biscuit. I would give up nothing in the way of quality, but suggest that a few shares of Gillette would diversify your holdings. As to your Pennsylvania Railroad, I believe that I would hold at current levels in expectation that the merger with N. Y. Central will be consummated.

Q. "I am a widow of 76 and over many years have accumulated a list of stocks. These are American Telephone, Bank of America, Minnesota Mining & Mfg., DuPont, Eastman Kodak, General Electric, San Diego Gas & Electric. I could use a little more income and would welcome any suggestion." N. S.

A. If you will allow me, I should like to commend you for your sound common sense. You have one of the finest stock lists I have ever seen — without a single second-rate or doubtful security. If your need is not urgent, I would hate to break up this list. If you really must have a higher return, I wil make two suggestions. By switching 3 M into Norfolk & Western and Eastman Kodak into Standard Oil of New Jersey, you could substantially increase your income.

'Dress Rehearsal' Theme For Junior League Fashion Show

By MOLLY MARIN

The Junior League has decided to make a theatrical style production of it for the traditional fashion show this year, and in fact it's called "Dress Rehearsal" and will use theatrical lighting to achieve its special effects.

Mrs. Kirk Frederick of San Rafael and her committee will prove there's no business like show business to put across the annual benefit which raises funds in five figure amounts for various league projects, and they have chosen theme ideas from Broadway musicals over a three decade period.

Marinites who will participate in the show are Mesdames John Busterud of Mill Valley, McKenzie Moss of Ross, Howard D. Banks of Mill Valley, Burney Cleveland of Belvedere, Lee Gammill Jr. of Mill Valley, William J. Morris of Kentfield, Robert Clark Taylor of Ross, John H. Wingate Jr. and Leonard Weisenburg Jr. of San Rafael, and among sustaining members will be Mrs. Gerald D. Stratford of Belvedere.

ENTERTAINING the incoming and retiring boards of the Marin Charitable Foundation, which runs the Marin Debutante Ball, will be Mrs. Harrison Leppo. The luncheon will be given at her Mill Valley home on Monday.

Incidentally, the proceeds from this past December ball will be divided so that the major amount is given to the Family Service Agency of Marin for counseling families with teen-agers, and gifts also will be made to the Ross Psychiatric Center for treatment of youth, and to College of Marin's student loan fund.

Delta Gammas Make Donation For New Guide Dog Puppy Run

A $2,000 gift for the construction of a new puppy run will be made by the Marin Delta Gamma Alumnae at the annual meeting of Guide Dogs for the Blind, on Monday at the training center's San Rafael headquarters.

Plans for a new school to be built on the organization's 11-acre property will be unveiled. The Delta Gamma contribution is the first major gift to come from Marin County toward the nearly $2,000,000 building program, which will begin in April and extend over a two year period.

Presentation will be made by Marin Delta Gamma president Mrs. George Aster of Larkspur, to Mrs. Pierpont Morgan Hamilton of Santa Barbara, president of the board of directors of Guide Dogs for the Blind, Inc.

Other Delta Gamma officers attending will be Mrs. Russell A. Baker of Tiburon, vice president; Mrs. Raymond Christopher of San Rafael, treasurer, and Mrs. Richard Whitaker of Sausalito, secretary. Mrs. Otto Kloppenburg of Terra Linda is international president of the sorority.

Work for the blind has traditionally been a major Delta Gamma function since the sorority was founded in 1873. Delta Gamma collegiates and alumnae in the United States and Canada expend 35,000 volunteer hours and contribute $2,000,000 annually toward their blind projects. In addition to supporting Guide Dogs the Marin alumnae group has sponsored the care and education of a blind orphan and has handled a vision-screening program in Marin nursery schools for the detection of amblyopia in preschool youngsters, acting as volunteers for the Northern Society for the Prevention of Blindness.

Funds for the contribution to Guide Dogs were raised through the sale of Christmas cards during the past two years.

HELEN HELP US!

DEAR HELEN:

I am 17 and babysit for two kids whenever I'm not at school. The father is always home while his wife is working. He is a disabled war veteran, but not that disabled. He's around 47 and keeps making passes at me. It's getting worse.

Our family needs the money. Should I stick it out or quit school and get a better job?—F. B. S.

DEAR F:

Quit the job, but not school. You can find better-paying and much safer part-time work at stores, drive-in hamburger stands, restaurants. Inquire at your State Employment Office and start making applications—Now!—H.

DEAR HELEN:

My brother is a hog. All he does is eat, nothing else. He always makes a big mess when he cooks—burns the pots and pans, leaves the sink full of dishes and the stove and table disgusting. He eats about nine times a day since he quit school. He can't find a job because he is so overweight and I don't think he could get away from the kitchen that long.

My mother works and my father doesn't live with us, so I have to do all the housework. I am only 16, but feel like an old maid already. Never have any freedom and am always cleaning. If I don't do it, my mother hollers and throws things at me, then won't talk to me for days.

Once I went away for five days and when I got back the house hadn't been touched—they just waited for me to come home and clean it.

I can't date, and I can't have anyone visit me because my mother won't let people come when she isn't home, which is most of the time. Besides, I'm too tired to be nice to anyone what with school work, extra work and house cleaning. Is there any hope?—DISHPAN HANDS AND TIRED

DEAR TIRED:

If your mother doesn't crack down on her cloddy lump of son, she'll be feeding him all her life. Inasmuch as he has no job or no school, housecleaning should be his responsibility. A selfish family which expects all work and no play from a 16-year-old girl shouldn't be surprised when she leaves home for good the moment she is able.

Do you have relatives who would take you in?—H.

DEAR HELEN:

Hurray for the mother who was in favor of school uniforms. I'm a 16-year-old junior who would adore them. In our school, the students' emphasis is not on education but on how many days a girl can go without wearing the same thing twice. If you don't want to be laughed out of your nylons, your shoes must come from the most expensive store 20 miles from our town. Ditto purse. Clothes? Well, if you want to make a decent showing, you've got to have a bank president for a father!

I'd love to wear knee socks, but this would give you about as many friends as contracting a case of bubonic plague. If you ever rub the "in" crowd the wrong way—you do if you don't dress as they do—you may as well dig a six foot hole and crawl in, being careful to drag all your socks in with you.

My father isn't J. Paul Getty so I can't afford an entire new wardrobe every year, but it seems as if everyone else around here can. If you wear last year's styles, well, forget it—and you!

What happened to the "good old days" when it was what was inside that counted?—KNEE SOCKS LOVER

P. S. Nylons don't keep your legs warm on a winter day, besides.

DEAR KSL:

If the "In's" at your school are this snobbish, who needs them? Form an "anti-in crowd" and I'll bet it will take off like a runner in cheap nylons. Many girls and most boys resent overemphasis on expensive clothes. It's the best way I know to look cheap.—H.

'An Essay On Women' Program Set

Woman's problems in a man's world will be examined in "An Essay on Women" on Jan. 24 on television channel 5, the CBS network at 10 p.m.

The special report is reproted by correspondent Harry Reasoner and written and produced by Andrew A. Rooney. The network said that "An Essay on Women" develops the theme that woman's unrest is largely due to a belief that man's goals are the only ones worth achieving; the suspicion that, outside the home, the world is wonderfully interesting, and the well-intentioned efforts of experts to impress on women the magnitude of their problems.

Marin's Crittenton Circle Honored For Concours Event

Members of the Marin Circle of the Florence Crittenton Home of San Francisco were honored for their contribution to the improvement and development of West Coast Concours d'Elegance.

The Long Beach MG Car Club awarded to the Circle the Strother MacMinn Perpetual Concours trophy at a presentation banquet held in Long Beach in recognition of the successful 1966 Peacock Gap Concours d'Elegance sponsored by the Circle.

Tad Hutchison, concours chairman and executive secretary of the Long Beach organization and recipient of the award last year, made the presentation. Representing the circle were members Mrs. William E. Fuss and Mrs. William Keplinger and Mrs. Marjorie Lawrence of San Rafael, volunteer services coordinator for the Crittenton Home in San Francisco.

The coveted award was established in 1961 by Mr. MacMinn, automotive stylist and writer, to honor individuals who had accomplished most in concours improvement over the years. Nomination requirements were amended this year to include groups so that the Marin Circle could be eligible for nomination.

Novato Church Unit To Hear Minister Speak On Guatemala

The Rev. Robert C. Thorp will be guest speaker at the luncheon meeting of the United Presbyterian Church Woman's Assn. at noon, Wednesday, at the church in Novato.

The title of the program is "Teen Agers—Guatemalan Style," announced Mrs. C. M. Croughan, program chairman.

The Rev. Thorp, now on leave, was assigned to work with the university students in Guatemala City in 1946 by the former board of foreign missions of the Presbyterian Church and he has founded and directed the university student center in Guatemala City. Included in the work are Bible classes, an English club, gospel teams, a radio theater group who present religious drama and musical programs. The programs keep the Rev. Thorp in close contact with the university students in the city and he and his wife directed a good will caravan of 30 Guatemalan students on a tour of the Midwest in 1959 visiting colleges, universities and churches.

The Rev. Thorp was graduated from Park College in Missouri and from the San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo. He was assistant pastor and director of youth work in the First Presbyterian Church in Santa Rosa prior to being assigned to Guatemala.

The executive board of the association will serve lunch. Reservations chairman is Mrs. E. C. Leigon. Mrs. Frank L. Raney will lead the devotions.

New Director, Officers Are Named For Museum Guilds

Certificated of appreciation to four guild presidents have been given to Mesdames Gardiner Trowbridge, Lucas Valley; Ray Perkins, Northbridge; Minnegerode, Marinwood; and Martin, Fairhills.

Marinites Elected By Milk Bank Unit

Among the new officers of the Auxiliary to the Mothers Milk Bank are several Marin members. Mrs. Raymond Hasenauer of Mill Valley has been elected vice president; Mrs. W. Bruce Shafer of Sausalito is publicity chairman, and Mesdames Robert Dawson of San Rafael and David Dawson of San Anselmo are directors.

Mrs. Lee Brand of San Rafael is a new member.

PRESS GUIDE IS AVAILABLE

A new guide for press chairmen who are interested in getting news to the Marin Women's Section of the Independent-Journal is now available at the San Rafael main office and Mill Valley, Tiburon and Novato offices of the newspaper.

The booklet, "Getting News Into Your Newspaper" is issued as a service of the Independent-Journal Women's Section to assist press chairmen for Marin women's organizations.

MARIN FILM FARE

Peter Sellers Turns Italian For Another Load Of Laughter

By LES DARD

Let's see what's to see this weekend at Marin area movie houses:

RAFAEL THEATER

Peter Sellers anyone? The man whose name is almost synonymous with wild hilarity is back again, in the zany "After the Fox" now on screen.

Sellers plays the Fox, one of Italy's leading lawbreakers. He's had nine prison stretches in 11 years. His only big problem is that he constantly blows the big jobs because of urgent family problems. In prison when the film opens, Sellers hears that his young sister (played by his real-life wife, Britt Eklund) is going astray. He stages a neat jail-break and saves her.

But once he's out, things really begin popping. The thread of the plot gets lost a little in the mania, but we soon find our boy in a flamboyant, riotous impersonation of a screwball director. Seems he's making a movie to help mobster Akim Tamiroff smuggle gold into the country, meanwhile throwing the police off his trail. Or something.

Notable in the contributing cast is Victor Mature doing a devastating self-parody — of an aging, sagging matinee idol—and Martin Balsam playing his merciless agent.

Co-featured is: "Seconds," featuring Rock Hudson.

NOVATO THEATER

The British Security Office is becoming embarrassed by the difficulties of arresting traitlors in its ranks without scandal. A plan is arranged for fatal "accidents" to overtake the suspects. Ex-soldier Taylor is put to the task by promises of generous salary, sumptuous living conditions and lovely girls.

Though brawny, Taylor is not the killing type. So he hires professional assassin Eric Sykes to do the dirty work while he lives it up — until the scheme fouls up.

SEQUOIA THEATER

Now playing is "A Patch of Blue."

Elizabeth Hartman portrays a blind girl who has never been to school and who is mistreated by her sluttish mother, Shelley Winters—who won an Ascar for this performance.

101 DRIVE-IN

An almost legendary general, a much fabled battle and the mystic Middle East combine in "Khartoum," now playing.

A British army division is wiped out in the Sudan, in the 1880s. Gen. Charles "Chinese" Gordon is sent to restore peace, save face and keep the British from becoming deeply involved.

Gordon, as played by Charlton Heston, has other ideas and starts an all-out war. His opponent is the Mahdi (Laurence Olivier), meaning "Expected One," who has set himself up as the deliverer and leader of the conquest-hungry Moslems.

MOTOR MOVIES

When TV cameraman Lemmon is knocked unconscious by a player at a televised pro-football game, he winds up in the hospital. There's nothing really wrong with him, but his shyster lawyer brother-in-law (Matthau) talks him into faking all sorts of maladies to get the insurance loot.

LARK THEATER

Jean-Louis Trintignant stars as a race car driver whose wife commited suicide after he crashed at Le Mans. At a boarding school where he keeps his small son, he meets Anouk Aimee, a young widow haunted by memories of her dead husband and there to visit her daughter.

Slowly and cautiously, their relationship matures. It climaxes in an unexpected, but completely acceptable fashion.

TIBURON PLAYHOUSE

Also holding over is an English import starring talented David Warner and beautiful Vanessa Redgrave. It's "Morgan!"

Warner as Morgan revels in the primitive, rebelling against his proleterian background and London society wife. He imagines himself first as Tarzan and ultimately as King Kong. Co-featured is "Black Orpheus."

FAIRFAX THEATER

Alfie is an irrepressible rogue whose credo consists of telling his birds (girls) that he has absolutely no honorable intentions, and then proving it to them. In the end, after reels of mad comedy and social satire, he realizes that he's too much of a coward not to join the human race.

Fare for adults.

NORTHGATE THEATER

George Peppard stars with Ursula Andress in "The Blue Max," held over.

Peppard is a young German air ace who is out to win the coveted blue enamel by shooting down 20 enemy planes.

TAMALPAIS THEATER

"The Professionals," ranks high in the current Western field.

Florida Chief To See Reagan

Erika Mattfeld, 32, the German-born fiancee of Gov. Claude R. Kirk Jr. was to go to Rio de Janeiro, ending a vacation in this exclusive winter resort colony.

Kirk made plans to confer with Gov. Ronald Reagan in California on crime and education problems in their two states. Both Republican governors are in the early days of their first major political office.

Moose are now protected by game laws.

Art Institute Names Marinite Executive

John D. Yates of San Rafael has been appointed director of administration for the San Francisco Art Institute, announced by Theodore L. Eliot, executive director.

Yates, a native of Birmingham, England, has degrees in economics and commerce and for the past 16 years has been active in the import-export field in an executive capacity. He and Mrs. Yates have two children and live at 810 Pine Lane.

Douglas Raps Grand Jury's Criticisms

By RICHARD LYTTLE

John M. Douglas, Marin County's director of economic development, reacted bitterly today to the grand jury's recommendation that his department be eliminated.

Douglas, hired by supervisors in December, 1965, to head the newly created department, said budget limitations have restricted his work, and he is not even allowed enough postage to get out a general mailer for promotion.

BUDGET ARGUED

The grand jury said the $24,646 budget allowed Douglas is almost the same amount distributed to chambers of commerce and other groups for promotion in fiscal 1960.

"I don't know where they get this figure," Douglas said today.

His salary, starting at $15,600 a year and upped this month to $16,380 a year, and $2,514 for a half-time secretary are the only salary items in the budget. However, expenses, retirement benefits and office costs bring the total up to the $24,646 figure, County Auditor-Contorller Michael Mitchell confirmed.

Douglas said the secretary position was not filled until October and until then he had difficulty getting his letters typed. The letters, taken to the county administrator's office for typing, were often sent back due to the clerical log-jam, Douglas said.

CREDIT GIVEN

Douglas charged that the grand jury failed to give credit for the institution of the motel-hotel tax, a 4 per cent charge on room occupancy that will bring in $30,000 in revenue this year, more than covering the cost of his operation.

Douglas said he has been in almost daily touch with University of California officials and the planning department of the Bechtel Corp., making a study on the location for a North Bay campus of the university. It has not yet been decided whether Marin will get the campus.

Douglas said the Marin County Chamber of Commerce has tried to take much of the credit for the work, but that if Carroll W. Snyker, executive director of the chamer, "should walk into Bechtel's planning office, they would not know him and he would not know where to go."

'WAIT FOR GOODIES'

Douglas said that much of his work has been with the organizations receiving county money for promotional work, "determining their objectives and problems."

He said he believes the philosophy of giving these groups sustaining funds is in error, "because all they have to do is wait for the next goodies."

Part of Douglas's bitterness is due to his belief that there is a real opportunity for promotion. "Marin is on the threshold of expanding its economic base, largely through the visitor industry," he said.

County Administrator Alan Bruce said he had no comment on the grand jury report.

Marin Couple Feting 60th Anniversary

Guglielmo and Amalia Colombo, married 60 years ago today in St. Stefano's Church in Taino, Italy, will celebrate that anniversary tomorrow with a reception for relatives and friends.

The Colombos live with their daughter, Elvira Dargontina, and her family at 4 Corte Lenosa, Greenbrae. The reception will be at the home of their son, Carlo Colombo, at Chickasaw Court, Corte Madera.

Colombo, 84, came to the United States in February, 1913, and settled in Ely, Minn., to work in the iron mines there. His wife and daughter followed him in September of that year.

Mr. and Mrs. Colombo lived in Ely until 1948, when they came to live with their son in Corte Madera. In 1963, Elvira and her husband, Nat, moved to Marin and the Colombos joined them in their new home.

They also have two grandchildren, Ronald Dargontina and Mark Colombo, and two great-grandchildren, Gail and Gary Dargontina.

WED 60 YEARS — Mr. and Mrs. Guglielmo Colombo of Greenbrae look over congratulatory cards on their 60th wedding anniversary. They will celebrate with an open house tomorrow.

Ullner Calls For Ouster Of Reagan

Frederick L. Ullner of Santa Venetia, self-styled leader of a group he calls the Conservative Action Committee, today urged the impeachment of Gov. Ronald Reagan.

He said 17 members of his "policy making committee" met at his home last night and voted to start circulating petitions for the impeachment.

Ullner, 47, is a former television shop owner who supported Barry Goldwater and Ronald Reagan and switched his backing to Gov. Edmund G. Brown in the late stages of the last campaign.

"With less than two weeks in office, Governor Reagan has caused panic in our higher education system, object fear in our state welfare organization, and general chaos in Sacramento," Ullner declared.

"Reagan's great leap backwards can only result in further damage to all our existing social welfare programs, the dismissal of President Clark Kerr, and a reaction from the poor that will breed further distrust and dissension.

"We are now seeing the results of being ruled by a handful of kingmakers from Southern California and we wish to stop the dictatorship of the Reagan mafia before further disastrous cutbacks born out of ignorance reduce our state to a second or third place in the nation."

IMPRESSIVE RITES

68 Quentin Inmates Finish High School

By M. ELIZABETH JOHNSON

In a "golden hour" at San Quentin Prison last night inmates were honored for "im proving themselves by preparing to be better citizens" in the words of Stanley H. Friese, assistant superintendent of Marin County Schools.

The Bayview Schools graduation ceremony in the recently completed prison gymnasium saw 68 high school graduates in caps and gowns, receive diplomas, flanked by 43 inmates who won certificates for literacy; 56 with elementary school diplomas, and 25 who were given certificates of completion of university correspandence courses.

Also, 24 men got certificates for the first prison college course, "the prison community" financed by the Ford Foundation.

A valedictorian address by Robert Winslow congratulated fellow inmates on their graduation and urged them to "please continue."

Associate Warden Homer J. Hastings told the audience of inmates' family members this was the largest class ever to graduate in the prison.

Dr. Everett T. Calvert, chief state deputy superintendent of public instruction, spoke to the men about education in general as well as in the prison. He felt the high school program could be improved in several fields—mathematics, English, writing, spelling, history and geography—by making them relate more closely to actual living situation. He called radio and television "negative influences on English."

Calvert said "we can all do better in learning to treat people alike" and in "being better citizens."

Not all of the 77 men earning industrial certificates were present, as many of them were paroled or transferred to conservation camps after completing their courses.

Across the room from the graduates was the glee club, whose version of "People Who Need People" was not only harmonious but caused some inmate family members in the audience to wipe their eyes. They later sang the "Bayview Alma Mater."

A brisk brass band in the back of the room played several rousing numbers during the three-hour ceremony which began at 7 p.m. Gene Short conducted.

30 Days Given On 2 Drunken Driving Counts

Roy Benedict Collette, 49, of 75 Billou Street, San Rafael, was given a total of 30 days in county jail yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for two counts of drunken driving. He also was placed on two years probation.

San Rafael police arrested him May 4 on Woodland Avenue, and again on Spet. 15 on Third Street.

John Gary McFall, 31, of 18 Salt Landing, Tiburon, was fined $250 and placed on 18 months probation, for drunken driving. California Highway Patrol arrested him on Highway 101 Dec. 5.

William Earl Thompson, 45, of 17½ Frances Street, San Rafael, was fined $87 and given six months probation for the same offense. San Rafael police arrested him Dec. 31 on Second Street.

Valarie Blackburn, 37, of 11 Sycamore Avenue, Larkspur, was fined $87 and placed on six months probation for drunken driving. The highway patrol arrested her Dec. 9 on Highway 101.

Board Makes Offer On Land

Nicasio School District trustees last night offered Petaluma rancher Tom Rogers $7,500 for three acres he owns adjacent to the school.

Rogers told the board he would have an answer when the board meets at 8 p.m. Feb. 9 at the school.

The board was advised that its new portable classroom, obtained on a lease-purchase agreement at a cost of about $14,000 over a seven-year period, was erected and in use this week. It provides a third classroom for the school, which now has three teachers.

Leydecker Backed For Housing Post

Appointment of former Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker to the Marin County Redevelopment Agency and Housing Authority commissions was urged today by the Marin Council for Civic Affairs.

In a letter to the county board of supervisors, Edward J. Neumeier, council president, said the council's executive committee "with great enthusiasm" recommended Leydecker for one of two vacancies on the two commissions — which have the same membership. The vacancies were created by resignations of Omar E. McNalley and Jesse Berry.

'701' Citizens Group Holds First Meeting

A citizens committee to advise the City of Mill Valley on its "701" program last night met for the first time and set a series of meetings through May to review reports due next month from the program's planning consultants.

Planning Director Harvey E. Bragdon explained the first six months of the one-year program have been spent surveying physical appearance, land use, marketing, transportation and institutions in the Throckmorton, Locust and Alto commercial areas. Final report on the $27,000 program to plan future development of these areas is due this summer. The federal government granted $18,000 for the program.

Next meeting of the committee will be Jan. 26 at 8 p. m., with the place not yet determined.

Meeting Canceled

The regular meeting of the Marin County School District Organization Committee scheduled next Wednesday at the county schools office has been canceled. No other date has been set, according to the Marin County superintendent of schools office.

German Slaying Of A Teacher

KITZINGEN, Germany (AP) — German police disclosed today the slaying of an American woman school teacher and appealed for public help in finding the killer.

Mrs. Elma R. Allen, 53, of Woodside, Calif., was found strangled in a U.S. Army women's residence building Thursday morning. Police said they are seeking a man seen riding a bicycle in the vicinity.

The body of Mrs. Allen, a widow, was discovered by her mother, Mrs. Mary C. Robinson, 75, who was visiting her daughter, an Army spokesman said.

Mrs. Robinson was sleeping in a room on the first floor of the two - story women's residence building. Her daughter lived on the second floor. Residents of the building reported hearing a noise in the night but said it was not loud and they paid no attention.

For once, Top Brass at the Presidio of San Francisco could be excused if they expected to see double.

Fortunately one of the men wore the uniform of commanding general, Sixth Army, while the other was newly appointed Warrant Officer J. L. H. Richardson of San Rafael. They are not related.

The local Richardson was being given his appointment after services as a staff sergeant with the data processing center at the Presidio. General Richardson did the pinning.

Warrant Officer Richardson will shortly leave his home at 167 Novato Street with his wife and family and take up new duty at Fort Carson, Colo.

Huge LSD Haul Made In Raid

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Police seized today an estimated $500,000 worth of the hallucinatory drug LSD, $25,500 in cash, and arrested 10 persons on narcotics charges.

Officers said the pound and a half of LSD in powder form was their largest haul since passage of a law making possession of the drug illegal in California.

Redwood-San Rafael Tilt Headlines Prep Schedule

By GARY TISCHLER

Redwood High's basketball team, roosting comfortably on top of the Marin County Athletic League standings, will get its first severe test when it meets once-beaten San Rafael on the Bulldog court tonight at 8:15 o'clock.

The Giants are 2-0 in the standings, having feasted on last-place Terra Linda and Novato. San Rafael bopped Marin Catholic, 51-42 Tuesday to bounce back from a 53-51 heartbreaker to resurgent Tamalpais.

In other games, Drake, which looked like a champ in routing Terra Linda, 49-33, Tuesday, is a more than good bet to make it two in a row at Novato while Marin Catholic tries to rebound against Tamalpais, at Marin Catholic.

The Giants, 10-5 on the season, boast a trio of consistent scorers in Andre Horn, Jack Fitzhenry and Al Fritz. Horn is averaging close to 16 points a game on the season while Fitzhenry and Fritz have been hitting in double figures for league action. Fritz may be the key to the Redwood hopes. At 6-4, he's been steadily improving in point production and rebounding, getting 14 markers and 17 rebounds in the Novato game.

San Rafael boasts no superstars, but the Bulldogs can kill you from all directions. They had four players in double figures against Marin Catholic. The clutch player and big surprise has been Mike Donahoo, a junior. Rich Schau and Roger Widmer make a fine guard combo and Chip Tyson, although inconsistent, can score big.

Marin Catholic, now 7-5 for the season, will have its hands full trying to stop the ambitious Tamalpais Indians, who own a deceptive 3-8 season record.

The Indians, after a rough and tumble adjustment period, have come into their own as most coaches predicted they would. Their 81-71 upset of Petaluma may be the trigger that will set them off on a big win streak.

Late Spurt Gives Win To Warriors

SAN JOSE (AP)—Rick Barry of the San Francisco Warriors can be suppressed for just so long, as the New York Knicks have learned.

They'll try to apply that lesson tonight against the leading scorer of the National Basketball Assn. in a rematch at San Jose Municipal Auditorium.

For three quarters, the physically tough Knicks kept Barry down last night at San Francisco Civic Auditorium. But Barry scored 10 of his team's last 12 points and assisted in the other basket as the Warriors beat the Knicks, 127-123, and increased their Western Division lead to 8½ games.

The Knicks led throughout as Willis Reed and Dick Barnet paced the New Yorkers until the Warriors managed a 119-119 tie. Walt Bellamy then reached over Barry on the Warrior board for a personal foul and Barry dropped in two free throws.

After Reed missed a jump shot, Barry was fouled again and sank another two free throws. He finished with 41 points and received strong support from Nate Thurmond, who scored 30 and grabbed 30 rebounds.

Barnett scored 33 and Reed 22 for the losers.

The Man Of Strong Convictions; Redwood-Hawaii Trade Is Unfair

The dynamic young boss of the San Francisco Warriors deserves 100 per cent credit for the team's fantastic success this season because he alone made two of pro basketball's toughest decisions during the past year. Had they failed, Mieuli would have been roasted by the experts.

FRANKLIN MIEULI

First, his firing of Alex Hannum after last season qualified Mieuli as a candidate for the silly farm. True, Hannum has the incredible Philadelphia 76ers running away from everyone in the NBA's Eastern Division, but Little Orphan Annie could do the same thing with THAT ball club.

MEANWHILE, NEW Warrior Coach Bill Sharman has developed a fourth place San Francisco team into by far the "Best in the West" and he's a strong candidate for Coach of the Year.

Mieuli's second eye-opener was trading local favorite Guy Rodgers to Chicago for Jim King and Jeff Mullins. This developed into a beautiful trade, giving the Warriors vital depth in their present drive for a title.

Had either the Hannum or Rodgers decisions failed, Mieuli would have been haw-hawed out of the league. So next time you're at a Warrior game, walk up to him, shake his hand, and say "Nice going." He deserves it.

HOT DOG—I don't know how the coaches and players feel about the use of the NFL's one-point conversion in Sunday's Super-Bowl, but I dó know the Los Angeles Coliseum concessionaires are delighted.

Please ask me why. Thanks.

When there is only the one point after touchdown, the kick is generally so automatic that the fans take the time to rush to the foodstands for goodies. But with the American League's two-point conversion, the fans don't know if a team will kick, run or pass and the suspense keeps them glued to their seats. Hence, the concessionaires suffer.

Well, anyway, I hope you get the point. It's food for thought.

TRADE WINDS—Redwood High athletic director-head football coach Bob Troppmann is still hoping to swap jobs with a Hawaiian grid coach for one year in a novel exchange program.

But, according to Hal Wood, sports editor of the Honolulu Advertiser, the prospects are dim. "We talked to some Honolulu coaches about the plan," Wood wrote, "but one replied, 'Can't see how it would work out. There is so much organizing, recruiting, etc., to do that it doesn't make much sense.' What the Mainland coaches probably don't know is that they actually recruit players from the junior ranks in Hawaii."

Anyway, I think Troppmann's plan was unfair to the Marin Athletic League. Why should we trade a man of his high quality for just one Hawaiian coach? I think in exchange for him we should get two varsity coaches, one hula dancer and a future draft choice.

BOB BUNNELL, distance runner from Terra Linda High School, will be competing in the prep two-mile race in the Athens Invitational indoor track and field meet Sunday night in the Oakland Arena.

Beware, V.C., Clay Is Still 1-A

Cassius Clay will sing this song,
"I've got no quarrel with them
Viet Cong."
But his local draft board has had the last say,
Cassius Clay is still 1A.
—Anon

By JOHN T. KADY

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI)—The Louisville draft board has counted ten over Cassius Clay but the heavyweight champion's attorney says he will fight all the way to the U.S. Supreme Court to reverse the decision.

Clay's draft board refused yesterday to consider his request for an exemption as a Black Muslim minister.

"As of now, Cassius Clay is still 1-A," said draft board Chairman J. Allen Sherman, after a one-hour meeting.

APPEAL TO HERSHEY

But Hayden Covington of New York, attorney for the 24-year-old heavyweight boxing champion and an expert on draft laws, said he would ask Gen. Lewis Hershey, head of the U.S. Selective Service System, and Everett Stephenson, chairman of the Kentucky Selective Service System, to order the case re-opened.

Failing this, Covington said, he would take Clay's appeal as far as the Supreme Court.

"We're not making any threats," Covington said, "but if they try to steamroller us then we have to move out of the way."

The rebuff was the second for Clay in three days. The Kentucky Selective Service Appeals Board Tuesday denied him a classification as a conscientious objector.

INCLUDED IN REVISION

Clay was twice classified 1-Y after failing to pass the Army's aptitude tests. He was reclassified 1-A—fit for the draft—when military needs in Vietnam forces a downward revision in the Army's standards.

That was last February and Clay responded with the plaint:

"I ain't got no quarrel with them Viet Cong."

His disclaimer to serve in the armed forces brought a large public outcry and a championship fight with George Chuvalo could find no takers in this country and was finally held in Canada. Clay then went to Europe for three more defenses before returning to fight Cleveland Williams last November.

MARINITE FIGURES IN CUB YOUTH MOVEMENT

CHICAGO (AP) — John Boccabella of San Anselmo, a Chicago Cub who learned his baseball on Marin County sandlots, will get his chance as the No. 1 first baseman this year, his boss Leo Durocher said yesterday.

Entering his second year as Cub master, Leo emphasized that the youth movement with the club is here to stay.

"We're not going to win a pennant in 1967, but we're going up, up, up!" he told a news conference yesterday.

"I think we've found the key to moving upward," Leo exclaimed. "Sticking with our youngsters." Leo made it clear that Ernie Banks fitted in with his program although the veteran is 36.

JOHN BOCCABELLA
Cub first sacker

"John Boccabella is going to get a real shot at first base," declared Leo. "Ernie isn't a 20-year-old boy anymore, but whatever playing he will do, it will be with us."

Durocher disclosed his long range plan with the Cubs, who finished last in the National League last year. "We might buy or trade for a veteran who might move us up from 10th to eighth — but we would be left there. Our future definitely is bound up with the youngsters."

Leo conceded that the retirement of Sandy Koufax and the trading of Maury Wills and Tommy Davis "eliminates the Dodgers as strong pennant contenders. With the addition of Wills, the Pirates should be the pennant favorite," he added.

"Wills is teed off by the trade. He will go all out to prove the Dodgers made a mistake and will give not 100 per cent but 200 per cent with Pittsburgh."

GOLF

SAN DIEGO — JERRY Steelsmith, a young Californian, shot a seven-under-par 64 for a one-stroke lead over Randy Glover in the opening round of the San Diego Open, launching golf's winter tour.

OCEAN SPRINGS, Miss. — Luca Barbato of Lafayette, La. got a birdie on the par-four 18th hole for a final round 69 and won the 54-hole $5,000 home pro golf tournament by a stroke over Al Chandler of Columbia, Mo.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. — Claude King of Norfolk, Va., Eernie Haas of Cleveland, Ohio, and Joe Lopez Jr. of Miami each fired opening 66's for a share of the lead in the PGA National Golf Club medal play championship.

TENNIS

HOBART, Tasmania — Tony Roche, Australian Davis Cup player, came within two points of winning his quarter-final match against Jim McManus of Berkeley, before play was stopped in the Tasmanian Championships because of rain.

FOOTBALL

HOUSTON — Tom Cahill of Army and Dan Jessee of Trinity College of Hartford, Conn., were named 1966 Coaches of the Year, in the University and College Divisions, by the American Football Coaches Association.

BASEBALL

SPOKANE, Wash. — Maury Wills, reportedly the highest paid shortstop in major league baseball last season, signed a 1967 contract with his new team, the Pittsburgh Pirates.

BASKETBALL

ST. LOUIS — A New Orleans group which had offered $3.8 million for the St. Louis Hawks of the National Basketball Association submitted lower bid; a spokesman for the team said the new offer would not be acceptable, and that bidding would be open again.

Hard-Luck Bob Bolin Inks Giant Contract

The San Francisco Giants had two-thirds of their 1966 starting pitchers under contract for 1967 today with the acceptance of terms by hard-luck Bob Bolin.

Bolin won 11 and lost 10 for the Giants last year but was one of the team's more effective pitchers. Among his performances were two games he lost by a run and four others he dropped when his teammates weren't able to get him a single run.

However, he fashioned a sparkling earned run average of 2.89 on the strength of one one-hitter, two two-hitters and two three-hitters. It was a frustrating season all the way around for BB, who in 1965 won 14 games and lost only six while compiling an ERA of 2.76.

But the Giants saw to it that he would be happy this season and gave him a contract calling for the same $25,000 he got in 1966.

Bolin's signing came on the heels of Gaylord Perry's acceptance of 1967 terms. Perry won 21 games in 1966, a figure topped only by Juan Marichal, who had 25.

The Giants now have seven players under contract for the coming season. Besides Bolin and Perry they are Willie Mays, Willie McCovey, Tom Haller, Jimmy Davenport, Jay Alou and Bill Sorrell.

Reg Carolan May Start For Chiefs

By MIKE RATHET

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The suddenly developed Hornung hunch heightened interest at the Super Bowl site today as both the Green Bay Packers and Kansas City Chiefs went through their final workouts in preparation for Sunday's first clash of pro football champions.

The first major question on the battle between the National and American football league champions developed when the rival coaches pointed to Green Bay's Paul Hornung as the player who could make a difference in this rich struggle for supremacy.

Not only will pride be on the line in the long-awaited game, which will be televised and broadcast nationally by both NBC and CBS at 1:05 p.m., PST, but record payoffs of $15,000 to each member of the winning team and $7,500 to each loser.

With that substantial pot of gold up for grabs, the Hornung hunch first cropped up at the Chiefs' Long Beach training camp, where Coach Hank Stram said:

"I don't have any particular reason for saying so—it's more like a feeling—but I think Hornung will see a considerable amount of action. He always plays extremely well in big games."

"I think that's a very good answer."

He then went on to elaborate on the chances of using his former Golden Boy in the game.

"I really don't know who will start," Lombardi said, "but I'm a great hunch player. The game will dictate who plays and who doesn't. I'm not going to say who will get in or who won't get in. I probably won't know until Sunday.

Hornung May Be Best Receiver

"I'll have to say this, though. Hornung may be the best pass receiver we have as far as running patterns. He knows when to stay on 'em and when to bre them off. He reads defenses better than anyone else I know"

Lombardi then was asked to point out the hunch that paid off in the Packers' game against Baltimore during the 1965 season when Green Bay needed a victory to take over the Western Division lead.

In that one, Lombardi tapped Hornung for duty. And he went on to score five touchdowns, a team record.

But Hornung, has not started in eight weeks and has lost his starting job to Elijah Pitts, who gained 393 yards rushing and 460 on 26 passes while joining quarterback Bart Starr, fullback Jim Taylor and flanker Boyd Dowler in the Green Bay backfield.

The Chiefs, meanwhile, were concerned about All-league tight end Fred Arbanas, who suffered a shoulder separation in the AFL championship game against Buffalo. Arbanas has been working out, but still is taking cortisone shots and is being fitted with a harness.

Marin Teacher Possible Starter

If Arbanas, who caught 22 passes for 305 yards and is an excellent blocker, cannot play, he very likely will be replaced by Reg Carolan, who saw little action during the season. Aaron Brown, a rookie defensive lineman, also has been working at the position.

Carolan, the former Drake High All-Star athlete who works as a substitute teacher in Marin County during the spring, saw considerable action in the Chiefs' AFL championship game two weeks ago.

Arbanas' absence undoubtedly would handicap Kansas City's passing attack since he has been one of Len Dawson's prime targets along with flanker Otis Taylor and split end Chris Burford.

That combination, plus the running of Mike Garrett and Curt McClinton and their hefty lines, brought the Chiefs through the regular season with an 11-2-1 record. Garrett, the former Heisman Trophy winner from Southern California returning to the scene of some of his greatest feats, gained 801 yards as an AFL rookie.

Neither Taylor nor Pitts was able to match that figure but provided key yardage all season long as the Packers rolled through the league with a 12-2 record.

And while the Chiefs have a weight advantage, the Packers have an experience advantage with such longtime stars in the lines as defensive end Willie Davis, tackle Forrest Gregg, guard Fuzzy Thurston and defensive tackle Henry Jordan.

In addition, the Packers have a veteran trio of linebackers in Ray Nitschke, Lee Roy Caffey and Dave Robinson and two outstanding defensive backs in Willie Wood and Herb Adderley.

All-Leaguers Protect Dawson

Kansas City relied on two all-league performers—tackle Jim Tyrer and guard Ed Budde—to give Dawson the pass protection he needed while tackle Buck Buchanan, a 6-foot-7, 280-pounder and end Jerry Mays led the defensive line.

Bobby Bell was a standout at linebacker, as were the Chiefs' two safeties, Johnny Robinson and Bobby Hunt.

OPEN GOLF

Unknowns Share San Diego Lead

SAN DIEGO (AP) — A few weeks ago, Jeery Steelsmith of Santa Barbara, was ready to quit the pro tour and take a job as assistant teaching pro.

Not so many years ago, Dan Keefe, of Chatham, Mass., was making a good living as industrial advertising manager for a camera firm, with no thoughts of playing golf as a profession.

Today, these two men, obscure in a world of glamor and riches —have their fingers toying with the $13,200 first prize in the $66,000 San Diego Open golf tournament, first on the $4.5 million tour.

Steelsmith is leading the pack with a seven-under par 64 over the Stardust Country Club course, thanks to a flashy putter, which gave him an eagle and six birdies in the opening round.

Next to him, one stroke back at 65, is 25-year-old Randy Glover, who never has won a tour tournament. Then comes Keefe, a teaching pro from New England, tied with former PGA champion Bobby Nichols and Gay Brewer at 66.

PRETTY DISCOURAGED

"I was pretty discouraged and was getting ready to quit and go to work," said Steelsmith, a boyish-looking 31-year-old pro for nine years, who in 1966 earned only $2,083.13 and never finished higher than 28th in 20 tournaments.

But, just to show how such things work, Steelsmith married a girl who introduced a girl friend to PGA champion Al Geiberger.

Geiberger later married the the girl friend. He decided he owed Steelsmith a favor, so he got two Los Angeles businessmen, Mike McKeon and Gene Eichler, to put up money to keep the Californian on the tour.

Steelsmith's opening 64 — his best round ever on the pro tour —was his way of showing appreciation. "I am more relaxed, you don't know what it means to a guy to have this security," he said.

He ran in seven putts of 12 to 40 feet in getting an eagle and six birdies over the 6,783-yard, par-71 layout.

When Keefe, a bespectacled, nice - looking young man of 32, posted his 66, golf buffs started looking around for some material on him and found nothing. No wonder.

Keefe was a good golfer in high school but gave up the game when he went to Brown University, where he worked his way through college as a bartender and became a star in Ivy League hockey. Then he went into the advertising business.

$50 A WEEK

But golf was in his blood, and in 1961, he turned pro, serving at first at a municipal course, where he made $50 a week. He graduated to the swank Eastward Ho! Club in Chatham. Members there have let him play the winter tour in California and Florida for the past three years.

"It's tough on a club pro," Keefe said today. "I think it's nerves mostly. The club pro can not take the pressure."

Hardened touring pros were still in the thick of the fight with 56 players under par. Forty-six year old Tommy Bolt and young Lee Graham were tied at 67. There was a flock at 68, 69 and 70.

Geiberger was in the 69 group, and the other national champion in the field, U.S. Open winner Bill Casper, also defending champion here, was even-par 71.

Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus aren't playing.

HAPPY FRIDAY THE 13TH

Cal, Stanford Invade Lew-Land This Week

Two omens of ill fortune face the California basketball team today. It's Friday the 13th and time to visit Pauley Pavilion.

At Pauley, the Bears look up to Lew Alcindor, the 7-foot 1-inch sophomore who has been instrumental in bringing UCLA 10-0 record overall, the No. 1 ranking nationally, and a 2 - 0 mark in the Pacific-8.

With a couple of little guards, Russ Critchfield and Charlie Perkins, leading the attack, California has built a 7-3 overall mark and 1-1 in the conference. Critchfield stands just 5-10 and Perkins 6-2½ so it will be interesting to see what defense Coach Rene Herrerias has worked out for long Lew.

Stanford also travels to Los Angeles with Southern California the foe tonight and then into a game against UCLA. The Indians also boats a 2-0 league record but for the season are only 7-4.

While Stanford plays at UCLA on Saturday night, California meets USC, Washington State plays at Oregon and in the afternoon regionally televised game, Washington goes at Oregon State.

California's Critchfield has averaged 19 points a game and Perkins 19.5 but Alcindor has averaged 29.5 including 28 point in each of last weekend's opening league games against Washington State and Washington.

Southern California boasts a 1-2 punch with Bill Hewitt and sophomore Steve Jennings. Hewitt has averaged 23.3 and Jennings 14.7.

Stanford has five men in double figures paced by junior Art Harris, moved from guard to forward, who has hit at a 15.2 clip.

Mosquita is owned by Mrs. Inez R. James of Daly City.

Three League Games On Prep Cage Slate

All-league guard Steve Woodward leads the Indians. Pat Shafer, who gunned in 28 points against Petaluma, is a strong rebounder and defender. Steve Johnson provides another shooting threat and Floyd Jakson is capable of breaking loose. Another returning starter, Mike Biber, is still seeing limited action due to an ankle injury.

Drake should have little trouble against Novato, despite a jittery offense. With 6-5 Jerry Sprout beginning to come into his own on offense, the Pirates pose a formidable threat. Sprout and Bob Don Alvarado pace a strong defense, while Chet Carlisle sports a 14-point season average.

Novato, 2-10 on the season, is led by John Howard, who has a 12-point scoring average for the season.

Terra Linda, drawing tonight's league bye, hosts Salesian High of Richmond, 8 o'clock in a non-league scrap.

USF To Give Pacific A Stiff Test

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

University of the Pacific takes a basketball test tonight which even this early could have a major bearing on the final outcome in the West Coast Athletic Conference.

Coach Dick Edwards' Tigers meet the invasion of the University of San Francisco Dons at Stockton. UOP's David Fox, who topped all scorers in opening games with 26 last week, draws a challenge from Dennis Black who had 24 for USF.

Still it will be Keith Swagerty and Bob Krulish, at 6-7 and 6-6 respectively, who will try to control the boards against the Dons whom they beat in the WCAC tournament finale last month.

UOP, Loyola, USF all go into the weekend slate with 1-0 conference record. The defending champion Tigers are 10-3 overall with Loyola posting the next best record at 7-4.

Tars Travel To Eureka

College of Marin's basketball team, with two straight Golden Valley Conference victories under its belt, will face a lengthy trip and two games against College of the Redwoods at Eureka this weekend.

The Tars will be meeting a team that is long on ball control and beef and low on scoring and victories.

Redwood is 0-2 in conference play having lost to Sierra, 36-40, and Yuba, 43-69. They play tonight and tomorrow night.

Fittingly for a lumber country team, Redwoods has some lumberjack personnel, especially in 6-5, 235--pound center Mike Rogers.

"They like to play a zone defense," College of Marin coach Cal Riemck said. "That could pose problems for our type of offense but then again we shot Santa Rosa out of their zone."

Riemcke had several things to be happy about after the Tars' easy 79-65 win over Santa Rosa.

"I like the way Russ Smith scored," Riemcke said. "We've known he could do it all along and that proved it."

Riemcke also praised Terry Overlid's consistent performances in the rebounding department. The slender, 6-3 forward battled for 12 rebounds. He had 16 against Shasta.

Bob Phillips, one of a trio of Tars' peppery guards, slipped a little in the scoring department, getting "only" 12 points, but held Santa Rosa's high scoring guard Bruce McNeely, who had been averaging close to 20 points a game, to 10 points, in addition to hauling in 11 rebounds. That's plenty for a 5-9 fellow.

"Generally, I like the way we've been playing together," Riemcke said. "They're not selfish and we're passing off for the good shots. We're working well together."

Riemcke will go with the same lineup of three guards and two forwards that has produced a 2-1 conference record. That will be Bill Pandiani, Phillips and Smith at guards and Overlid and Tom Stetson at forwards.

No Sellout For Super Bowl Sunday

tween NFL and AFL champions, a sellout had been expected at the 93,000-seat Los Angeles Coliseum. But 30,000 seats still are available and a sellout is unlikely.

Full house or not, the players will be battling for the biggest single payoff in the history of team competition. By comparison, the highest payoff for baseball's World Series was $12,794 by the 1963 Los Angeles Dodgers.

The Packers already have won some $8,500 for beating Dallas 34-27 in the NFL title game while the Chiefs grabbed $5,308 by beating Buffalo 31-7 in the AFL title game.

As in all title games, there will be a sudden death overtime period that will continue until one team scores if the clubs wind up tied at the end of regulation time.

STEVENS

Bob Johnson phoned to tell me he had just returned from his place above Fort Bragg, and the only word he could use to describe the steelhead fishing was—"Stinko." Most streams were too low and too clear for much fishing.

"Only the few anglers who are experts in casting a gaudy fly without being seen by a lurking steelie, have made the grade," said Johnson. "I tried at the Noya and Ten Mile without even getting a rise on roe-berries, spinners or flies. I was told that some fish had been taken at the mouth of the Navarro (the Lagoon) and ditto the Garcia and the Gualala, but not many," he said.

STEELHEAD FISHING is governed by the conditions of the streams, so we may charge the present slow fishing in most of the coastal streams to a lack of rain. According to the weather report, rain is due for the weekend. If it does rain and not too hard, steelhead in all the coastal streams should be worthwhile. As usual, I caution you to get the current shape of the streams by calling a reliable source on the ground.

I MET A CHAP yesterday who was all hot and bothered over the "millions" of small shrimp that have been introduced into many waters where trout fishing (steelhead trout) was expected to pay off. I asked him what waters he had in mind. "Lake Berryessa and Shasta Lake," he replied, and claimed that the little shrimp have multiplied in those two bodies of water to the point where they are crowding the game fish out. That is the first complaint I have heard along that line.

A late report from Jim Roads of the Klamath River Guide Service is optimistic. Jim writes: "Klamath low and clear. A run of steelhead averaging around four pounds is on in the Happy Camp area. Weather is clear and cold. Temperature: days, high 40s—nights, low 30s."

SPEAKING OF complaints—I was put on the pan recently by a local critic. "You and all others who write on fishing claim to be conservationists. But, in my estimation, you are not. You keep publishing news of one certain area where fish—striped bass — are very active. You point the way to where the big fish may be found. Recently you wrote of three fishermen taking limits of bass, none of which was under 20 pounds, and at least a few of them close to 30 pounds. You know — or you should know—that a 20-pound female striped bass may carry well over 500,000 eggs. I know that one large bass carried over 2,000,000 eggs.

"Just suppose the nine fish caught by the men you mentioned in your column only averaged one-half million eggs. Then there were over four million potential bass that would not be born. I don't know the rate of survival, but even though it is only one per cent, it means that more bass are never born than are caught by all fishermen in the entire Bay and Delta regions."

THE SPEAKER PAUSED to catch his breath, and before I could say a word he continued: "It's about time some of you writers faced up to the truth."

I confess that I, for one, have never considered the harm that might result if the big spawners on their way to the spawning grounds were all caught. It's something to think about and talk about, wouldn't you say?

Gun Exhibit Is Among Features Of Sports Show

Guns, anyone? One of the largest exhibits of its kind in recent years is "Gun Row," to be held in the South Hall of the Cow Palace, at the San Francisco National Sports and Boat Show, Feb. 3-11. It will feature all that's new and much that is unique in foreign and domestic rifles and accessories.

The Winchester Rifle display will have a 100-foot exhibit of these famous rifles, dating from 1866 to the present; a fiberglass Gun Blind, complete with gun rest and orbital seat will be displayed for the first time, and, in addition to more, the San Francisco Gun Exchange will show an exhibit of miniature cannons imported from England.

Things for the hunter, fisherman, boat lover and the vacation-minded will be displayed at the exposition, open from 2-11 p.m., weekdays; 11 a.m. to 11 p.m., Saturday, and 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. Sundays.

Course Deadline

Monday will be the last day to register for the hunter safety course sponsored by the Marin Rod and Gun Club. Registration will be at the San Rafael Police Pistol Range at 7 p.m.

Redwood Area Promotions To Be Planned

Civic and business leaders from nine Redwood Empire counties will gather in Tiburon next Thursday and Friday to chart a course for merchandising the region to travelers, industrialists and second-home buyers during 1967.

The occasion is the quarterly executive board session of the Redwood Empire Assn., headed by Pres. Edwin A. Frediani, San Francisco attorney.

In a preliminary caucus Thursday morning, the ways and means committee, headed by Thomas P. Ludcke will crystallize program recommendations for the next day's board meeting. That afternoon delegates and wives will explore Marin County tourist attractions in a chartered bus.

Business meetings will open at 9:30 a.m. Friday in the Tiburon Lodge, according to Elias Day, Pacific Gas and Electric Co. North Bay Division manager, who is county chairman for the association. Items for action include:

1. Implementing the 1967 publicity-advertising promotion programs within the framework of REA's 1966-67 budget, now over the $140,000 level.

2. Consideration of a sports and vacation show exhibit this year in major western travel-market areas.

3. Employment of a staff field-service representative to cooperate more fully in expanding local special events, membership relations and special participation in sports and vacation shows.

Friday's luncheon, at the Corinthian Yacht Club, will be jointly sponsored by REA, Marin County Chamber of Commerce, Marin Visitors Bureau, and Tiburon Chamber of Commerce.

Speaker will be Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, whose topic is "the imperative need for increased community, county and regional cooperation in the Redwood Empire" during the new Legislature.

Fences To Hide The Short Skirts

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Fences will be built around jury boxes in the San Francisco Hall of Justice to hide female legs exposed by short skirts.

Assistant city architect John Devitt said yesterday $7,000 would be spent to build wooden baffle screens two feet, eight inches tall in front of the jury boxes.

"If the mini skirt fads continue, maybe we'll eventually have to build them higher," Devitt said.

Finance Report Due Trustees

The Citizens Finance Advisory Committee of the Marin Junior College District is scheduled to present its report at a meeting of the district board Tuesday at 8 p.m. in Room G-3 of the physical education building.

The board will not meet on its regularly scheduled meeting date next Thursday.

Deadline For Pay Raises Approaches In San Rafael

If San Rafael's four elected city employees want pay increases this year, they must secure them soon.

Their raises must be granted by ordinance passed by the city council and they may not be granted for the term of office being served.

City Atty. David Menary, who is one of the four, said the ordinance granting new salaries must be introduced sometime in February, 45 days before the new or re-elected officials take office.

The positions and salaries in question are Police Chief Charles J. Chiesa, $10,800 a year; Clerk W. C. Cornwell, $10,200; Treasurer Angelina J. Soldavini, $9,000 and Menary, $6,600.

City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen said he has asked the four what changes they think should be made in their salaries, which were increased prior to start of the present terms four years ago.

Warden On Show

Warden Lawrence W. Wilson of San Quentin Prison will be the guest on "Encounter" on television station KPIX (channel 5) at 10 a.m. Sunday.

General Services Deputy Is Named

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Reagan has named Edward B. Hutchinson, 36, Palo Alto, to the $22,000 post of deputy director of the State General Services Department.

Hutchinson, who replaces resigned John H. Stanford, is a former area governor of the United Republicans of California and directed transportation for American Christmas Train and Trucks — a Vietnam relief program.
